NEW TAX BILL IS COMPLETE; NOW UP TO CONGRESS

Dissenting Plans Also Given Out.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4.—[Special.]—Printed copies of the new tax bill as approved by the house ways and means committee for introduction when congress convenes Monday, were made public today by Representative Green [Rep., Ia.], chairman of the committee. The measure will be known as the Green bill.

Representative Green plans to publish within the next day or two the committee report which he will present on behalf of the Republicans and Democrats who joined in its approval.

Only Two Fail to Approve.

Minority reports, prepared for presentation to the house, were issued today by Representatives Rainey [Dem., Ill.], and Hull [Dem., Tenn.], the only committee members who failed to approve the non-partisan measure. Both contended that the wealthiest tax payers and those with small incomes have been given substantial cuts, but that the middle groups have failed to get sufficient relief.

The new tax bill reënacts the entire 1924 revenue act with such changes as have been made by the ways and means committee. It will take effect on the day of its enactment, which is expected to be about March 1, 1926, except as otherwise provided.

The changes in income tax rates are effective as of Jan. 1, 1925, which means that the reduced rates will apply on incomes of the calendar year 1925 for which returns will be filed March 15, 1926. The gift tax is repealed as of Jan. 1, 1926, but reductions in estate tax rates become effective on the date of the passage of the act, returns on estates not being on a calendar year basis.

Stamp Taxes Repealed.

Many excise taxes are repealed to take effect on the enactment of the law. The reduction of the tax on passenger automobiles from 5 to 3 per cent, however, becomes effective after 30 days and the same is true of the stamp taxes on deeds and conveyances and on proxies, which are repealed. Exemption of the legitimate drama from the admission tax also is effective after 30 days.

The bill contains 12 principal sections designated as titles. The first consists of general definitions. Title II. deals with individual and corporation incomes. It contains the reduction of normal rates on individual incomes from two, four, and six per cent, respectively, to one and one-half, three, and five per cent; the reduction of the surtax maximum from 40 to 20 per cent; the increase in personal exemptions from $1,000 for single persons and $2,500 for heads of families to $1,500 and $3,500, respectively; the increase in the maximum amount of earned income on which the 25 per cent credit may apply from $10,000 to $20,000; the repeal of the publicity provision, and various miscellaneous amendments.

Estate Tax Reduction.

Title III. relates to the estate tax the maximum rate on which has been reduced from 40 to 20 per cent.

The next six titles deal with various miscellaneous taxes. Title IV., applying to cigars and tobacco, contains reductions in taxes on cigars. Title V, relating to admissions and dues, includes the provision for exemption of the legitimate spoken drama from the admission tax. Title VI. contains what is left of manufacturers' excise taxes, practically everything being repealed except a 3 per cent tax on automobiles and a 10 per cent tax on pistols.

Title VII. includes the reënactment of the capital stock tax on corporations and what is left of the occupational taxes, about the only persons still being subject to this class of tax being brewers and distillers. This title also includes a new tax on the use of foreign built yachts and other pleasure boats.

Alcohol Levy Cut.

Title VIII. consists of the reënactment of most of the stamp taxes. Title IX. provides for the reduction of the tax on alcohol, one-fourth of which is taken off on Jan. 1, 1927, and one-fourth on Jan. 1, 1928.

Title X relates to the board of tax appeals. The provisions of the 1924 revenue act creating this board are changed, the number of members being fixed at 16, with life tenure of office at salaries of $10,000.

Title XI. contains general administrative provisions. Title XII. provides for the repeal of the present law, effective dates of the different changes being set forth.

Double Drive Winning Favor on Gold Coast

(Maps on back page.)

That persistent knot in Chicago's boulevard traffic problem—the narrow stretch of Lake Shore drive which forms a bottle neck between Oak street and Lincoln park—is the subject of a new campaign which is likely to succeed. It has been launched by the North Central association.

For years that bottle neck—and, in fact, it extends south to Chicago avenue—has jammed traffic streaming in from the expansive boulevards on both ends. Strong efforts have been put forth to break it, but until now they have resulted in an unyielding deadlock between those in whose power the improvement lives or dies.

Hope for Next Summer.

Several of the objectors have been won over in the last few days, it was learned yesterday from B. M. Winston, president of the North Central association. New hope is held out to present Chicago next summer with two beautiful driveways—Oak street to the park—each forty-five feet wide, with an esplanade of greens, shrubs, and trees between.

Only the consent of one other property owner on the drive remains to be had before every legal and financial bar to the widening of the drive is eliminated, Mr. Winston said.

Among the gold coast dwellers who have withdrawn their objection to the double drive, it became known, are Col. A. A. Sprague, commissioner of public works, who lives at 1130 Lake Shore drive; R. T. Crane Jr. of 1550 Lake Shore drive, and the firm of Baird & Warner, which owns two properties on the drive.

Others Behind Project.

Others who have long been enthusiastic for the double driveway are Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, 1000 Lake Shore drive; Archibald Freer, 1420 Lake Shore drive, and Miss Adele Barrett, 1412 Lake Shore drive.

The Lincoln park commissioners, led by President Eugene R. Pike, has plans, money, and purpose to build a new 45 foot drive just east of the present drive, leaving between them a strip on which a row of beautiful elms has stood for perhaps fifty years.

Holding the board back was the refusal of a majority of the property owners to consent to the plan, a consent required by a contract entered into in 1886 by which the park commissioners agreed, in return for getting riparian rights, to make no changes except by agreement with the landholders.

Balked at Double Drive.

Early in 1924 a majority of the owners along Lake Shore drive agreed to have the present 45 foot drive widened to a 100 foot width. But they would not consent to the double driveway approved by the Chicago plan commission.

And there the matter has stood for nearly two years. Meanwhile motorists rant and waste time as they try to wedge through the bottle neck on their way to and from the loop.

With the new prospects of building the double drive, Lincoln park officials yesterday reiterated their eagerness to rush the work. Mr. Winston was reticent about stating his plans and said an announcement now was a bit premature. Col. Sprague, he said, was wholeheartedly for the double road and agreed it was the best for the city.

Converted to Change.

"I wasn't wholly enthusiastic for the parted way myself at first," Mr. Winston said. "But when I saw how beautifully the same kind of scheme turned out on the new double boulevard on Sheridan road, between Belmont avenue and Grace street, I was converted to the same plan for Lake Shore drive."

The principal objections which were offered to a double driveway were that it would be more expensive, and that it would not be suitable for an ultimate business street.

In ten years, under Chicago's zoning law, Lake Shore drive will be opened to a commercial era, the drive's life as a strictly residential street then having expired. In this realization the property owners sought to be assured that the boulevard should be suitable for commerce. But the sponsors of the double driveway urge that their plan is as attractive for a commercial street as the single widened roadway.

Buddha Statue Proposed in Central Park, New York

New York, Dec. 4.—[Special.]—Francis D. Gallatin, commissioner of parks of Manhattan, made known today a proposal to erect a statue of Buddha in Central park at a cost of $100,000, the funds to be supplied by subscriptions from members of the Buddhist faith.

Nazimova Unwed Wife, She Admits

Hartford, Conn., Dec. 4.—(AP)—The Hartford Courant will say tomorrow that Alla Nazimova, the Russian actress, disclosed in New York today that, although Charles Bryant and she had "lived together as man and wife for fourteen years, they were never married."

"He spoke the truth," she told a reporter in New York today, "when he made oath at New Milford, Conn., to a statement that he was a single man, free to marry Miss Marjorie Gilhooley, with whom he had fallen in love after she had been abroad to get a divorce from her Russian husband."

Miss Gilhooley, daughter of the late Judge Patrick H. Gilhooley of Elizabeth, N. J., and Bryant were married in New Milford last month.

Nazimova's disclosure, the Courant will say, was made when she was asked to comment on the information that in taking out his marriage license in Connecticut preparatory to the wedding with Miss Gilhooley, he claimed to be unmarried. This conflicted with the announcement that Nazimova and Bryant allowed to be made in 1912 that they had been married.

TWO SAVED IN BURNING MINE; HOPE FOR 18

Nederland, Colo., Dec. 5 [3 a. m.]—[Special.]—Hope for the safety of 18 men entombed in the Fairview mine near here brightened early today when rescue workers brought out two miners alive.

Thirteen rescue workers were overcome and brought out unconscious.

The men were trapped early yesterday when fire broke out at the mouth of the shaft and swept through the timbered diggings. Twenty miners were caught.

The two men rescued were Walter Swanson and Bert Tutty. Tutty said other men were working far below him and was confident they would escape.

RUDYARD KIPLING IS CONSCIOUS AND SUFFERS NO PAIN

BURWASH, Sussex, England, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Satisfactory improvement in the condition of Rudyard Kipling, who is suffering from double pneumonia at his retreat here, continued throughout the day. The author is not suffering pain and is completely conscious. His strong constitution is believed to be withstanding the disease as well as can be expected.

Messages from all parts of the world have reached this little village since the illness of Kipling became known. King George has requested that he be kept in constant touch with the condition of the patient.

50 TRUE BILLS SMASH BOMB TERROR RING

Bare Thrills of Trap to Nab Chiefs.

Prosecution was promised and begun yesterday of all executive committee members of so-called business men's organizations that have employed bombers, sluggers, store wreckers, or other vandals.

As the secrets of at least one of the bombing cliques became known, what is to follow was forecast in the indictment of eight executive committee members of the Retail Cleaners and Dyers' association. They were included in a batch of twenty-two persons named in true bills—the windup of the bomb investigation by the present special grand jury—presented to Chief Justice Lynch yesterday afternoon.

Inquiry Not Concluded.

The investigation is by no means concluded, said Assistant State's Attorney Savage. Rather, it is hardly begun, though fifty persons have now been indicted. Business men, guiltless of the actual hiring of bombers, but tacitly acquiescent of their hire, are to be brought to trial as well as the thugs who now dominate those associations, Prosecutor Savage asserted.

The December grand jury which will be impaneled on Monday will take up that work, it was stated. This special jury, which the state's attorney obtained for the purpose of smashing the bombing trust and freeing the honest small dealer from the yoke of oppression by tribute levying thugs kicked out of union labor, has justified its existence, the prosecutor said.

Business Men Accused.

The eight business men accused by this grand jury of being cognizant of the acts of their officials and hirelings are:

Sam Harris, Morton Swee, William Jennings, John Jones, Ben Hirsch, Matt Gross, Michael Edelhert and Ruben Goldberg.

Maxie Eisen, northwest side wine dealer and lately organizer of the Master Butchers' association; Abraham Yompolski, head of the Jewish Master Butchers' association; Hirshie Miller, erstwhile gangster, bootlegger, proprietor of a cleaning and dyeing establishment and now head of the Master Bakers' association; F. A. Avery, president Automobile Associated Trades, and their henchmen: Ben Rice, Joseph Masello, Tony Perotte, Harry Belcastto, Rocco Belcastto, Louis Peldon, Philip Kadski and Jack Hirsch.

Will Revote Indictments.

The indictments by this special jury are to be revoted by the regular grand jury and then an assistant state's attorney will be assigned to investigate each of the trade business associations in which there have been bombings and which are in these divisions—milk drivers and dairies, butchers, bakers, batteries, etc., cleaners and dyers, shoe repairers, barbers, master and journeymen, tailors, fruit and vegetable dealers.

Each bit of information obtained will be fitted to others and further indictments charging great conspiracies to extort, in restraint of trade, boycotting, etc., are expected to result.

Dynamite Rule Ends.

That the beginning of the end of this rule by dynamite is in sight was the opinion of State's Attorney Crowe last night. He said great credit is due to his assistant, Mr. Savage, and Lieut. Charles Egan, recently appointed head of the bomb squad, and to the assistance of Detective Captain John Stege.

Not only what they have accomplished is to their credit, he said, but also what they prevented. Included in the preventions was the proposed bombing of the Cribben & Sexton's sheet metal works and stove factory at 680 North Sacramento boulevard, it was learned.

Murder was to be no bar to the accomplishment of this design, according to the information in Crowe's possession. A policeman was to be killed and six or eight bombs were to have been distributed in the plant, the value of which may be estimated at $1,000,000, and it was to be blown up.

How that and other depredations were averted was made public last night for the first time. For official reasons parts of it must be left out

Decision of Jury Sealed; Public Today

White Plains, N. Y., Dec. 4.—[Special.]—A sealed verdict was returned tonight by the jury trying the suit of Leonard Kip Rhinelander for annulment of his marriage to his Negroid wife, Alice Jones Rhinelander.

The verdict will not be read in open court until morning, but all rumors around the court house agreed that Alice had won the victory.

One well defined report was that from the beginning of the deliberations of the jurors at noon they stood 10 to 2 in favor of Mrs. Rhinelander.

The jury's verdict came with dramatic suddenness. As early as 6 o'clock in the evening Justice Morschauser had become convinced that the jury was far from an agreement and he then retired to his hotel quarters and gave instructions that if a verdict were reached it be sealed for the night.

Fists Hammer Tables.

As late as 10 p. m. persons outside the jury room heard loud arguments and banging of fists upon tables within, and the indications were that the jurors were hopelessly deadlocked. Court attendants began to prepare for an all night vigil.

Then out came the foreman. He handed a bailiff a sealed document. The jury disbanded. The members hurried for their homes and almost before anybody knew what was transpiring, the trial was all over—except the formal reading of the verdict.

Late in the afternoon there was a slight indication that the jurors were leaning in Mrs. Rhinelander's favor. They were considering seven questions of fact put to them by Justice Morschauser, the answers to which would guide the justice in determining whether he should grant an annulment.

The jurors asked for the transcript of Kip Rhinelander's testimony relative to the evidence of Barbara Reynolds, a woman newspaper reporter.

Had Told of Interview.

She had testified that when she asked Kip if he knew his bride's father was a colored man he said he did know it, but that his father did not know it, and that it would wreck his and his wife's happiness if his father learned of it.

Neither former Judge Isaac N. Mills, Rhinelander's counsel, nor Lee Parsons Davis, Mrs. Rhinelander's attorney, thought that Rhinelander had been examined on this point, and, although Justice Morschauser ordered the testimony searched to find such reference, it could not be found.

Both Mills and Davis agreed that this point had not been denied by Rhinelander. That was all the jury had wished to know, and they filed back into their room, but their inquiry was believed to indicate that some, at least, were holding out for Mrs. Rhinelander.

Warned Against Prejudice.

Justice Morschauser addressed the jury for an hour and a half this morning and warned them against display of prejudice in reaching a verdict.

He cautioned the jury that they must consider the opportunities Rhinelander had before his marriage of determining his wife's color.

"If the plaintiff had the available means of ascertaining the truth by the exercise of ordinary intelligence," he said, "then he was bound to use such intelligence. If you find he had the means of discovering the truth, and it was apparent the defendant was not of white blood, he cannot be heard to say that he did not know she was of colored blood and was defrauded thereby."

He pointed out, too, that the burden of proof was upon Rhinelander.

Justice Morschauser directed the

CATHOLIC SAYS VATICAN WILL KEEP HANDS OFF

Attack on Coolidge Splits Reformers.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4.—[Special.]—Clinton N. Howard, chairman of the united committee for prohibition enforcement, who startled the capital yesterday when he sent a committee report to the White House bitterly denouncing President Coolidge and officials responsible for enforcing the Volstead act, stirred up a new hornet's nest today.

Mr. Howard, as chairman of the committee which includes several temperance and reform organizations, both Catholic and Protestant, made public an appeal to Pope Pius XI. for aid in enforcing the dry law in the United States.

The appeal, which was made in a letter sent to the Vatican, charged that many Catholics were indifferent, if not opposed, to the enforcement of the Volstead act. The pope was asked to urge Catholics to obey the dry law.

Assailed By Cleric.

Mr. Howard's letter brought an immediate sharp rejoinder from the Rev. John J. Burke, general secretary of the National Catholic Welfare conference, which includes all of the Catholic bishops in the United States.

"Love of America and its fundamental institutions did not direct the hand that wrote this letter," Father Burke said. "The impudence of demanding that the holy father interfere in the domestic political affairs of our country will be patent to every one.

"Prohibition is a political question, was born of politics, and today is the most critical political question in America. Mr. Howard sought to discredit President Coolidge and failed. His present effort to discredit the Catholic church of the United States is equally futile.

Bishops Have Not Failed.

"What belongs to America the holy father will leave to America. To the bishops of the country he has entrusted the welfare of the church in this country. They have not failed, nor will they fail, in the worthy guidance of their people. Their fidelity through a century and a half has given truth to the statement in the letter 'the great body of American citizens have always respected the Catholic church as the unflinching advocate of every home virtue as well as public duty.'"

The letter dispatched by Mr. Howard to the pope was remarkable, not only in the very action of appealing to the Vatican in an American domestic problem, but in its wording.

Letter to the Pope.

"I am filled with deep regret in bringing to the attention of your holiness the fact that the seeming indifference, if not opposition, on the part of so many Catholics to the prohibition law has created a great deal of opposition to the Catholic church and did much to call into existence the Ku Klux Klan," Mr. Howard stated.

"President Coolidge, a truly Christian man, has in unmistakable terms condemned organizations committed to intolerance. He has frequently urged upon all good citizens their duty to observe our laws, and upon all public officials that of law enforcement. It seems to many of us that such appeals should meet with more response from Catholic leaders than has been manifested thus far.

"The great body of American citizens have always respected the Catholic church as the unflinching advocate of every home virtue, as well as public duty, and one word from your holiness reiterating what was always felt was the Catholic position of respect for civil authority in accordance with the holy scriptures, that all authority is of God, would be a large contribution to the moral welfare and progress of our republic."

Ignored by Coolidge.

Mr. Howard was not received at the White House today when he attempted to call on President Coolidge this afternoon.

When he asked for an appointment with the President he was told that it would be impossible for an appointment to be made either today or tomorrow. Mr. Howard, not wishing to wait until after the President's return from Chicago, where he goes Sunday, left for his home in Rochester.

No reason aside from the pressure of other engagements was given at the White House for not placing Mr. Howard on the calling list. It was stated in other quarters, however, the administration feels Mr. Howard represents only the minor group of the anti-wet organizations and does not express the feelings of leading prohibition groups.

and for, that reason the President did not care to discuss the prohibition question with him.

Prohibition forces are badly split over Mr. Howard's letter criticizing the President.

In his letter to the President Mr. Howard said his organization represented the feelings of twenty-four organizations which were scandalized at the failure of the Coolidge administration to enforce prohibition.

Immediately after its publication, however, there was a split in the committee and the three organizations recognized by the prohibition unit as the leading anti-wets hastened to assure the President they were not responsible for the report. Those organizations were the Methodist board of temperance, the Anti-Saloon league, and the national organization of the W. C. T. U.

Dry Members Resign.

As a result of the letter, there were several resignations from the united committee. Those who quit included Edwin C. Dinwiddie, the Rev. Dr. Clarence True Wilson, and Oliver W. Stewart.

The executive committee of the Anti-Saloon league commended President Coolidge and the justice department for "setting aright the controversy about the responsibility of the federal government to prosecute all violators of the federal prohibition law."

Capt. W. H. Stayton, founder and national chairman of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, scored the united committee tonight.

"The drys, in this matter, are far from coming into court with clean hands," he said. "It will be recalled that they indorsed for reëlection Congressman Langley even when he was under indictment for bootlegging activities. In other words, their idea of a good citizen is a convict who drinks but who votes the way they want him to."

DYER WANTS REPEAL

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4.—(AP)—The conflict that has enveloped prohibition enforcement ever since its inception and has gained new momentum in the last few days, tonight was headed toward its original battle ground—the floors of congress. Both wets and drys are forming their lines for attack and defense.

Among various proposals to be presented to congress, outright repeal of the Volstead act will be sought by Representative Dyer, Missouri, ranking Republican of the house judiciary committee and one of the wet leaders, who heretofore had contended merely for modification of the law.

In discussing his bill for repeal of the prohibition law, Mr. Dyer said the government "has spent millions upon millions of dollars of the people's money in endeavoring to enforce a law that only a small majority of the people ever wanted."

"It is disgraceful for any man or woman to criticize the President under such circumstances," he declared. "It only goes to show what has often been claimed by many, and that is the radical prohibitionists and drys are neither fair nor honorable, and their only interest in the matter is to keep up agitation that they may obtain further contributions from churches and others to bolster up their waning cause and to give employment at pay to their agitators."

KIWANIS CLUBS HOLD RECEPTION; LEWIS IS SPEAKER

Former Senator J. Hamilton Lewis spoke on "Patriotism." He urged on his hearers the importance of good citizenship as exemplified by the Kiwanis clubs.

Among the guests were John H. Moss of Chicago, president of the board of the Kiwanis International, and J. W. C. Taylor of Montreal, Canada, past president.

SEEK MISSING GIRL.

The Stockyards police were asked last night to search for Mary Shepherd, 16, of 4567 Wentworth avenue, who disappeared from her home Nov. 30.

PLANES BASED IN CANADA TRAP U. S. RUM RUNNER

Close Co-operation Between Two Nations.

Winnipeg, Man., Dec. 4.—[Special.]—Under command of Maj. B. B. Wilcox planes have been sent from the flying field in Minneapolis, to combat the rum runners crossing the Manitoba boundary into North Dakota and Minnesota. On the basis of the Ottawa-Washington agreement the two federal governments are coöperating in an effort to stamp out illicit traffic in booze southward.

These same gentry carry back tobacco and other commodities on which Canada imposes comparatively heavy duty.

Based Near Winnipeg.

Maj. Wilcox and his planes have been assigned to a field comparatively close to Winnipeg and with their superior speed and facility for disregarding highways can follow the rum running motor cars with ease.

The number of planes Maj. Wilcox reports will be considerably increased from now until the end of the year. This is in order to frustrate what is believed to be plans to smuggle extra heavy shipments over the international boundary to provide for the large Christmas demand by thirsty Americans.

With this source of supply made more difficult, Christmas cigars in Canada probably will cost nearer normal prices.

Details are just at hand of capture near St. Cloud earlier in the week, resulting from the activities of the planes in which 25 cases of whisky were confiscated from one automobile. The speed of the plane dazzled the rum runner and made his capture easy.

DRY NAVY BOOTLEG AID

New York, Dec. 4.—(AP)—United States District Attorney Buckner and his aids today said fresh proof of collusion between coast guard members and the alleged New York rum syndicate which dominated the Atlantic coast had been revealed in confessions and private papers taken from some of the eighteen men arrested yesterday as participants in the liquor ring.

Notations of payments as high as $8,400 at a time to coast guardsmen by the syndicate; records of enormous profits on single cargoes, and an elaborate system of signals between coast guard boats and liquor ships were among the discoveries said to have been made.

18 Arrested; 25 Missing.

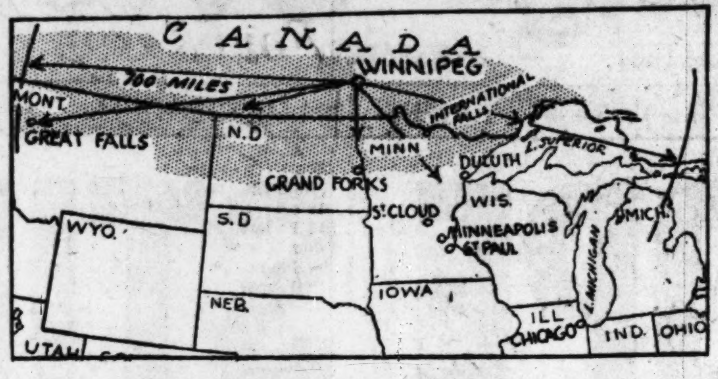
William Dwyer, wealthy turfman, was arrested yesterday as the alleged head of the syndicate. Six members of the coast guard, said to have been in his pay, and eleven men accused of membership in the syndicate in various capacities also were taken. Federal prohibition officers today were searching for 25 more for whom warrants have been issued.

Private papers found in the first roundup indicate, among other inner secrets, that corruption of the guardsmen was not confined to those aboard small craft, but extended to crews of the larger 75 foot boats and included officers as well as men.

On the other hand, District Attorney Buckner said he had evidence in at least one instance of the refusal of an offer as high as $20,000 to the commanding officer of a vessel to allow a single cargo to pass.

Most of the signals and secret data were found in documents taken from Philip Coffey, arrested yesterday as "pay-off man" for the syndicate. One entry, said to be in his handwriting, read, "Coast guard, $8,400, paid to Nicholas Brown."

THEY AIN'T NO SANTA CLAUS



The United States government prohibition enforcement division, under a treaty recently negotiated with Canada, just has sent to the Canadian government landing field in Winnipeg a group of airplanes to patrol the international border for rum runners. These planes will coöperate with planes in the United States and with the Canadian authorities to stop expected large shipments of liquor from Canada into this country for the Christmas holiday demand. On the first day a rum runner was caught by the planes at St. Cloud, Minn.

REACH VERDICT IN KIP CASE; MAY FAVOR THE WIFE

Decision Sealed Until Today's Session.

jury to consider the evidence that Kip, before the marriage, was on friendly terms with the Jones family, among them Robert Brooks, clearly a Negro.

Seven questions to be decided by them were read to the jury by Justice Morschauser. Upon the answers will hinge the judgment in the case which will be rendered by the court.

The interrogatories were as follows:

"At the time of the marriage of the parties, was the defendant colored and of colored blood?

Did Alice Conceal Lineage?

"Did the defendant before the marriage by silence conceal from the plaintiff the fact that she was of colored blood?

"Did the defendant before the marriage represent to the plaintiff that she was not of colored blood?

"Did the defendant practice such concealment or make said representations with the intent thereby to induce the plaintiff to marry her?

"Was the plaintiff by said concealment or by said representation, or by both, induced to marry the defendant?

"If the plaintiff had known that defendant was of colored blood, would he have married her?

"Did the plaintiff cohabit with the defendant after he had obtained full knowledge that the defendant was of colored blood."

In his charge Justice Morschauser told the jury they could attach whatever weight they saw fit to the failure of Alice and her father to testify.

LEE DISCLAIMS ALL BLAME FOR DURKIN'S ESCAPE

Passes It to the Squad Naughton Led.

Blame for the escape of Martin Durkin from a police trap in which a policeman and a civilian lost their lives in the gun battle was laid at the door of the detail assigned to capture the slayer by Capt. Michael Lee of the Englewood station. Lee took the stand yesterday to answer charges of inefficiency.

Following the testimony of the suspended captain the trial board took the case under advisement. Decision is expected in a few days. Twice during the day John F. O'Connell, counsel for Capt. Lee moved for dismissal of the case, but was overruled.

Capt. Lee told of sending men to 240 Englewood avenue, where Durkin with his sweetheart, Betty Andrews, walked into a trap.

"I instructed Sergt. Naughton to look over the flat carefully," Capt. Lee said, "and assign the men so that they would not be in the line of each other's fire. I emphasized that no man was to make a move until Durkin reached the middle of the room. Then they were to close in on him. If common police sense had been used Durkin never could have escaped. If four men in hiding in a flat couldn't capture an intruder, then the police had better close up."

The question rests on whether Capt. Lee should have seen there were men stationed outside as well as inside the building.

Capt. Lee said he had explained to Capt. William Schoemaker that men outside the building might be seen by Durkin, who would not enter.

Sgt. Naughton said Sgt. Harold Gray used home made bullets and that one of them hit Durkin, but fell to the floor after penetrating his overcoat.

LAWSON COUNTRY ESTATE SOLD FOR SUMMER RESORT

Brings $500,000 Price; Hotel Planned.

BY AL CHASE.

One of the finest summer resort subdivisions in the country is planned by Henry F. Norcott, president of H. O. Stone & Co., who yesterday bought the huge country estate of the late Victor F. Lawson on the shores of Green Lake, Wis., for $500,000. The property comprises more than 1,000 acres.

Some idea of the magnitude of the estate is gained when one knows that there are seventeen miles of concrete roads winding about the heavily wooded grounds. There are several miles of shore line. Buildings which would cost $200,000 to construct today are scattered about. There are underground improvements costing $90,000. There's a nine hole golf course, which is to be made into eighteen. In all, it is estimated by Mr. Norcott that Mr. Lawson expended more than $4,000,000 in this Wisconsin paradise.

And, strange to say, Mr. Lawson's own living quarters were in a modest two story frame house on the lake shore—practically all of the millions spent were in development of the property as a whole.

It is expected a huge fireproof hotel may be erected by a syndicate and, in addition, that the property will be platted and sold for summer homes.

As Green lake and the Lawson estate both have a national reputation for beauty, Mr. Norcott expects his buyers to come from all parts of the world. H. B. Binney, manager of the real estate department of the Illinois Merchants Trust company, represented the Lawson estate in the transaction.

FRENCH SENATE VOTES NEW TAX AND INFLATION

$300,000,000 Increase in Currency Ordered.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

[Copyright: 1925: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, Dec. 5 [1 a. m.]—Following a thunderous appeal by Premier Aristide Briand to the upper house to support the government measures to save the franc before the situation becomes irreparable, the senate at midnight adopted the Loucheur plan for increasing taxation 25 to 100 per cent and providing for the inflation of 7,500,000,000 francs ($300,000,000) in currency. The chamber of deputies had previously passed the bill and it now becomes a law.

The inflation article was adopted 196 votes to 59, giving the cabinet a clear majority of 137, with 75 abstentions from among senators of the right. The entire project was adopted, 205 votes to 26.

Former President Millerand in his first political speech since he quit Elysee palace and entered the senate attempted to speak against the government's project after M. Briand's masterful plea for its adoption. Cat calls, jeers, and boos from all corners of the house except the Nationalist group forced him to sit down after reading a few paragraphs of his voluminous notes.

Crowded Chamber Hears Briand.

Former Premier Poincare contented himself with a few remarks opposing the scheme, but did not enter the lists as an active antagonist in view of the apparent spirit of his colleagues.

Luxemburgh palace was jammed with a crowd, who had come to hear M. Briand's defense of his fiscal project and his demand for support. The diplomatic boxes were crowded and the front rows were occupied by women in décolleté, who rushed to the senate from the exclusive restaurants when the night session was announced.

Stoop shouldered, almost like a hunchback, with long mane of gray hair and sonorous voice, the veteran war horse, M. Briand, presented a dramatic appearance facing the senate.

Inflation Only Procedure Possible.

"When I accepted power I was guided by the fact that a long cabinet crisis might have grave consequences," he said. "If I ask for new inflation of the currency it is because no other procedure is possible. Ingenious fiscal systems might give results after a certain delay, but to avert catastrophe we must have immediate resources to replenish the state's coffers and permit the treasury to meet the obligations the treasury faces.

"For meeting the bonds due the state must have resources. The only way to meet the obligations is what I propose. Politicians must remember their opinions, but there comes an hour when a common effort is necessary in the interest of the country.

"The sole remedy today is the confidence of the country. The French people are not discouraged. They are producing. They are working.

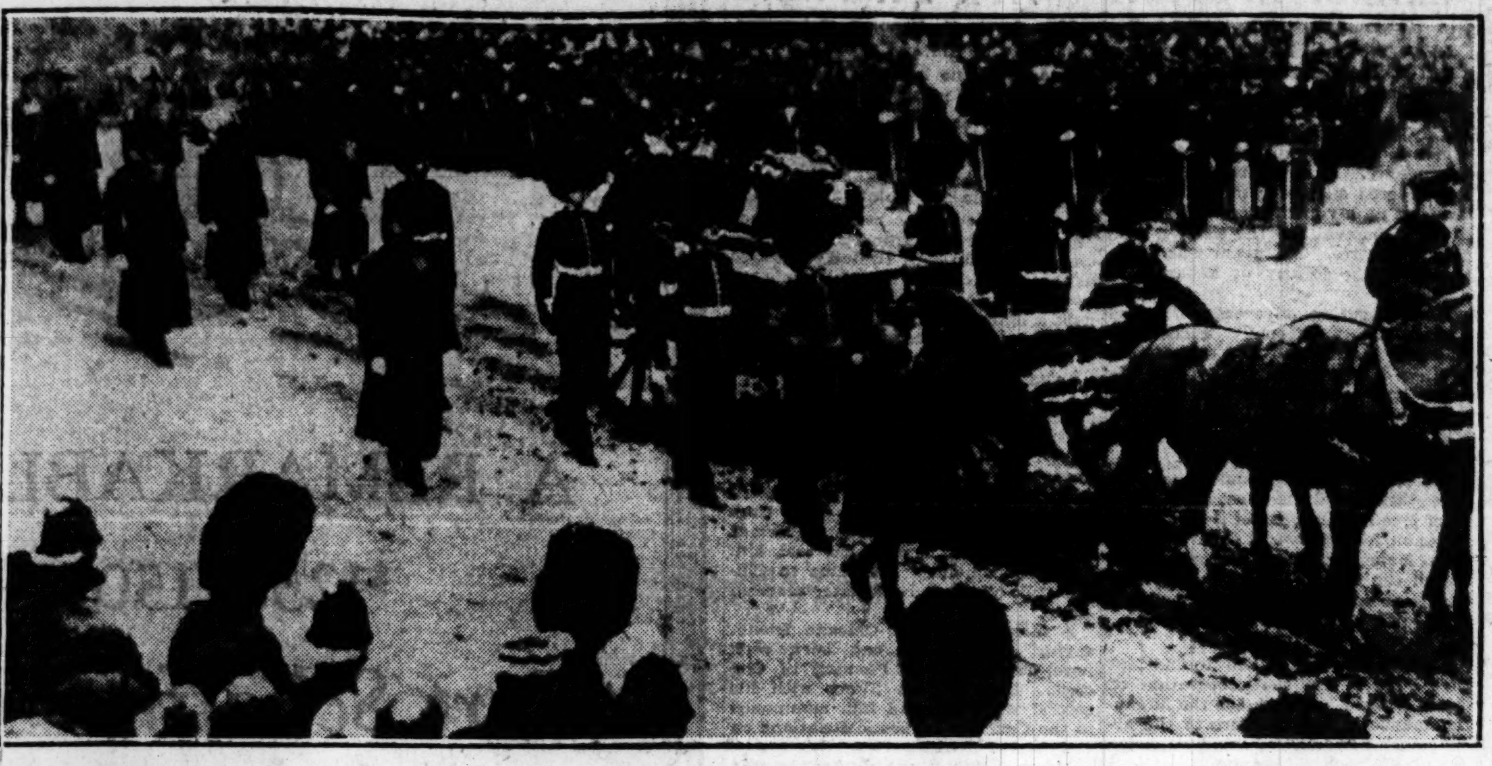
"I have talked with numerous representatives of foreign powers, and all agree that France can recover its prosperity if it depends on itself."

M. Loucheur defended the Dawes plan and Germany's payment of reparations.

Cashin, Held After Death of Mrs. Hood, Set Free

John Cashin, who was arrested after Mrs. Florence R. Hood, a society matron of Birmingham, Ala., committed suicide in the hotel room she and Cashin occupied as man and wife, was dismissed in the Chicago avenue court yesterday on a statutory charge. The state admitted that there was insufficient evidence to convict Cashin.

QUEEN MOTHER OF ENGLAND BURIED WITH MARTIAL POMP



This picture, the first to reach the United States by mail, was sent by wire from New York. The Tribune last Sunday printed a picture sent by the Bartlane system by cable to New York and then sent over the wire to Chicago. The queen's body is being carried on artillery caissons and escorted by men of the footguards. Following the coffin on foot are King George, the Prince of Wales, and the kings of Norway, Denmark, and Belgium.

$70,000,000 IS ASKED FOR NEW PUBLIC PROJECTS

Requests for bond issues for public improvements amounting to more than $70,000,000 confronted the finence committee of the city council yesterday when it began its task of framing the annual appropriation bill for 1926.

With the present financial situation, possibility of realization of any of the improvements is remote. The report of the finance committee staff shows that the city is now in excess of its bonding power by $6,538,075. This is somewhat offset by bonds voted but not sold in the amount of $14,000,000.

Projects ordered for the next four or five years include bridges, street improvements, miscellaneous improvements, fire engine houses and water certificates for the purpose of extending and improving the city's water system.

The $70,000,000 figure does not include the cost to the city of opening and widening streets through the railroad terminal district on the near south side, the straightening of the river or construction of bridges at Robey, Fourteenth and Sixteenth streets.

An appropriation of $1,000,000 will be recommended by the committee to meet judgments against the city.

SNOW AND COLD WEATHER TO HIT CHICAGO TODAY

Snow, rapidly falling temperatures and strong northwest winds will take the place of yesterday's rather clammy weather, according to the official prediction.

Sunday will be partly cloudy, with conditions unsettled. It is indicated that the cold snap will be short. Yesterday there was a steady drizzle. The highest temperature was 51 degrees. The clouds hung low and there was an intermittent drizzle.

An odd feature of the weather: It was observed at one time in the day that while rain was falling in Michigan avenue there was no rain at the thirty-first floor level of Tribune Tower. This led to the conclusion that the rain clouds hung lower than the 400 foot level.

Iowa and other western states reported heavy snowfall last night.

SALOON OWNER SHOT IN NEW BOOTLEG FEUD

Charles Sher, owner of a saloon at 1347 South Jefferson street, was shot in both legs last night in a new outbreak of the west side bootlegging war.

As he left the saloon and started to enter his automobile, a large car in which six or seven men were riding rounded a corner. Several shots were fired. Then the gang drove on. Sher crawled into the saloon. His brother Julius took him to the county hospital.

Emma Dross, 14 years old, 1346 South Jefferson street, witnessed the shooting. She said she would not be able to recognize the men. Sher asserted that he did not know his assailants. The Maxwell street police seized twenty men in a restaurant at 841 Maxwell street. Sher had been in the place shortly before he was shot. Search was started for Jules Portugese, well known bootlegger, but he walked in and presented an alibi.

Sher was charged with the murder of Big Steve Wisniewski in a booze war in Lake county in 1921, but the case has never been brought to trial. Terry Druggan was also a defendant in this shooting.

ROW OVER $3.50 GIN MAY COST LIFE OF A MAN

Richard H. Heideman, 3654 Montrose avenue, was so severely beaten early yesterday morning by a red haired stranger whose gin he had drunk that physicians at the St. Francis' hospital in Evanston fear he will die. It is said the stranger, who is being sought by the county highway police, wanted $3.50 for the gin.

Heideman's 11 year old son, Richard Jr., witnessed the fight, which occurred on the Rand road near Milwaukee avenue. He was so frightened he sat in his father's automobile until daylight with Heideman's unconscious body beside him.

The boy said that his father met the other man in a house at Springfield and Lawrence avenues. They drank from the red head's bottle and decided to take a ride, heading for the forest preserve.

Along the St. Paul railroad tracks near Morton Grove there was a stalled automobile. The stranger, the boy said, put on a mask and went up to the other car. The boy didn't know much of what happened after that.

POLICE HUNTING BANK ROBBERS ON SOUTH SIDE

Detectives from the bureau, under orders from Chief William Schoemaker, last night watched near several south side places in connection with their search for five "blackface" bandits who early in the day held up the Roselle State bank at Roselle, 25 miles northwest of Chicago, escaping with $8,000.

The robbers drove up to the bank in an auto. Four of them, armed with shotguns, entered suddenly.

They compelled A. F. Pottratz, cashier, and the two tellers, Miss Clara Becker and E. Gieschke, to lie on the floor in a rear room while they rifled the safe.

Ann Pennington on Way East; She Hates Travel

"I hate to travel," confessed Ann. "And I've traveled with the company until I am quite ready to take a little time off."

"I have been making pictures in Hollywood for diversion. The last one was 'The Golden Strain.'"

TRACTION PLAN UP TO PEOPLE NEXT PRIMARY

Presentation of a traction plan that incorporates unification of the surface, elevated and bus lines to be voted upon by the public at the April primaries was adopted as a policy by the subcommittee of the council committee on local transportation yesterday.

The move was proposed by Ald. Jacob M. Arvey [24th] in order that the city might go to the legislature with a proposition already bearing the approval of the public, for such measures as are necessary to a comprehensive plan.

By next Friday, Ald. Donald McKinlay [19th], chairman of the committee, said the committee will get down to hard work and even night sessions were talked of.

Explosion of Two Stills Causes Damage of $2,500

Residents in the vicinity of Ogden and Clifton Park avenues were aroused and many rushed to the street thinly clad early this morning when explosions of two stills wrecked a "moonshine" plant at 3542 Ogden avenue and caused $2,500 damage to the building. The flames soon were extinguished. Police began a search for Joseph Weinstein who they believe operated the stills.

At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon Kitty Gilhooley bit her lips, clutched the arms of her chair, and watched twelve men climb into the jury box in Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson's court.

She stared at the jurors who, as they had done all day, refused to look at her blonde fascinations. In their averted eyes she seemed to sense that in the verdict they had spent an hour in reaching she was about to lose the fight she and her husband, Willie Gilhooley, had made for four days to disprove the government's charges that the couple was at the head of a dope ring.

The judge, shading his eyes from the pyramid of light under his lamp, turned to the jury. The courtroom was silent.

Kitty Trembles at Verdict.

"Gentlemen, you have reached a verdict?" he asked.

The foreman nodded. He handed a folded paper to a bailiff, who passed behind the judge's rostrum and gave it to the court clerk. The latter arose and read:

"We, the jury——" he began.

"Oh," cried Kitty, beginning to tremble.

"—find the defendants——" the clerk went on.

"Oh," cried Kitty again, twisting and kneading her lips cruelly with her gloved fingers. "What's he going to say, Willie?" she turned to her husband, who was glaring at the jury.

She Screams; Hat Falls Off.

Kitty screamed. Her black cloth hat toppled to the floor. She lifted her arms straight above and closed her eyes, her whole body twitching and rolling about in her chair.

"No, no!" she sobbed. "Oh, this is terrible! It's a lie."

She fell back on her husband's arm. Judge Wilkerson said:

"I remand the prisoners to the custody of the marshal. I will hear motions for a new trial and pass sentence Monday morning."

When the pair reached the United States marshal's office on the eighth floor of the federal building, Kitty collapsed. Willie stood, swaying, angry, looking at her. A moment later she half arose to speak to him, but he shoved her roughly against the wall.

The Gilhooleys were arrested Aug. 4 in their apartment at 439 Oakwood boulevard. Their defense was that they lived in Apartment 51, and that $200,000 worth of narcotics found in Apartment 48 belonged to somebody else. The government showed that, as Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Bennett, the Gilhooleys paid both rents, and had kept the dope in No. 48 as a blind.

They can be sentenced to a minimum of five years and a maximum of thirty. Their lawyers say they will appeal.

Bare Thrills of Trap to Nab Chiefs.

but the rest, vouched for by the high officials, is this:

There had been 119 bombings this year, four of which were at the homes of policemen. One policeman was killed and several other murders resulted. Mr. Crowe and Chief Collins joined forces and Prosecutor Savage and Lieut. Egan were selected for the job. That was on Oct. 25.

Lieut. Egan had been the bomb expert of the department. The start was in getting the names of the officials of the associations involved. Savage called the leaders to his office, ostensibly to warn them to cease, but in reality to get acquainted with them, their conversation and mannerisms.

Gains Their Confidence.

One of Lieut. Egan's policemen—his name may not be disclosed—volunteered for the most dangerous task: getting into the confidence of the bombers. He visited the barbers' union headquarters, representing himself as a former barber in New York and a fugitive from justice. In time he was well acquainted with George Mills, who accepted him as a criminal.

Through Mills he met Fred Wanquist, the professional bomber, who was living at 3831 Lake Park avenue, with Mrs. Lena Rice, who had deserted her three children and husband for Wanquist. Soon the policeman learned that John Davis, a former coal miner, was the maker of the bombs used.

Lieut. Egan personally shadowed Davis, listening in on telephone calls, noticing whom Davis met, where he visited, and everything he could learn about his man. He and his man in the enemy's camp exchanged information each night through a third policeman whom it was necessary to have employed as a janitor so he could protect his fellow bomb squad member.

Bombing in Berwyn.

The homes of James Rose and Frank Rango in Berwyn were bombed six minutes apart. The policeman-spy knew a few hours later who did the bombing and why. Both the men were officials of the barbers' union.

Something new was then tried. Rose and Rango had been speaking to a barbers' local at the Unity clubhouse, 31st street and Indiana avenues. They started home in Rose's automobile. Each had one of his children in the machine.

The car had proceeded several blocks when the driver noticed something wrong with the engine. He stopped and took off the hood.

Four sticks of dynamite had been placed there, the fuses attached in such a way that the engine would explode the dynamite after a few blocks had been traversed. Then there would have been four deaths and perhaps nothing left to show what caused the explosion.

Connection Is Faulty.

The failure of this plot was caused by faulty connections. A mistake had been made, and Lieut. Egan's representative was soon aware of it. There was to be no error in the Cribben & Sexton blowup, the bombers were assuring each other in the policeman's presence.

There was one drawback, however. The policeman on guard in a tower there—they believed him a city policeman, but he wasn't—was the father of several small children. They waited for a shift that would bring a younger and childless guard to relieve him; then there would be a blast that would rock the district.

Lieut. Egan was fearful, knowing that lives depended upon his making no mistakes and in not being premature in his acts. His aid told him a shotgun squad always followed the bombers' car, to protect their escape by killing any interference.

Wait Opportune Moment.

It was nearing the time to strike, but Lieut. Egan and Prosecutor Savage had to wait for the opportune moment. They had obtained plenty of advance information relative to the domination of the business men's associations, about the thugs and bombers, but the iron wasn't hot.

Their man meanwhile was using his wits in every way to get the important information—when a bomb was to be thrown so the men could be caught in the act. Finally he got it.

"A hardware store, somewhere in the 3600 block on Fullerton avenue, about 1 o'clock tonight," he reported through the janitor-policeman. "Be careful about the shotgun men behind."

Lieut. Egan was ready. It was the morning of Nov. 26. He had men secreted across the street from the hardware store, in alleys, all around. Mrs. Rice dropped the bomb. Avanzi was with her. They started for an automobile driven by Wanquist.

Lieut. Egan and his men, shoulder to shoulder, fired at the car as a signal to the other squads. They wanted that driver alive and they got him that way. The others were caught before they could get away. They talked. As a consequence fifty indictments have already been voted.

"More to follow," said Savage and Egan last night.

WILLING SLAVE LETTERS OF WIFE WIN HIM DIVORCE

A packet of letters found in his wife's desk were produced in Judge Harry A. Lewis' court yesterday by William P. Hoffman, 4938 North Rockwell street, credit manager of the W. D. Allen Manufacturing company, and gained him a divorce.

The letters had been written to Mrs. Luella Hoffman by William Sherper, who was at that time in the county jail on a statutory charge made by a young girl. Sherper has since married this girl, it was learned.

"I am your willing slave," Sherper wrote to Mrs. Hoffman. "If I do marry the girl who is responsible for me being in jail, it won't have any effect on our love."

Gibson Rejects Reported Offer from Small Camp

After his organization, the Forty-seventh Ward Regular Republican club, had acted unanimously against the proposal, State Representative John W. Gibson last night announced he would refuse the offer of the superintendency of Lincoln park which he said he received from Gov. Small. At a meeting held in the North-Center Bank hall, Lincoln avenue and Irving Park boulevard, Gibson told of the offer and said he was opposed to accepting it because he always had been against Gov. Small's policies. He was commended by several speakers, and the vote on the subject which he requested resulted in an instruction to the secretary to notify Gov. Small that his proposal was rejected.

WOMAN FATALLY STABBED.

The Cottage Grove avenue police were investigating last night the fatal stabbing of Miss Ethel Clay, colored, 25 years old, 59 East 26th street.

FRANCE DANGLES SWORD AND OLIVE BRANCH IN SYRIA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BEIRUT, Syria, Dec. 4.—A constitutional government was given to Christian Lebanon today in a proclamation of Henri Jouvenal, proprietor of the Paris Matin, the new high commissioner to Syria, who arrived here on Wednesday. A constituent assembly was ordered called for the purpose of drawing up a constitution and providing a parliament and the election of a chief executive. The grant was made to award the loyalty of Lebanon to France.

Holding out an olive branch in one hand, M. Jouvenal unsheathed France's sword with the other. Repeating his program of "peace to those who want peace and war to those who want war," M. Jouvenal said that he would not listen to any propositions from the rebels.

"If the other states under the mandate—meaning Syria—desire the benefit of free institutions, let them do like Lebanon," M. Jouvenal said. "There is no longer an excuse for war," concluded the commissioner, "except for pillage and murder. The responsibility rests with rebels; France and her allies have the last word."

This phrase was taken to indicate that France has the coöperation of Great Britain, which holds the adjoining mandate, and it refers to the arrangements which M. Jouvenal made during his visit to London.

This official declaration is regarded as evidence of France's good faith in the orient, as well as its decision to make war to a finish against the four rebel columns now afield.

SHE FINDS HER MISSING HUSBAND WITH WIFE NO. 2

Mrs. Annie E. Fleming of Chester, Pa., came to Chicago two weeks ago in search of the husband she had believed dead for the last ten years. She found him—married again.

Mrs. Fleming wept yesterday as she related to Judge John J. Lupe in the Court of Domestic Relations that she never had seen nor heard from her husband after she kissed him good-by on a steamship deck twelve years ago as he was sailing for California in search of work. For two years she kept a light burning in the window of their home at Chester in expectation of his return. Then, convinced that he was dead, she put out the light.

George Fleming, 3836 North Robey street, wept as he told the judge that he had written repeatedly to his wife after he arrived in California, and had never received an answer. He worked as a glass blower there for three years, he said, then worked his way back north, and accidentally met a former boarder in his home, who told him his wife had died. He came to Chicago two years ago and later married again.

A message from a Chicago friend, saying her husband had been seen here, brought Mrs. Fleming to Chicago. Finding him living with his second wife, she had him summoned to the Court of Domestic Relations on a charge of nonsupport.

Mr. and Mrs. Fleming were married in Muncie, Ind., eighteen years ago. He is 50. The second Mrs. Fleming did not appear in court. Judge Lupe ordered the case continued to Dec. 12 to allow an investigation.

COUNCIL'S PURE MILK BILL HELD BACK BY WRIT

Dr. Bundesen Unable to Advise Aldermen.

Balked from recommending the passage of a pure milk ordinance because Health Commissioner Bundesen is enjoined by a downstate injunction from advising it, the public health committee of the city council yesterday was forced to postpone action on the ordinance.

A majority of the aldermen favored the proposed ordinance, which requires that all milk sold in Chicago must come from healthy, tuberculin tested cows, and three of the councilmen fought strenuously to bring the ordinance immediately before the whole council.

Oppose the Ordinance.

Opposing the ordinance were representatives of dairymen who refuse to submit their herds to the test, including State Senator Rodney B. Swift of Libertyville and Representative Frank A. McCarthy of Elgin. Mr. McCarthy was one of the attorneys who obtained the injunction against Dr. Bundesen.

Ald. Robert R. Jackson, author of the ordinance, demanded that it be put through without delay, climaxing an earnest address with this argument:

"The dairy farmers say they will lose money if their cows suffering from tuberculosis are killed. What about the loss of the health of Chicago's 3,000,000 people? If we must choose between human lives and money, then this committee should fight for lives, and for the protection of our milk supply."

Urges United Front.

Condemning the downstate legislators for denying Chicago its constitutional representation in the legislature, which he blamed for Chicago's present milk predicament, Ald. Jackson urged a united front by the committee against the downstate forces.

"Whenever there is a great problem of the city of Chicago at stake the downstate lines up solidly against it," the alderman said. "Downstate cities, thirty of them, have banned the impure milk and are shipping it all to Chicago. When we wish to pass the same ordinance as those thirty cities have, downstate rises up in a clamor against us and binds our health commissioner's hands and speech with an injunction.

Like Downstate Ordinances.

"We ought not to sit idly by, letting the country districts, banded together like an army, defeat Chicago's welfare, and threaten our milk supply. They have no power upon us, so let us stand for no interference. This ordinance submitted here is the same as the downstate cities have. We do not need to have Dr. Bundesen tell us it is a good one. Before he was silenced he fought for the same thing. Let us pass it here, and have the city council pass it Wednesday."

Criticism of the injunction issued by Circuit Judge William J. Fulton of Kane county was voiced by the aldermen.

"Matters have come to a pretty pass when a judge can prevent the city council of Chicago from receiving advice from its health commissioner," said Ald. Donald S. McKinlay, and Ald. Bert Cronson branded the writ as an infringement upon free speech. The aldermen finally urged upon Commissioner Bundesen to consult with the corporation counsel as to whether he may not, under the injunction, advise the committee.

Statement by Swift.

In telling the side of the dairymen with untested herds, Senator Swift, who said he spoke as a milk producer himself, declared that milk from tubercular cows is just as good, if pasteurized, as milk from healthy cows.

When the aldermen pointed to the resolutions passed by a hundred milk producers, meeting in Chicago last March, urging a compulsory tuberculin test for cattle, the state senator answered by saying:

"Those producers have pure herds which have been tested, and they stand to lose nothing. Our herds are not, and when I say 'our,' I mean the hard working, honest dairymen who are supplying most of the milk of the state."

Many farmers in Illinois have tested herds, just as Senator Swift pointed out, and they are beginning to protest against finding the state branded as a black belt for tuberculosis.

THOMAS BURKE DIES AS HE ASKS JUSTICE TO JAPS

New York, Dec. 4.—[Special.]—Thomas Burke, former justice of the Supreme court of the state of Washington, collapsed and died today while urging justice for Japan in a speech before Elihu Root, John W. Davis, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, Robert Lansing, former secretary of state, and other prominent trustees of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace at the Carnegie corporation's rooms.

Mr. Burke, 77, fell into the arms of Dr. Butler, and Dr. Henry S. Pritchett sprang to the assistance of his colleague. Drs. James Pedersen and George Dow Scott were summoned, but Judge Burke had died. Apoplexy apparently caused death.

Mr. Burke had just started his speech. He urged "justice, courtesy, and kindly treatment for Japan."

The meeting was immediately adjourned and the men stood in silent respect as the body was taken from the room.

ROBBED OF TRUCK AND LOAD.

Two armed men robbed Herman Steinberg, 1403 West 13th street, a chauffeur, of a truck containing candy, cigarets, and cigars valued at $1,000 late yesterday.

HALT MOVE FOR BAR ON HOLIDAY PARKING IN LOOP

Plans to abolish automobile parking in the loop during the two weeks before Christmas were dropped by the council subcommittee on vehicular traffic yesterday, following a hearing at which representatives of downtown business appeared. While those present almost unanimously approved such a measure and agreed that it would relieve loop congestion to their benefit, they said that the time was too short to consider such an important step.

Ald. E. I. Frankhauser [49th], chairman of the subcommittee, then suggested that nothing be done until the Association of Commerce traffic survey is completed. To this the committee agreed.

Non-Parking Ordinance Holds.

Any decision made by the subcommittee will in no way affect the non-parking ordinance already in force in Lake, Wabash and Van Buren streets, it was declared.

Representatives of State street stores, loop merchants, downtown buildings, taxicab companies, surface lines, motor bus companies, cartage contractors, express companies and chauffeur and teamster unions attended the hearing.

Elmer Stevens, vice president of Charles A. Stevens & Bros. and chairman of the traffic committee of the Association of Commerce, told the committee that his store was in favor of the no-parking order and that several other State street stores were of the same opinion. He asked, however, that no action be taken at this time.

Survey Shows Situation.

A check of 2,000 persons entering the Stevens store revealed that only 6 per cent came to the loop in automobiles and of that number only 3 per cent drove their own cars, Mr. Stevens said. Of that 3 per cent more than half parked outside the loop, in garages or in Grant park.

"Our interest is to speed up public conveyances, such as street cars, busses, taxis, and cars with chauffeurs," Mr. Stevens said.

Mike Galvin of the chauffeurs' union complained that fines were being paid by drivers because they were delayed in making deliveries by lack of easy access to buildings.

NAVY USED RADIO, FILMS TO FIGHT AIR SERVICE UNIT

Press Agent Tells of War by Propaganda.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4.—[Special.]—Col. William Mitchell's contention that Barnum could have taught the navy department nothing new in press agentry, was sustained by the navy's head press agent during today's session of the colonel's trial for insubordination.

This head press agent has the rank of commander and his name is John T. Stapler. He testified that part of his duty is to assemble and send out information to naval officers purposing to address Rotary clubs and chambers of commerce on the perils of a unified air service, to keep sharp eyes on Col. William Mitchell and counter against his statements with what the navy department considers are "the facts," and to scrutinize propaganda films exhibited by the army's press agents so that the parts of which the navy department describes as "largely fake in character" may be exposed.

Uses Films and Radios.

Commander Stapler's agency also arranges broadcasting programs, mails clippings of editorials against a united air service to newspapers, and prepares propaganda films in behalf of causes dear to it.

"The navy," so the commander testified, "is against a united air force, and navy officers have debated actively against such a service. We send out information to guide the debaters."

Asked by Col. Mitchell's counsel whether he "could name a single aviator in the navy who is in favor of the policy existing in the navy today," the witness named Commander John Rodgers.

Scores Bombing Film.

The film which Commander Stapler described as "largely fake in character" was, he said, the one showing the sinking of the Ost Friesland by the army aviators. "It gave the impression," said the commander, "that the ship was sunk in a few minutes, though it really took two days." Hence his counsel to his assistants was, "This film can be turned into a boomerang against the army."

In defining his work the witness said that one of the rules issued by the navy department to his bureau was, "No statements critical of or derogatory to any other branch of the government shall be issued."

"Is it the function of this bureau to sway public opinion?" he was asked.

"No," he replied.

Denies Sims' Charge.

In rebuttal to Rear Admiral Sims' charge, that American naval policies are largely controlled by high ranking officers who are "ignorant, uneducated, and unfit for high command," Rear Admiral William V. Pratt took the stand. He is now president of the naval war college, but he does not think that "control of the navy is jeopardized by officers who are not graduates of the college."

"No," he added, in answering the question, "nothing takes the place of common sense!"

The battleship, he thinks, is still "the backbone of the fleet," adding "nothing can take its place, but the airplane is one of the most valuable adjuncts of the navy that we have had in a long time—a very useful weapon, without which no battle fleet now could adequately function."

COOLIDGE CAUTIOUS IN CONSIDERING LEAGUE BID TO ARMS PARLEY

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Recognizing difficulties in the way of American participation in the efforts of the league of nations to work out new plans for reduction and limitation of armaments, President Coolidge will defer consideration of the invitation of the league's disarmament council until he can examine its text.

The President is in full sympathy with any reasonable proposal for reductions of armament, and undoubtedly will give careful consideration, when he receives it, to the invitation for American membership on the special commission created by the disarmament division to develop the project. It will be time then, in his view, to determine whether the United States can participate.

MUNDELEIN PICKS ALTAR SITE FOR CHURCHCONGRESS

His eminence Cardinal Mundelein journeyed to Soldiers' field yesterday, where he picked out the site for the imposing altar which will be the center of the ceremonies in connection with the eucharistic congress next June, and Archbishop Cieplak, visiting Polish prelate, made the round of several churches and institutions.

Cardinal Mundelein's selection for the altar is at the north end of the stadium. Here will be sung the mass of the angels by visiting cardinals, with an angelic chorus composed of 50,000 children, who are already being trained in groups for the event.

Cardinal Mundelein was especially pleased, he said, with the setting afforded by the great pillars of the stadium, reminding him, as it will remind others, of classic Rome, the holy city of the Catholic world.

Mgr. C. J. Quille, secretary of the eucharistic congress, announced arrangements were being made to celebrate the mass rain or shine. In case of inclement weather, he said, the altar will be protected by a canopy.

Archbishop Cieplak was received by many hundreds of children, who scattered flowers in his honor. Today he will visit St. Mary of the Lake university as the guest of Cardinal Mundelein and will be entertained at dinner by the cardinal at his official residence.

ALL ITALY GROWS AND MAKES PUT IN MUSSOLINI GRIP

New Law Gives Control of Production.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
[Copyright: 1925: By The Chicago Tribune.]

ROME, Dec. 4.—The chamber of deputies today adopted a law which provides for absolute government control of production, through coöperation and solution of technical problems by boards of experts. Increasing or decreasing production, according to the needs of the country, will be regulated by the government.

Minister of Economy Beluzzo, himself one of Italy's greatest industrial experts, said the increased production in Italy now is bringing people from all countries of the world here to study the Italian methods.

"Agriculture is now producing 40,000,000,000 lire ($1,600,000,000) yearly and the hydroelectric industry is equivalent to 10,000,000 tons of coal," he said. "The iron production already is reaching 40,000,000 tons annually, which will be increased considerably when new mines are developed."

Welcome Volpi Mission.

The Volpi debt funding commission was enthusiastically welcomed home tonight by a large crowd at the station. Demonstrations were later conducted before the home of Count Volpi.

Count Volpi said the mission honestly presented the situation and marvelous development in production in Italy. Premier Mussolini, he said, is reaching the proportions of a legendary achievement. America has recognized him as possessing the qualities of a great historic figure.

Sig. Grandi characterized the American democracy as a "speceis of Fascism," having as its base a strong nationalistic patriotic spirit.

"The individual rights of the Americans are rigorously limited by the states," he said. "Herein is the secret of a liaison between the two different countries."

Stirred by British-Greco Accord.

The Idea National in discussing the Greco-British accord on maritime matters, which was published in the Athens official gazette, says it "confirms not only absolute and unlimited secret control of the Greek fleet by Great Britain, but above all provides numerous and formidable naval bases at Volo, Mudros, Mytilene, Samos, and Corfu which with Malta, Aboukir, Haifa, Cyprus, and the Suez canal assures the very powerful British navy absolute domination of the eastern Mediterranean."

The newspaper adds:

"It is ridiculous to ask why Great Britain preferred the wavering support of Greece after the war to an agreement with a powerful ally over whom it could never obtain this domination. It is also understandable why Great Britain tried to give Smyrna, Samos, and Adramyti to Greece, and tried to prevent Italy from getting Stampalia, Rhodes, and Leros and was so excited over the Italian occupation of Corfu.

Hints at Disarmament Opposition.

"All this does not prevent England from continuing to insist, as Lord Robert Cecil is insisting at Geneva, on the urgent necessity of naval disarmament, especially in submarines and hydroplanes, the only arms which give us a hope of resisting in our seas the enormous pressure of supermaritime powers and strategic encirclement.

"Less comprehensible is the conduct of Greece, which makes an accord at a time when it is trying to attain a closer relationship with Italy which is useless for us, but very important for Greek independence."

COOLIDGE BACKS AIRCRAFT BOARD REPORT IN FULL

Battle for Unified Service in Congress Assured.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4.—[Special.]—With the Coolidge administration backing the Morrow board's report, and the Democrats and many Republicans preparing to fight for a unified air service, it appears as if the air defense of the nation will be the subject of bitter controversy in the coming session of congress.

President Coolidge made it known today that he accepts the findings of his aircraft board without qualification, and intends to recommend legislation carrying into effect the board's proposals for the strengthening and adequate development of the air forces of the army and navy. The President is particularly impressed with the wisdom of the board's recommendations that the air force in each service be placed under the special care of a new assistant secretary and that the high commands of the army and navy be infiltrated with aviation officers.

Importance of Air Force Seen.

These are measures the effect of which would be to rescue the army and navy air services from that condition of neglect and undue subordination to which Col. William Mitchell called the attention of the country in so sensational a manner that he is being court martialed therefor. The President, we learn from a White House statement, is convinced that the air forces will be an important factor in future national defense, although not so important, apparently, as they are regarded by Col. Mitchell.

"The President wishes to acknowledge the distinguished public service rendered by the members of the aircraft board, which has just completed its report," says the statement. "He believes that the thanks of the entire country go out to those eminent citizens who so promptly responded to his call on Sept. 12.

Praise for Report.

"Their contribution to the solution of the problem is of the greatest value. National defense is a matter in which we all are interested, quite properly. There is no dispute that the science of aviation, now in its infancy, is going to play an important part in safeguarding our country from any foreign attack, and that anything which will develop its usefulness should be welcome by us all.

"The report of the aircraft board gives to the public a clearer understanding of all the problems involved than any statement heretofore issued."

There are numerous groups in congress, some of which look upon the Morrow board's findings as a whitewashing report, designed to forestall a congressional investigation of the Mitchell charges against the administration, while others take the position that the Morrow recommendations are merely palliative and fail to go to the root of the trouble.

Senator Robinson [Dem., Ark.], minority leader of the senate, intends to champion an independent and unified air force and presumably contemplates that the Democrats in congress will back him up.

Republican Opposition.

Representative Curry [Rep., Cal.] will introduce two bills, one of which will provide for a department of national defense comprising the three coequal branches of army, navy, and air, while the other bill will provide for the establishment of a department of aeronautics in which all aviation activities would be unified.

Col. Mitchell, whether in or out of the army as a result of his court martial, is preparing to take an active part in the air defense controversy in congress, and to bring about the creation of a unified air force.

The senate and house committees on military and naval affairs will begin consideration at an early date of the creation of additional assistant secretaries of war and navy for special supervision of air defense and other recommendations of the Morrow board.

Small Arms Salute to Gen. Foreman Stirs Drake

Many gold coast dwellers were alarmed last night by a burst of gunfire. Residents of the Drake hotel, who have the memory of the recent Drake holdup still fresh in their minds, were particularly alarmed. Many calls were received by the police. All were assured that there was no need for alarm. It was explained that a firing squad at the 122d field artillery armory had fired a salute of thirteen guns in honor of Maj. Gen. Milton J. Foreman at a regimental review.

AUTOS KILL 2 AND INJURE 4; 1925 TOLL NOW 733

Two persons were killed and four injured in automobile accidents yesterday. Since Jan. 1 733 men, women, and children have died in motor accidents.

STEPHEN MATA.

As she was crossing Western avenue at 45th street Mrs. Elizabeth Bieber, 42 years old, 2142 South Washtenaw avenue, was knocked down by an automobile and fatally injured. She died while being taken to St. Anthony's hospital. Fred W. Steffen, 4136 South Rockwell street, the driver of the automobile, was arrested.

Injuries Prove Fatal.

Stephen Mata, 59 years old, 516 West 80th street, died in his home of injuries he suffered several days ago when he was struck by an automobile as he was crossing 79th street at Vincennes avenue. The driver at the time took Mata to the hospital, but did not give his name. He is being sought.

Charles Dymbelski, 55 years old, 6355 Hamilton avenue, received a fractured skull when he was hit by an automobile at Ashland avenue and 63d street. The driver, James Deegan, 25 years old, 5955 South Hermitage avenue, was arrested and charged with assault.

Two Hurt in Evanston.

B. J. Jenkins, 72 years old, 1539 Maple avenue, Evanston, was injured when he was struck by an automobile at Sherman avenue and Grove street, Evanston. The driver of the car said he was blinded by bright lights and was not held responsible by the police.

Two automobiles crashed at Simpson street and Ashland avenue, Evanston and two men were injured. They were David Young, 22 years old, 1409 Crain street, Evanston, and William Anderson, 24 years old, Elks club, Chicago.

Northwest Side Health Pageant Held Yesterday

The northwest side's health pageant was held yesterday at the Logan Square Masonic temple, 2451 North Kedzie avenue. Dental examinations were features. Health contests and addresses, singing, and tableaux also were included.

"GUN GIRL" WHO ESCAPED PRISON FOUND WOUNDED

Officials last night were pondering the case of Hazel Burmeister, 28 years old, one of Chicago's original gun girls, who five years ago escaped from Joliet penitentiary, and who recently shot herself in a Hudson, N. Y., jail.

Miss Burmeister is under police guard at Lake View hospital, where she was ordered removed by Detective Sergts. Keough and Touhy after her presence was discovered in the apartment of her mother, Mrs. Belle Cameron, 1433 Balmoral avenue.

According to the mother's story, Hazel was released after serving her term in the east on a bad check charge, but her old wound still troubling her, Dr. William Whitaker of the Drake hotel, was called in. The physician promptly notified police, who recalled her escape, with two other women prisoners, from Joliet in 1920.

One angle of the present inquiry is to determine why Hudson authorities released the girl from their custody without notifying Illinois parole agents.

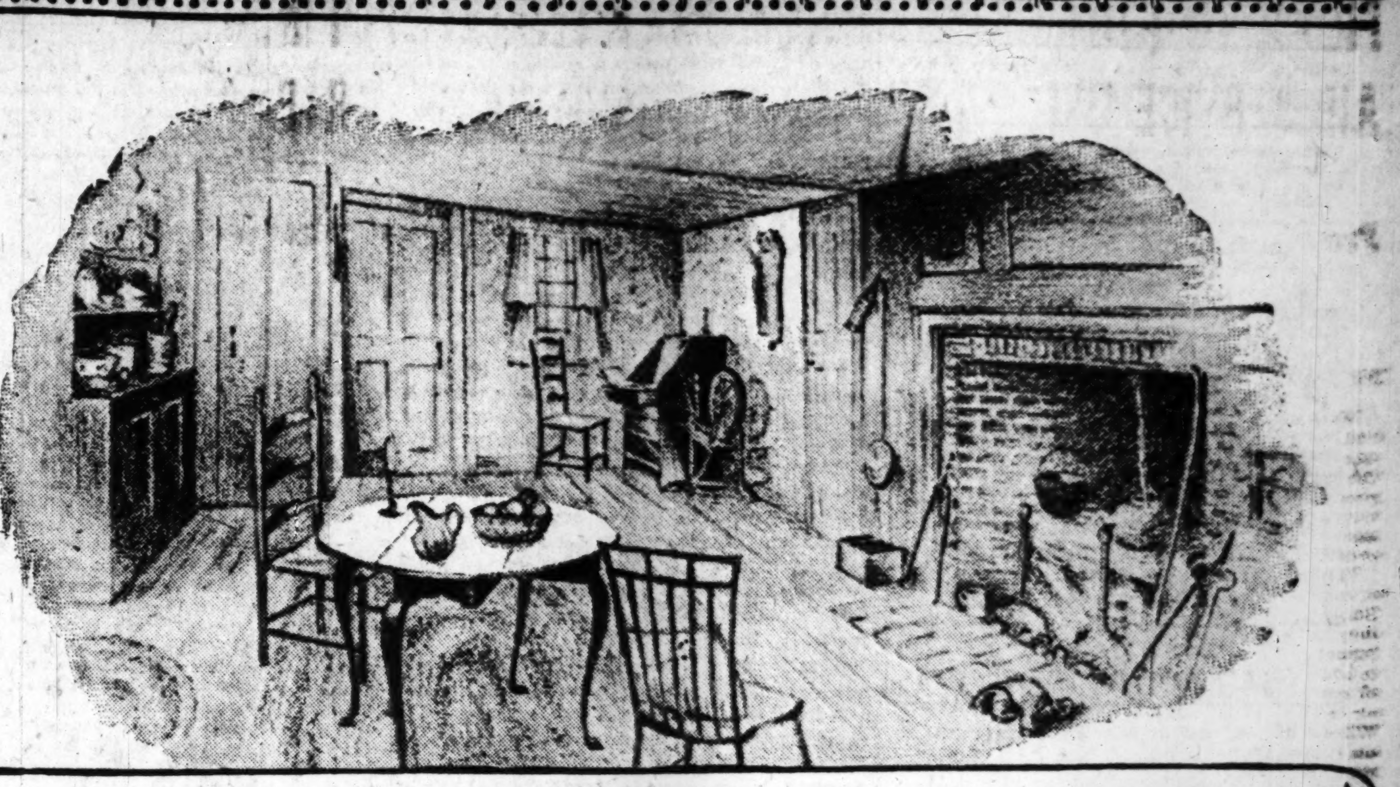
WHEELER'S—THE HOME OF CHEERFUL CREDIT

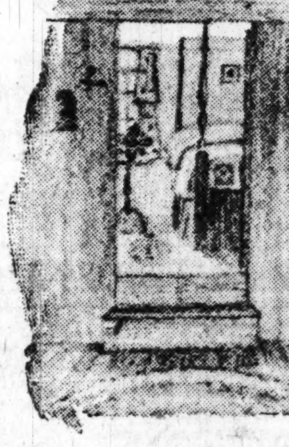


AROUND THIS "HEARTH'S FIRE RUDDY GLOW," the Whittier Christmases were celebrated here in their great old fashioned New England kitchen which occupied half the whole first floor of their beloved "Snow-Bound" Home. If you look sharp you can see the mug in which "the cider simmered slow." and the grandfather's desk upon which Whittier wrote his earlier poems.

Whittier's Birthplace
Haverhill—Massachusetts

THE WHITTIER HOME was all in all for the growing boy who was later to become known the land over for his simple, pulsating poem called "Snow-Bound," the story of this little New England Home which he loved and around which the sweetest memories of his life were built. So much did Home mean to him, in after years he only had to think of its great old fashioned kitchen, the family sitting room, and the memory glow from its hearth would make "The old rude furnished room . . . Burst flower-like into bloom," and of his Home he could write that "Beyond the circle of our hearth" little mattered.

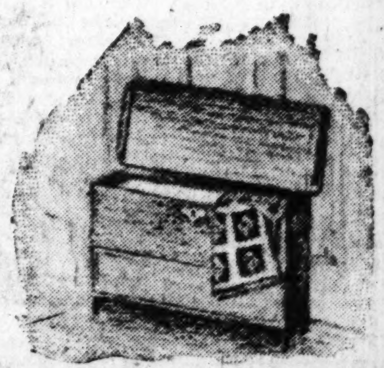
Most mothers and fathers would give all they have to make Home mean as much to their children as Whittier's Home meant to him, because THE HOME IS THE THING and they know it. They may not know, however, that though rude and simple, Whittier's Home was furnished with only good furniture and with as attractive things as his parents had means to secure.



At left, opposite: The little room opening from the end of the kitchen which was "Mother's Room."

MOTHER'S ROOM deserves to be the most beautiful and comfortable in the Home. At Christmas time—a capital Christmas Gift idea—to help make it so! Many suggestions for Mother's Room from the John M. Smyth Store.

110 YEARS BEFORE John Greenleaf Whittier, the poet, was born Thomas Whittier, the pioneer, built this Home of great hewn oak beams 15 inches thick. Now, as a Whittier memorial, it is held by nine trustees who are incorporated under the name of the John Greenleaf Whittier Homestead, and all season the huge busses from Boston on their way to the White Mountains stop for people to go through—people from California, England, Java—everywhere.



At right, opposite: The little brick-red linen chest of Whittier's Mother.

Here Whittier was born and lived until 30 years old, until full grown manhood—in this home lived in by Whittiers since 1697.

THE HOME IS THE THING

And How Especially True This Is At Christmas Time.

¶ It is in Furnishing Homes that this Store specializes—no matter how simple or how splendid your Home. And, no matter how simple or how bounteous your income, this Store can help you make your Home charming and attractive. Giving things for the Home is building love for Home. Giving young people a piece of furniture to call their own, and giving them something fine and new for their Home—is a wonderful sort of Christmas present. It is a Christmas present that hits right Home with them because it strikes deepest to their love of a real possession; it comes so close to Big things, the real Big things of Life.

NULLIFICATION AND CHICAGO MILK.

Mayor Dever hopes to be able to obtain a city ordinance which can get by the restrictions the Shurtleff law places on Chicago health department action for the protection of the milk supply. That law makes it illegal for any city to require the tuberculin test as a condition of selling milk to its inhabitants.

Dr. Bundesen endeavored by agreements with the milk companies to get a milk supply from cows tested and known to be free from tuberculosis. When the companies endeavored to buy only such milk an injunction was obtained in a Kane county court restraining the health commissioner from putting such a rule into effect or even advocating the policy of the tuberculin test.

Joliet has an ordinance which Mr. Dever says is satisfactory. It has avoided the Shurtleff law. In all about thirty Illinois cities have found means to protect themselves and the mayor thinks Chicago can. Health authorities do not believe that present methods of protecting the supply can be accepted as wholly preventive. They are agreed that public interest requires that milk come from sound cows and not from diseased cows.

Neighboring states do not permit diseased cows in the herds and consequently Illinois is the market for the sale of diseased animals. The milk from the diseased animals must be treated to prevent the full consequences of the use of such a product.

It is pertinent to relate this question of health in the city to the political status of the city in the state. The Chicago health department is restrained from establishing what it believes needful to public health because of a state law, and in the making of state laws the city is deprived of its legal representation. There is cause and effect.

The legislature refuses to remedy the wrong. The seats which Cook county should have and which are occupied by senators and representatives from rural districts now number 20, five in the senate and fifteen in the house of representatives. As the population of Cook county grows the number of seats withheld from the metropolitan district by nullification of the constitution and by dishonoring the oath of office will grow.

People who think that the nullification of the state constitution is an inconsequential thing with no moral opprobrium attached to it may be indifferent to the possible consequences of contaminated milk supply.

Political rights are supposed to be sacred in America because if they are lost damaging, unpleasant or destructive consequences will follow. That doctrine is sound. We have the present illustration.

So long as the political inferiority of the metropolitan area is continued by nullification and false swearing in taking the oath of office such unjust laws will multiply. The men who nullify the constitution do so to retain power and they use power against the city and for themselves. With it they can govern Chicago in many respects, pass legislation prejudicial to it, and check it when it wants to do things for its own protection or improvement.

It is a politically immoral situation. Some people think they can honestly defend it, but it is indefensible. John B. Fergus, the persistent champion of franchise rights in Chicago, is seeking a remedy in the Supreme court. If everything else fails, there is a political remedy which the city and its metropolitan area will be forced to use. It will elect the governors of Illinois and a Chicago governor will veto every repressive, unjust and prejudicial law which is passed and, with the Cook county representation behind him, it cannot be passed over his veto.

If this great region of Illinois cannot have its legislative rights it will take over the administration in its own protection. It can do that if its needs force it to concentrate its votes on a Chicago candidate for governor regardless of his party. It would be an undesirable thing to divide the state so, but that is for the nullifiers to consider. It is they who are crowding the people of the metropolitan area so that they have no choice but to defend themselves as they can.

Chicago does not wish to deal unjustly with the regions which furnish it with supplies, but the spirit reflected in the Shurtleff law is menacing. The power that can do that can go on to other abuses and it is based on a lawless overturn of American principles of government. Some relief from it will be found.

THE WEST SIDE.

Representatives of the people of the west park district came together Thursday night and began the promotion of a large program of west side improvements, including a great stadium for sports, new small parks, encouragement of athletic exercises and competitions, the extension and widening of boulevards, and the decorative embellishments of public places.

The west side district made a mistake, we think, when it did not get behind the zoo when it was offered as a voting proposition. When the city has such a zoo as was proposed and probably will be again the district which has it will have the greatest attraction in the city.

Aside from that we have thought for a long time that the west side was not making as wise use of its opportunities and was not taking the same precautions for its future good as the other park districts. This program indicates that there has been some thinking on the west side along that same line. There is a great stretch of territory which can be enhanced and a great mass of population which can be benefitted.

PAT AND HARRISON.

It is not generally THE TRIBUNE's purpose to help the Democratic national party elect a President of the United States, but the difficulties of the party invite the sympathy of the opposition. If it picks up a live one in the east, it has a dead one in the west. A hot one in New York is too hot in the south. The party might be sitting pretty by the Hudson and on a tack south of the Ohio river. It might be going strong with a candidate in the south and be given three rousing raspberries in the east and run up an alley in the west.

If it is good in one section of the country it is awful in another. The qualities and opinions which make Al Smith a fair haired boy in the east would get him an ash barrel in the south and call out a posse in the west. What you make on the peanutta you lose on the damma banan.

What the party needs is a trick of multiple personality which in the east would appear wet and conservative, light wines and beer, and heavy dividends; in the south conservative and dry; and in the west radical and dry, for soft liquids and soft money, heavy taxation in New York and lots of fertilizer in Iowa.

It would probably require considerable of a gift and maybe it cannot be done, but if the party wants to try it we have its candidate, Pat Harrison of Mississippi. Pat in New York, Harrison in the south, and Pat Harrison in the west, a tongue of living flame who could be against everybody—the ideal Democrat. He might bring solidity to what is now a dust storm by the happy expedient of being against everything that any one possibly could be against in any locality. People are influenced largely by what they don't like. It's a rare chance, and probably the only one.

DISCOURAGING BANK ROBBERY.

The state division of pardons and paroles has passed upon the cases of twelve prisoners serving indeterminate sentences for bank robberies downstate. They had been sentenced to imprisonment for from ten years to life. The parole division said that would mean life, the idea being to make bank robbery outside Chicago unpopular.

Any of the cases may be reopened in future years, no doubt when the present stern attitude of the board may have melted. So far as it goes, however, the decision is commendable. It indicates how the business interests of a community can force decent behavior from public officials. Downstate business men have been appalled by the recent wave of bank robbery and they have made their views felt in Springfield. The division of paroles is a political body, directly responsive to the governor's orders. When the parole board goes out of its way to hand out maximum sentences it is fair to assume that some one with influence has been demanding exemplary punishments.

Chicago is also in Illinois and Chicago is not entirely free of crime. It might be a good thing if some of Chicago's more notorious criminals were held in the penitentiary as long as the law will allow. Chicago bankers and business men may feel certain that nothing of the sort will be done until they make it clear to the governor what they want. There is no political profit in keeping a man in prison when he has relatives, friends, and associates who will appreciate his release. The way to keep criminals in jail is to prove to the governor that he will lose more by letting them out than he will gain.

A HOBBLED SENATE ISN'T SO BAD.

Gen. Dawes has gone to Washington for the opening of congress. As Vice President wanting the senate to change its rules to permit action on bills when a majority wants action, he has been carrying his ideas to the people. He has support in the senate and may get a vote, or at least a fight, there.

It is easy to be in sympathy with a great deal of what the Vice President says and of what he advocates in this respect. Obstructive rules which keep a majority under blankets and prevent it from getting anywhere seem in themselves to be obnoxious to representative government. That evils come out of them is demonstrable. It is plain that they would.

It is our view that the country needs not more but less legislation. It needs a check on majorities. They are disposed to be unruly and inconsiderate. Aside from appropriations, we do not believe that any harm would be done if for ten years not a legislative seat were occupied in any state or in congress. Too broad a statement, of course, but with more truth than error in it. But whatever makes law making reflective, hard to accomplish, and considerate, is good. It will not do the country any harm if law making is slowed down by the minority.

The Other Side

THE ARMY-NAVY GAME.

[Baltimore Sun.]

Chicago thinks that the west should have a look-in on the annual West Point-Annapolis football game, and Representative Britten has taken the matter up with Secretary Wilbur. Of course, if the event should go west Chicago believes it should follow the lead of national conventions, which usually go to Chicago.

If expense of transporting the cadets should stand in the way, Chicago has the dough and will see to it that the government is not out a penny. It is actuated, too, by big, broad motives to arouse interest in the two arms of the service. "What they get," says THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, "comes through political expression. Congress reflects the opinion or interest of its constituency. Where a region has seen the cadets there will be interest."

But THE TRIBUNE itself is somewhat uneasy in suggesting to Secretary Wilbur at this time political reasons for this use of the Army-Navy game. The ill-fated, nonmilitary trip of the Shenandoah is too fresh in mind. To send thousands of cadets meandering over the country for such a purpose—if they go to Chicago they will later have to go south and to the Pacific coast—would seem to be a good way to bring about demand that the annual game be discontinued altogether.

ACCIDENT INSURANCE.

"How about a bullet-proof vest?" queried the man behind the counter.

BACTERIOPHAGE.

"IT MAY even prove desirable to drink filtered polluted water as a means of preventing disease." This was one of the statements made by Dr. Hadley in a recent paper based on a study of Huron river water.

A few years ago a Frenchman, d'Herrelle, discovered a new principle. It was that there existed a group of beings, perhaps bodies similar to bacteria, that had the destruction of bacteria as their particular function. He called them bacteriophages. We know that certain of the bacteria are friendly enemies. At times certain of them are much more friends than enemies. But prior to that discovery we did not know that there was a group of allies that devoted their lives to destroying those bacteria that devoted their lives to destroying us. The subject is a new one and we know little about it. But it is possible that a new world has been opened up just as Columbus opened up a new world when he discovered America and Lowenhook opened up a new world when he invented the microscope.

No one has seen a bacteriophage as yet, and it may be a principle rather than a being, but the evidence accumulated indicates that somewhere in the uncovered there is something which is working to protect man against his bacterial enemies.

Hadley examined the water of the Huron river in its upper stretches where it was pure and where there were no human habitations. It contained no phages. He then examined it taken from stretches along which many people lived. The water was polluted. That water would kill and dissolve typhoid bacilli. He got rid of all the ordinary bacteria and any and all ordinary disinfectants that might be in it. It would still kill typhoid bacilli. The something which killed these bacilli seemed alive and able to perpetuate itself.

Arnold had previously made the same experiment with the Chicago river water and he came to the same conclusions. Who knows but that Long stumbled onto the same fact nearly 30 years ago when he found that typhoid bacilli would live longer in clean lake water than they would in polluted river water?

The something which Hadley and Arnold were working with was a bacteriophage for typhoid fever. But this was not the only phage that Hadley found in river water taken from the Huron after it had become badly polluted. Hadley thinks he got in touch with twenty different phages. Not one star, but a firmament. Among these were phages for dysentery, paratyphoid, colon, and various members of that group of bacteria which cause pneumonia. Differences in the qualities of these phages Hadley suggested as one reason why one man will drink typhoid polluted water and get typhoid fever, and another will drink another typhoid polluted water and become a typhoid carrier without ever being a typhoid case.

Much remains to be discovered about phages, but the field seems to promise much in the way of eradicating bacterial diseases. We may yet train germs to fight germs while we sit on the sidelines and enjoy the spectacle. However, the time has not come to build a stadium nor to sell tickets for the game.

GIRL ASKS EFFECT OF SWIM.

ADVISES TRAINING OF BABY.

M. B. G. writes:

1. What procedure should I take with my baby? She is 13 months old and has the habit of crying about two hours every night before she falls to sleep. She works herself into such a condition that she vomits her supper and almost goes into a fit, so that I must take her from her bed. She sleeps 1½ to 2 hours during the day, and that before 2 p. m.

2. Is putting her to bed at 7 p. m. too early for a child of her age?

REPLY.

1. This is a matter of training. You have an untrained, high tempered baby. The remedy is training. There is no other.

2. No.

LOSES A COAT.

Chicago, Dec. 2.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Three months ago I gave a coat to a tailor to mend. He sent it with some other coats for cleaning. Mine did not come back and he insists on saying that another coat there is mine. He refuses to make good on the coat. Can I compel him to pay me for it? T. J. S.

If you can satisfy a jury that he is refusing to return your coat, you will be entitled to recover unless he can show that his failure to return is not due to his fault.

DISGUSTED WITH FLAT.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—I have lived in a building with my family for two months. About a month ago the sewer blocked and all the waste water came up in our sink, as we are on the first floor. I notified the landlord, but he did nothing until about three days ago, when he sent a plumber. In the meantime, I found another place to live and am moving soon. The landlord threatens to sue me for a month's rent for not giving him sufficient notice. Can he do that?
J. H.

If the defect was in a part of the premises under your control, the landlord was under no legal obligation to remedy it. Even if, on the contrary, it was a defect which he was obliged to remedy, reasonableness of your course in moving would depend upon all of the facts as to the seriousness of the condition and the facts bearing upon the landlord's delay. We incline to the opinion that you would remain liable for the rent that he claims. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

TENANT INSTALLS RADIO.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—I am buying a flat building, and one of the tenants has drilled two good-sized holes in the side of the buffet in the dining room. This is a built-in buffet. Through these holes he has run a lot of wires from the radio and has installed a wet battery on the top shelf and about a dozen small wet batteries on the lower shelf. Can I do anything about this? F. P.

You are legally entitled to collect from him such damages as he inflicts on the premises.

DECEMBER 5, 1865.

NEW YORK.—The commander of the French imperial steamer Antonio has complained to Gen. Weitzel that his ship, with troops on board, had been fired on by riflemen from the American shore at the mouth of the Rio Grande.

CHICAGO.—THE TRIBUNE publishes today the full text of Gen. Grant's official report, which outlines his military operations, from the time of assuming command of the United States armies to the close of the rebellion.

WASHINGTON.—Details have been received here regarding an attack on an Overland stage coach near Atchison, Kas., by a band of 1,500 Indians. Six people were killed. Five mail stations have been burned. Large quantities of live stock have been driven off by the Cheyennes and Apaches.

WASHINGTON.—The 39th congress met in the first session since the late war. Schuyler Colfax was elected speaker of the house. A bill was offered appointing a committee to decide whether any of the so-called confederate states are entitled to representation. President Johnson favored a policy of reconstruction in his address. Claims for indemnity against England, he announced, will be sustained.

WASHINGTON.—Superior medical and sanitary arrangements to those of former wars kept down the death rate during the war, according to an announcement from the war department. Union armies lost 325,000 by death and the southern armies 200,000.

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 5, 1900.

WASHINGTON.—The brewers' lobby expects to get a reduction of 25 cents in the tax on beer at this congress. It is claimed the lobby has secured control of the ways and means committee of the house and finance committee of the senate. Democrats charge it was done through campaign contributions.

CHICAGO.—Mayor Harrison announced that if some "friendly" newspaper, the American or the Chronicle, "will furnish me with a pair of long whiskers, white ones, and a wig to disguise me completely," he would make a trip with a plain clothes policeman through the downtown saloon dives to learn whether they are as bad as they are painted.

JACKSONVILLE, Ill. — Governor Elect Yates declared he will keep hands off in the organization of the legislature and the election of a United States senator.

WASHINGTON. — Representative Driggs of New York introduced a resolution in the house providing for an investigation of the case of Oscar Boos, the West Point cadet, whose death is claimed to have resulted from a hazing he received at the military academy.

NEW YORK. — John Armstrong Chanler, former husband of Amelia Rives, who has been confined in the Bloomingdale asylum at White Plains, has escaped and is believed to be wandering about the country.

WASHINGTON.—The President submitted to congress the preliminary report of the isthmian canal commission. It recommends the building of the canal over the Nicaragua route at a cost of $200,540,000. The report is exhaustive and after comparing the two routes from every standpoint discards the Panama.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 5, 1915.

CHICAGO.—Federal authorities are investigating the activities of the labor national peace conference, of which Congressman Frank Buchanan of Chicago formerly was president. The investigation, [illegible] Chicago men, is being carried on with a view to connecting the organization with the politico-industrial warfare headed by Capt. Boy-Ed and Capt. von Papen, naval and military attachés of the German legation at Washington.

ATHENS.—A wireless S O S call reached Athens from an unnamed American ship, the message stating it was being attacked by a German or an Austrian submarine south of the island of Crete. Later efforts to communicate with the vessel were fruitless.

NEW YORK.—Amid scenes so extravagantly remarkable as to be almost beyond belief, Henry Ford's peace ship, Oskar II., sailed for Europe bearing a strangely assorted company. A crowd of 12,000 jammed the pier and cheered, wept, laughed and cat-called as Mr. Ford or some of the other notables appeared at the ship's rail to make speeches. Ford's message was: "My last word is 'Boost, boost peace.' I don't know how this thing is coming out. I don't know what we will do when we get over in Europe, but anyway I am going to do the best I can." Those on board from Chicago were Miss Florence Holbrook, Jenkin Lloyd Jones and wife, Albert W. Kiefoth, Mrs. William Bross Lloyd and three children, Louis P. Lochner, Henry C. Morris, Mrs. William I. Thomas, Carl D. Thompson, Miss Carolyn Wilson, and Miss Marion Bolan.

WASHINGTON. — The wedding of President Wilson and Mrs. Norman Galt has been set for Dec. 18, it was announced at the White House. The ceremony will be performed at Mrs. Galt's home, 1308 Twentieth street, Northwest.

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

AROUND THE FIRE.

Loud talk relaxed to an occasional word;
And faces flushed with merriment were blurred.
He loved the kindly covering of the dark
That made a shadowy wraith of his desire.

But when a log flared brightly in the fire,
A presence near him could not be ignored.
The room was filled with little, stifled cries,
The mute entreaties of a woman's eyes,
That stabbed him through the firelight like a sword.

CHICAGO of 1950! Ten million inhabitants! Spires and towers touching the drifting palaces of the sunset clouds! 'Tis a pleasant picture the city builders plan. But what we want to know is, will there be somebody in 1950 who will say that Chicago should dig a subway? We may not be around these parts much in 1950, but we would love to think that some of the dreams of Chicago in 1925 are not forgotten.

I LOVE DECEMBER.

There's a sigh in the wind, and a droop to the clouds . . . there's fog . . . and mist . . . and grayness. . . . But I saw golden 'mums in a florist's window . . . and scarlet leaves . . . and dark green fern . . . a late blooming bed of vivid asters that made a blotch of gorgeous color. . . . I saw laughing youth, arrayed in flaming reds . . . and greens. . . and blues . . . in gay contrast to the dullness. . . . And yellow lights appeared with the twilight. . . .

The night brings a thousand things of beauty . . . a golden orange moon, broken by the silhouette of a single barren branch . . . deepening darkness . . . lighted windows . . . and home . . . with the world left out. . . . There's music and laughter . . . and, later, a big chair to curl up in . . . a book within easy reach . . . candy . . . and —best of all—an idle hour in which to dream . . . of a Pal. . . .

I love December . . . with its grayness and gayness . . . its early twilights . . . and dreams. . . .

GOATS' MILK FOR SAFETY.

De Kalb, Ill., Dec. 3.—I have been following Chicago's fight for clean, nontuberculous milk, and to say the least it seems the farmers are asking a great deal when they expect people to drink their impure milk. Enough has been written and published on the matter so that all should know the great danger of using milk from untested cows.

Why not encourage the use of goats' milk? A goat will give from two to eight quarts of delicious milk. Goat's milk is very rarely infected with tubercular germs, as the United States government records will show. Goat's milk is much more easily digested and therefore is much more suitable for babies than cow's milk. Goat's milk is much less liable to contain filth of any kind because they are naturally clean animals. We have used goat's milk in the past and have raised our children on it, and we always found it far better than cow's milk. O. G. PIKE.

UP TO THE COMPANIES.

Chicago, Dec. 3.—The city cannot legally limit the milk supply, but what is to prevent the milk companies from doing so? I do not have to buy spotted dress goods. Why can't a milk company say, "Test your cows, or I don't buy?"
CONSUMER.

SHE WANTS A SALARY.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—The article in this morning's TRIBUNE anent "Temporary Alimony" has another side, which many wives know of but do not mention. It seems a bit ironical that the only way in which a wife can legally obtain a regular sum to live on is to leave her husband!

There are, no doubt, other wives who, like myself, do not wish or believe in divorces, but the position in which I find myself after fifteen years of marriage is that of a beggar. We have three children nearing high school age, and in all the years of bearing and raising them I have never had a fixed sum with which to run my house and never one cent which I have not begged for. If any one of my friends should know the storm scene which takes place each and every time we need money, they (and, I believe, even a judge) would shout, "Divorce!" I feel the children need me at this critical age in their lives or I should work outside my home. It is a peculiar and particular form of torture for an American woman of good family to be at the mercy of the moods of a man!

We have been—the children and myself —ten days without one cent, and my husband is a prosperous and rather prominent business man here in Chicago.

THE DECEMBER SKY.

Reading, Mass., Nov. 30.—The "Square of Pegasus" is now sparkling westward from the zenith during early evening hours. This sky outline certainly resembles a square, being formed of four noticeable stars. The names of these four stars are Alpheratz, Markab, Scheat, and Algenib. One of the suns—Alpheratz, at its northeastern corner—belongs to the constellation Andromeda, and its three other stars are situated in the eastern part of Pegasus. Alpheratz of Andromeda possesses a white, purplish color and a brilliance of second magnitude. Markab of Pegasus is a white sky gem, not quite so bright as Alpheratz. Scheat sparkles deep yellow, being about as noticeable as Markab. And Algenib is, like Markab, a white sun, but it is a little les spicuous than Alpheratz, Markab Scheat. CHARLES NEVERS HOLM

PARKING AT WILSON AVEN

Chicago, Nov. 22.—Several letters h appeared in your column conden "hick" town tactics in arresting m ists for speeding. Let me tell yo the same tactics practiced in wh lots right here in Chicago for a m smaller offense.

It has been the practice for many y to park cars diagonally in front of is now the McJunkin building at Br way and Wilson avenue. White li on the street indicate that that is way to park.

On Saturday night, when the cu packed, an officer is assigned to wait and arrest motorists who pa cording to the past custom. No indicate any change in practice, and officer issued hundreds of arrest sl innocent motorists who pulled in side of cars already parked.
CITIZ

STREET TREES.

Chicago, Nov. 23.—I was very gl see the letter on "Street Trees." ing at so small expense of money labor will so benefit and beautify city as trees.

But I must take exception to writer's remarks on varieties. The he mentions favorably are, no doub right for Oak Park, much of the side, and perhaps all the north side, nearly all wrong for Englewood much of the south side. I have here some thirty years, and, bei lover of trees, I have observed closely, and have yet to see any elms, oaks, catalpas, walnuts, buck or ash trees. Maybe it is the thin soil. I do not know. I do know if I had charge of tree planting in glewood I would plant only Caro poplars, sycamores, ailanthus, wil cottonwoods, and such others as proved themselves over a long pe adapted to this particular locality.

I know some of the above are ob tionable, but they are a long way of none, and there are blocks and bl of streets with not a single tree.

I think where the soil is poor or bu ings crowd the street, good use be made of many varieties of d trees. GEORGE WOOL

SIMPSON URGES PATIENCE OVER FRANCO-U.S. DEBT

Back from Europe, He Talks Finance.

"One of the greatest benefits of foreign travel is to make us appreciate America more," he said upon his return to Chicago.

Mr. Simpson examined foreign economic conditions closely. His observations have convinced him that the United States should deal leniently with France in the matter of debt settlement, and that American representation on the world court would be wise.

"France," he said, "has not faced her postwar problems as quickly as other countries, but owing to the decline in the price of the franc, she cannot delay longer. She is prosperous industrially, has no unemployment and individuals are prosperous. Yet France faces governmental bankruptcy."

Says French Evade Taxes.

Much of the French financial trouble, he added, is due to the fact that although stringent tax laws have been passed they have not been enforced as they have been in Great Britain, or even in the United States.

The rehabilitation of France will be of benefit to all of Europe, Mr. Simpson continued, and the United States will be the ultimate gainer if liberal terms are granted.

"Great Britain is slowly but surely wending her way to normal," he said. "Unemployment, which reached the peak with 2,000,000 people out of work, is being lessened. There are only 1,000,000 unemployed now and the iniquitous dole system is being dealt with."

Italians Feeling Happy.

The Italians are enthusiastic about the easy settlement of their debt to this country, Mr. Simpson declared, and the good will would be worth much more in the future. And, he added, it is duobtful if any more money could have been obtained with any settlement.

Speaking of the world court, he stated:

"With modern transportation and almost instantaneous communication isolation is a thing of the past, and we should identify ourselves with movements that give the world greater security without in any way sacrificing our independence."

DIES FROM FALL IN STREET.

Frank Metz, 41, resident at the Ideal hotel, 509 West Madison street, died at the county hospital yesterday of a skull fracture received a week ago when he fell in the street at Armitage and North Oakley avenues.

COOLIDGE ASKED TO INSPECT CITY'S SANITARY DISTRICT

President Coolidge, during his brief visit here Monday, has been invited to inspect projects of the sanitary district and judge for himself the water needs for Chicago drainage and the proposed lakes-to-gulf waterway.

The invitation, telegraphed to Washington yesterday, requests the President to set aside two hours for the inspection early in the afternoon. He will speak at 11 a. m. to the American Farm Bureau federation at the Hotel Sherman.

If the trip is arranged, Mr. Coolidge will be accompanied by Lawrence F. King, president of the sanitary district, and Edward J. Kelley, chief engineer. It is hoped that he will be able to see both the $28,000,000 north side sewerage disposal plant and the main channel of the sanitary canal at Robey street.

He will also be presented with informal reports showing the necessity for an adequate withdrawal of water by Chicago from Lake Michigan.

Special significance is attached to the contemplated inspection in view of the fight expected when the lake level question comes before the next session of congress. It is also hopes that a personal study of the situation will strengthen the President's favorable attitude toward inland waterways.

SHORT HAUL CAR FINISHES ITS TEST ON PENNSYLVANIA

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 4.—[Special.]—The Smalley rail car, built by H. B. and J. R. Snyder, publishers of the Gary Post Tribune, finished a test run over the Pennsylvania lines from Gary to Pittsburgh tonight. It had averaged 51 miles an hour on the trip.

The car is intended to solve the problem of cheap transportation on short haul runs. It is equipped with twin 75 horse power engines and operates at a cost of 35 cents a mile.

Leonora Z. Meder Injured by Fall in Loop Street

Mrs. Leonora Z. Meder, prominent woman attorney since 1894 and former candidate for Municipal judge, is at the Chicago Nurses registry suffering from a fall incurred yesterday at Randolph and Clark streets. Mrs. Meder was crossing the street and stumbled over a depression, falling heavily to the pavement. She is believed to have been internally injured.

Son of Gov. Al Smith Keeps Wedding Secret for Year

New York, Dec. 4.—[Special.]—Arthur Smith, lacking a few months of nineteen years of age, second son of Gov. Al Smith, was secretly married to Miss Ann Hess, 19 years old, of Albany a year ago. Within the last few days the young wife became a mother. Then the governor and Mrs. Smith for the first time learned of the romance of their college son.

THE GOVERNORS FERGUSON SEE RIFT IN CLOUDS

Reaction Sets In Against Impeaching "Ma."

Austin, Tex., Dec. 4.—[Special.]—Things looked brighter today for the Governors Ferguson of Texas. Despite the piling up of charges against their administration they are acting more and more confident. Behind the scenes Texas politics is at work and the anti-Ferguson group is beginning to realize that the Fergusons will not quit public life without a bitter struggle.

"Farmer Jim," who was impeached and removed as governor by the legislature in 1917, is putting up the fight of his life to save "Ma" from the same fate. He is exerting all his political skill to line up senators and representatives on his side, and has a steady stream of legislators and county leaders going into his office.

Reaction Setting In.

The result is that a reaction in public sentiment seems to be setting in. Not in favor of the Fergusons, because, outsde of the Ferguson camp, no one is accusing Jim of being a paragon of civic virtue, and no one is charging "Ma" with being the real governor of the state. The reaction is against pushing the attempt to impeach Mrs. Ferguson.

The reason for this is that Jim is believed to be so strong politically that, even if the house of representatives should vote articles of impeachment against the governor, he might control enough senators to prevent the senate, high court of impeachment, from sustaining the charges and removing her from office. It is argued that it would cost the state too much to hold a special session for impeachment purposes and that the outcome would be too much in doubt.

Whether this reaction will continue is something that cannot be forecast. It might be checked if the anti-Ferguson leaders uncovered some new sensational revelation against the Ferguson administration.

Demand Jim Keep Hands Off.

Simultaneous with this tide against impeachment the demand that Ferguson keep his hands off state affairs and let his wife function as governor appears to be increasing. Those who argue that Jim should be ejected from the capitol but that Mrs. Ferguson should remain, however, have not put forward any program to reconcile these two aims.

Mrs. Ferguson is reported as being in high spirits and "not tired of politics" in an interview published by the Houston Chronicle, a stanch supporter of the Ferguson administration.

"I am sorry I cannot rig up some sort of a nervous breakdown, or a few tears, or something like that for these boys" [meaning newspaper reporters], she is quoted. "I never felt better in my life. I can't see that I have any more gray hairs than I had two months ago."

Co-eds Lose $500 Jewelry in Thefts at Patten Gym

Co-eds at Northwestern university have lost fraternity pins, jewelry, and wearing apparel valued at $500 in a series of burglaries in Patten gymnasium. Harold Garwood, superintendent of buildings and grounds, reported that the thefts occurred while the girls were in gym classes and asked the Evanston police to find the persons responsible. Miss Lillian Corydon, whose $200 fur coat was taken, was the heaviest loser.

IRELAND'S LABOR PARTY TO FIGHT BORDER TREATY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Dec. 4.—The labor party under the signature of Tom Johnson today issued a statement saying the ratification of the London agreement will not go through the Dail without a fight. The statement says the agreement provides for a reversal of the governing principle of the treaty of 1921.

It is proposed to cancel article 12, the statement continues, thus abolishing the council of Ireland, thus forever destroying the links between northern Ireland and the Free State, and leaving no impediment to action by the northern parliament, which will make the partition of Ireland complete and final.

The heads of the Irish Protestant churches on the strength of the Irish boundary settlement have issued an appeal to make next Sunday the occasion of thanksgiving. The press of Dublin is warm in its support of the treaty. President Cosgrave, on his arrival from London, declared the pact would make for real peace in Ireland.

Commons to Get Treaty Bill.

LONDON, Dec. 4.—Prime Minister Baldwin announced in the house of commons today that a bill to give effect to the Irish boundary settlement will be presented on Tuesday.

This 6-Cylinder Sedan
FOR RENT
$5 per day
on a monthly basis—including everyth

You can't afford to run a car of your own when you can rent a luxurious big 6-cylinder Sedan from us on a monthly basis for only $5.00 per day. This includes everything—gas, oil, insurance, full garage service and delivering the car to and from your home every day.

Or, on a monthly basis, a big 6-cylinder touring car with winter enclosure, costs only $4.35 per day, or a Ford Sedan or Coupe only $3.90 per day.

We will allow 650 miles per month at these rates. If you drive more than that you pay only the regular mileage rate for extra miles. This mileage rate is 20c for a 6-cylinder sedan; 17c for a 6-cylinder touring car; and 15c for a Ford sedan or coupe.

Rate includes delivering the car to and from your home, every day

You can keep the car in any public garage near your home and we will pay the storage bill. We will wash and polish the car as often as you wish. And our 7 Stations are your "service" stations. When you want gas, or oil, or service, just stop at any of them and you will be taken care of, without any charge.

Everything is included in these monthly rates which will apply for any 30 day period between December 1st and February 28th.

You can't imagine a more convenient nor satisfactory "service." You have what is practically your own car and it costs less than to run a car of your own.

"Spic and Span" cars
They are NOT painted yellow

The car you get will be in perfect running order and as good looking as any car you see. It will resemble a privately owned automobile in every respect. You'll be proud to drive one of them. All our cars are fully equipped—including winter fronts.

How to rent one

Fill out the coupon below and mail to our executive office and we will supply you with complete information regarding this "Monthly Service". Or just drop into any of our 7 stations and let the manager explain it to you.

This is an added "service"

You can still rent a car from us for an hour, a day, a week or longer—to drive one mile or many. But this "Monthly Service" has been added to make Yellow Drive-it-Yourself Service even more complete, convenient and economical.

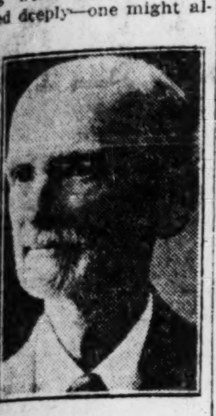
Bradford Weaves Biography About Wives of Great

By Fanny Butcher.

"Wives," by Gamaliel Bradford. (Harpers.)



GAMALIEL BRADFORD.

The reading world has lately become interested deeply—one might almost say inquisitively—in the private lives of the departed great. It is a good thing for literature, it seems to me, that more real lives are written and read with eagerness each year. After all, biography is the real fiction—if one may make such an apparently contradictory statement. The old phrase about truth being stranger than fiction is nowhere more obvious than in the comparison of life with what is set down as life in books. The great who have lived have had much more spectacular, fabulous life histories than any author would dare set down in anything less than a thriller.

Who could conceive a Barnum, for instance? Or a Cellini? Or an Abraham Lincoln? Or any of the flashing moments of human history? The truth about them is so much more thrilling than fiction about ordinary humans.

For many years Gamaliel Bradford has been writing short lives of the departed great. Long before Lytton Strachey wrote his "Eminent Victorians," this New Englander was doing the same sort of thing, though never so brilliantly, one must confess, as Strachey did his heroes and heroines. Mr. Bradford has always done his character sketches with a sort of casualness, a pleasant ease and lack of heaviness. He has never angered his readers or, on the other hand, thrilled them. But he has done a great deal for American biography, for he has made interesting to a great number of readers the sketches of lives which those readers might, and probably do, read about with more thoroughness. That is always the effect that Mr. Bradford's sketches have on me, I know. I always want to get better acquainted with the people he writes about.

Mr. Bradford has usually been concerned with important historical characters. In his latest book he is concerned with "Wives." That some of the wives were personalities in themselves does not mean that the entire book has to do with women who would have found their place in history if they had never been the wives of the great men whom they married. Some of his heroines are just wives and nothing more.

First of all he writes about Mrs. Abraham Lincoln, whom he looks upon as neither the base and unsympathetic wife of some of the Lincoln biographers, nor the brilliant and thoughtful helpmate of others. He thinks that she was a country belle and always acted like one.

He is next concerned with Mrs. Benedict Arnold, whom he rather champions than disparages. Theodosia Burr has long been a favorite with him—you remember the large part which she played in his sketch of her father. The relation between Theodosia Burr and her father was one of the most intimate of all father and daughter relations. Mr. Bradford says that of the two characters she was the stronger and the greater. Incidentally, in the Wandell and Minnerode life of "Aaron Burr" the most charming side of Burr's character is always shown to his daughter. And yet, Mr. Bradford says, Aaron Burr kept a diary which was destined for her and which recorded the most intimate and unsavory of his love affairs—another example of the inexplicable character of the man.

Mrs. James Madison comes off a pretty poor bit of vanity at Mr. Bradford's hands, although he is such a restrained and gentlemanly writer that he could never be really ungallant to a lady, even a dead one. Dolly Madison may have been a great belle, but, according to Mr. Bradford, it wasn't brains that made her popular. Mrs. Jefferson Davis, Mrs. Benjamin F. Butler, and Mrs. James G. Blaine complete the chaplet of wives which he weaves. To me, this is not Mr. Bradford's most thrilling book, though it is an interesting one.

O'Brien Collection Makes No Apology for Short Story

"Collected Stories and Tales," by Fitz-James O'Brien (A. and C. Boni).

Edward J. O'Brien says in his introduction to the "Collected Stories and Tales" of Fitz-James O'Brien that a young literary man going to New York in the '50s would have considered himself elevated to the peak of happiness if he had met Fitz-James O'Brien, for that was the most thrilling literary name of its day. The short stories of that light have lain for years neglected, and Mr. O'Brien (the modern one) says that their publication now needs no apology except our own in neglecting them for so long.

The first of them, "The Diamond Lens," the one which took America and England by storm, according to the editor, is the story of a wild adventure with a misroscope. The teller of the tale, who, after killing a fellow roomer to obtain a huge diamond, invented a powerful microscope, and in it he saw a sylph, who, because he forgot to renew the drop of water, died in agony before his eyes, and he went mad.

Perhaps Fitz-James O'Brien was the first teller of that story. It certainly has been told a thousand times since then, and probably nine hundred and ninety times it has been told better.

It is not a thrilling tale, nor brilliantly told, and the author's modern enthusiast, who says that he would have been, had he lived, as great as Poe, is, it seems to me, a trifle prejudiced. The volume is an interesting one, however, making accessible as it does the work of a man whose name was known to every one of his time.

"We Must March," Is Chronicle of Oregon Heroine

HONORE WILLSIE MORROW.

Only a little more than eighty years ago the first caravan of Americans trekked to Oregon. Only a little more than eighty years ago there was grave danger of war between England and the young United States over that territory. Only a little more than eighty years ago Narcissa Whitman, one of the most romantic of the sturdy pioneer women, lived her lonely life in that wild country.

It is the story of that strangely beautiful and gifted woman, born to be a great singer and destined to give her life, practically, to Oregon that Honoré Willsie Morrow celebrates in "We Must March." It is by far the most ambitious book that Mrs. Morrow has ever attempted, and it has something of the slow impressiveness and power of those arduous days in it. What Narcissa Whitman, with her lovely voice and her almost uncanny courage, went through in the founding of Oregon is something to make secure city dwellers gasp. Not only were there the obvious dangers of hunger and cold, but the hatred of the Indians—according to Mrs. Morrow—was directed passionately against her, as was the hatred of the Hudson Bay company and the Catholic priests.

That she was the brains of the group is evident in this story of her life, but that she was also, at times, their moral courage, is also evident. "We Must March" is the chronicle of one of America's most truly fine heroines. And Mrs. Morrow has made of her story a moving and impressive one. It seems to me to be also a too long one, and to lose thereby something of its vividness; but perhaps what it loses in sharpness and poignancy by that method it gains in unremitting solidity. At any rate, it is a serious and sympathetic record of a great woman's life, told in the form of a story.

A MEMORIAL

This picture is from "Full and By," a memorial to the passing of John Barleycorn. It is a collection of drinking songs and verse, illustrated by Edward A. Wilson with the most entrancing wood cuts and sketches, some in color. It is one of the most amusing looking books of the year, and will delight those who like it. There are two prefaces, one by Don Marquis and the other by Christopher Morley. Don Marquis says that he is (practically) a teetotaler now and he hopes that the horrid examples which the youth of the land may find in this volume will make them stop, look, and listen. The collection is a comprehensive (if not a complete) one, and it contains, besides the verses themselves, music to some of the prime favorites.

"Salt Water Stories," from St. Nicholas (Century).

An entertaining collection of sea stories for older boys. True data about ships and navigation is given which will spur boys to explore new fields of knowledge.

Picture New York of 50 Years Ago in Fascinating Book

"The Last Fifty Years in New York," by Henry Collins Brown (Valentine's Manual, Inc.).

Valentine's Manual of New York is richer by the addition of the tenth volume, which is called "The Last Fifty Years in New York." There have been many popular novels written lately about early New York, but none of them has quite the veracity of a matter of fact statement of what did and did not exist. This picture of New York fifty years ago makes one realize vividly what a new and shiny city even that most cosmopolitan of our metropolises is.

I think this book is a really fascinating one. And, incidentally, it contains backgrounds for no end of novels and stories. The very reading of the state of affairs makes you make up stories about the people who must have walked the beautifully shaded streets. This book is bristling with photographs of the great departed as well as with old prints and cartoons of the days when the famous Currier and Ives prints were published.

"Cruise of the Cuttlefish," by Francis Lynde (Scribner).

When the Cuttlefish was sold in a New England harbor, three boys undertook to deliver it to the owner, who lived in Florida. The rest of the book is concerned with the adventures which befell them on this cruise.

New Musical Books

Three volumes have been issued in the Masters of Music Series, which is under the general editorship of Sir Landon Ronald, "Richard Wagner as He Lived," by William Wallace; "Robert Schumann," by Herbert Bedford; and "Ferencz (François) Liszt," by Frederick Corder. They are all biographies which would interest the reader who likes the life stories of real personalities, as well as musicians.

"Hunters of Ocean Depths," by Francis W. Rolt-Wheeler (Lothrop).

Revelations of the little known world in the ocean's depths, told in interesting and instructive story episodes. The author centers the action around a young student who goes with a party of scientists, studying oceanography.

Translated by DOROTHY CANFIELD FISHER

Originally published in March, 1923, Papini's "Life of Christ" met with immediate recognition as one of the most moving and vivid accounts of the Saviour's Life that have ever been written. Today, more than two and a half years later, its steady distribution proves that its passionate pages still hold a message for our modern world. From the old, old story Papini has cut away the layers of embellishment with which the picture of Christ's life and times have hitherto been obscured, and he writes with a simplicity that makes the story clear to every mind.

Aunt Biny
When she came to Maple City the giant cottonwoods and maples were just little sapplings that she and Jud had brought from the East. She was planted there where they were. If you'd pull her up, the life would just naturally run out of her. She wanted to stay where she could look off to the rim of the prairie and see the sun go down . . .

Drama Year Book Lists Every Play Produced in 1923

"The Drama Year Book," edited by Joseph Lawren (Lawren).

Joseph Lawren has published in "The Drama Year Book" as complete a compilation of statistics about the theater of 1923 as seems possible. He had listed every play produced, its cast of characters, the length of its life, every actor and actress, with the parts which they took, the dramatic books published during that year, the plays published, the articles about the stage in periodicals, dramatic critics, producers, scenic artists, artists who specialize in drama posters, producers directors, plays' agents (with the kind of plays they need), playwrights, and little theater organizations.

The volume has a copyright date of 1924 on it and in the preface the publisher speaks of later issues to be made, but the book arrived only a few weeks ago, so it appears to be the latest volume.

"Personalities in Art," by Royal Cortissoz (Scribners).

A collection of Royal Cortissoz's articles on art and artists is a volume which he calls "Personalities in Art." It deals with the personalities of many artists, but it also deals with art in general, like American Industrial Art and the American Business Building, and the American Wing at the Metropolitan. Incidentally, the business buildings which Mr. Cortissoz finds praiseworthy are almost without exception in New York. The artists which he talks about are not only the obvious ones, like Raphael, and Raeburn, and Leonardo da Vinci, but ones like Gavarni (whose things are always a delight to me) and Degas (who gives me much the same thrill). It is not a brilliant volume, but it is an appreciative one.

Children's Books

Children's books are reviewed by Adah F. Whitcomb, supervisor of the children's department of the Chicago public library.

Drawing from "The Disappointed Squirrel," by W. H. Hudson.

For Tiny Tots.

"Little Lost Pigs," by Helen Fuller Orton. (Frederick A. Stokes.)

This is a simple little story for very small children.

Two little pigs were crowded out of their trough, so they ran away to see the world. Like many other such adventurers, they were glad enough to get home again, which might never have occurred if Sport, the farm dog, hadn't happened to find them.

It hardly seems necessary to introduce such a mean man as Mr. Sneekum into a story for such young readers. He was not only mean but dishonest, and was frustrated only by chance in his plans to steal the little pigs.

The general appearance of the book is that of a picture book, but there are not many illustrations and they are too full of detail to attract very young children.

"The Disappointed Squirrel and Other Stories," by W. H. Hudson. (Doran.)

These stories have been reprinted from Hudson's "Book of a Naturalist." Consequently they are sketchy and lacking in plot, but give wonderfully interesting insight into the curious habits of wild animals and birds.

It is surprising that a man of such great scientific knowledge should have the gift to present his observations in such straightforward, simple language as to make them interesting to even young children who have any tendency toward scientific investigation.

From 12 to 15.

"Old Hickory's Prisoner—A Tale of the Second War for Independence," by Bernard Marshall (Appleton & Co.).

As a 17 year old messenger in Gen. Jackson's army Hubert Delaroche had many thrilling experiences. He became embittered by an unjust accusation, but Old Hickory was able to unravel the tangle. The story is full of spies, military skirmishes, intrigues, and such adventures as never fail to hold the interest. Neither is the touch of romance entirely lacking.

The incidents are not overdrawn, however, and the character of Gen. Jackson is clearly depicted.

History becomes a real and living thing under this author's pen. One can trace the ancestry of Hubert Delaroche in the earlier stories, which give equally vivid pictures of Cromwell's time in "The Torchbearers" and King John and the barons, in "Cedric the Forester."

Here's a Volume Devoted to History of Russian Theater

"The New Theater and Cinema in Soviet Russia," by Huntly Carter (International).

Huntly Carter has written in "The New Theater and Cinema in Russia" a complete history of the Russian theater during the last ten years. He is concerned with every new and unusual device as well as the developments of the older ideas and groups. The Moscow Art theater, which we know so thrillingly in America—I have never seen a play which left upon me the impression that "The Lower Depths" left each one of the three times I saw it—he devotes a long chapter to. It is the reactionary group in the Russian theater.

Lunacharsky, the Soviet commissioner of education, is at the head of the center group—as Mr. Carter calls them and the left is under the leadership of a revolutionary, Meierhold, who is an experimenter. The children's theaters, the state circus, the studio theaters, the use of masks, stages on different levels, very simplified scenery, Mr. Carter talks about at great length. For the student of the theater this is a most interesting book.

"Boy at Gettysburg," by Elsie Singmaster (Houghton).

DORAN BOOKS

Certain Books of Importance

The Pilgrim of Eternity:
Byron—a Conflict By JOHN DRINKWATER

A dramatic, human and understanding portrait of the glamorous and violent Byron, the great lover, the great poet, the great enigma. With remarkable clarity and vision Drinkwater draws the veil of misunderstanding away from this astounding figure in a book that is as readable as a novel yet has a basis of sturdy scholarship and mature consideration. (Illustrated, $5.00)

Disraeli: Alien Patriot By E. T. RAYMOND

An invaluable counterpart to Strachey's Queen Victoria, this incisive study shows Disraeli as the alien, the lover, the husband, the shrewd and dramatic politician. His relations to his queen, his rivalry with Bismarck, his overweening ambition in literature and affairs of state make fascinating material for a sometimes bitter, always knowing pen. ($4.00)

Memoirs of Sir Almeric Fitzroy

Only once before in the history of England has a member of the official circle of court life gossiped: Greville was the bearer of anecdotes of the Victorian Era. Now the twenty-five years' clerk to England's Privy Council publishes his diaries. With all the secrets of the realm at his command and the great women of King Edward and King George's reigns his friends, he night by night jotted down these amazing diaries. (Two Volumes, Illustrated, $12.50)

The Days I Knew By LILLIE LANGTRY (Lady de Bathe)

The greatest beauty of our own time tells of her triumphant progress from the little town in Jersey to courts and palaces. She had not only beauty, but she had wit, and in old age remembers her own life with humor, and her friends from Edward Prince of Wales to the humblest stage door-man, with captivating graciousness. (Illustrated, $5.00)

Parson Primrose:
Friend of Charles Lamb and the Translator of Dante By R. W. KING

A friend of Charles Lamb and of Coleridge, Henry Francis Cary was the greatest Italian scholar of his age. The story of his life and of the circle in which he moved, written with ease and a scholarly hand, forms an invaluable picture of a time rich in literary values.

William Robertson Nicoll By T. H. DARLOW

One of the greatest critics, editors and humanists of modern times, Sir W. Robertson Nicoll founded The British Weekly, and The Bookman. He was journalist, theologian, publisher, mystic, politician, warm friend. His biography strikes to the very center of the literary, religious and political history of Great Britain during the last half century. ($3.50)

Mother By E. F. BENSON

This is the tribute of a son of genius to his great mother passed on to those who would benefit from the inner history of a remarkable and beautiful life. Wife of the archbishop of Canterbury, mother of three famous sons, she kept over a period of many years intimate diaries and notes. From these Mr. Benson has supplemented his "Our Family Affairs," in a biography which is humorful, and yet superbly tender. (Illustrated, $3.50)

Anton Tchekhov

Life and Letters of Anton Tchekhov. Translated and edited by S. S. Koteliansky and Philip Tomlinson

Serious, tragi-comic, wistful, these remarkable letters, selected from six volumes, form a vital picture of this great humanitarian. ($6.00)

Letters of Anton Tchekhov to Olga Knipper. Complete and authorized translation from the Russian by Constance Garnett

From the days of his courtship, through his marriage to the brilliant actress, until the year of his death. ($6.00)

The Doctor Looks at Biography By JOSEPH COLLINS, M. D.

In his contemplation of the arts of autobiography and biography, and of the subjects of many current volumes, this literary member of the medical profession has been able to appraise searchingly the sanities and insanities of the past and present. Authors, prizefighters, doctors, famous women are boldly analysed by his psychosurgery. (Illustrated, $3.00)

Literary Lanes and Other Byways By ROBERT CORTES HOLLIDAY

There is wise counsel in this book of wanderings and of humor. Swinging his walking stick, Mr. Holliday surveys books and human beings, pausing to gossip with ancient waiters at a lost Delmonico's or to spin a wealth of anecdotes garnered from the sparkling meetings of celebrated wits. ($2.00)

Along the Road By ALDOUS HUXLEY

Huxley is no ordinary traveler. For him a town, a scene, a group of people, is the starting point for vivid digressions, essays of rare zest. His shafts of irony are for the moment forgotten, and we find him entranced by the color and the drama of the world. ($2.00)

The Book of Gallant Vagabonds By HENRY BESTON

The universal wanderlust is here glorified by a man who knows well the true spirit of vagabondage. Cleverly combining picturesque backgrounds with character portraits, Mr. Beston limns a series of world-famous men who found home unprofitable and set out to dare the unknown. (Illustrated, $3.00)

DORAN BOOKS

Three Rousing Cheers for the Rollo Boys By COREY FORD

A new discovery among humorists! In this burlesque of our boyhood heroes, with its amazing twists of parody and nonsense, with it pungent commentaries on life and letters, Mr. Ford has written a book to read to yourself, to read aloud, but first and foremost a book at which to laugh. (Illustrated by Gluyas Williams, $2.00)

Many Laughs for Many Days By IRVIN S. COBB

As in A Laugh a Day, Mr. Cobb has chosen from limitless memory a crackling assembly of ridiculous situations and quick repartee. He tells a story better than any man in America, and he writes them with the same dramatic sense of the ridiculous, the gay, the truly humorous. ($2.00)

Poor Cecco By MARGERY WILLIAMS BIANCO

Illustrated by Arthur Rackham

The author of The Velveteen Rabbit has excelled herself in this tale for children of a wonderful wooden dog. Mr. Rackham has endowed her dolls and children, her animals and sprites, with remarkable humanity. It is a masterpiece of writing and illustrating for children. ($3.00)

Playtime and Company By E. V. LUCAS

Illustrated by E. H. Shepard

Singing melodies in words, these verses of playground and nursery, of streets and distant lands, form a delightful accompaniment to the joys of childhood. Mr. Lucas knows the hearts of parents and of pets, and the ways of young folks, and Mr. Shepard translated them admirably into whimsical and wistful pictures. ($2.00)

Benson's "Mother" Is More Distasteful than Barrie's Book

By Sidney Dark.
[English Critic.]

E. F. BENSON.

The literary artist may exploit his his cousins and his aunts, and perhaps his wife and daughter, but it always seems to me that his mother should be sacrosanct, even to a professional writer. J. M. Barrie's "Margaret Ogilvy" was something of a mistake in taste, and the same thing can be said more emphatically E. F. Benson's recently published "Mother," and particularly as it is another proof of the queer illusion the Bensons—E. F. is, by the way, last of the brothers—that the details of their family history of immense popular interest. Mrs. Benson, the wife of the archbishop, was not in love with her husband when she married him at the of eighteen. It would hardly seem that she could have become passionately attached to him afterward, the archbishop regarded himself, to her son, as "an instrument of God's hand to fashion her." was obviously a woman of charm and devotion, as indeed are most mothers.

In this rather queer book E. F. Benson has interpolated an account of he came to write "Dodo," his first with a more or less interesting record of the strange doings of society of other days. It is not a that seems to me to have value or interest. His brother, the late A. C. Benson, is to have a biography written by nine of his contemporaries (the Bensons never do or things by halves), the most famous of whom is Dr. Edward Lyttelton, headmaster of Eton.

Lewis Hind, an English journalist known in America, has compiled an anthology of "100 Second Best Poems." He includes Kipling's "If" among the second best, though personally I should put that tiresome effusion among the "also rans." Mr. Hind says that Longfellow is "the supreme second best poet," and I think that is true, though Arthur Clough perhaps almost as much claim as New England writer.

There is a great deal of literary interest in the volume of Hannah More's letters recently published in London. She was an eighteenth century English woman who is remembered for her charitable work among the poor, who knew Johnson and Garrick and once looked after Macaulay when he was a small boy. Boswell told her that he was writing the famous "Life," and she records that she besought "his tenderness for our virtuous and most revered departed friend and begged he would mitigate some of his asperities." She adds: "It will, I doubt not, be a very amusing book, but I hope not an indiscreet one."

Some years ago Messrs. Williams and Norgate published a series of extremely useful little books which they called "The Home University Library." The two most successful volumes were "Handbook of French Literature," by Lytton Strachey, the first book that he ever wrote, and "A Study of Shakespeare," by John Masefield.

The publishers have now reissued both volumes in a much more expensive form, and since they are both excellent they will doubtless have another profitable lease of life. I commend them to American readers who are unfamiliar with them.

CONFESSIONS

Lew Sarett is one of Chicago's own now, a poet of whom we may all be proud, a chronicler of the joys of the out of doors and the beauties of fine, clean, wild things. He is also by way of being a best seller, for the first time in ever so long a volume of poetry has been on the list of best sellers, and that volume is his "Slow Smoke." When I asked him what book he would rather have written than any other he replied:

LEW SARETT.

Dear Miss Butcher: Your letter recalls a recent gathering of writers. The chairman, no doubt aware of your feature in THE TRIBUNE, asked us to name a modern book we should have liked to write. I was glad that he limited us to modern books; it would be hard to single out one of a half dozen classics—among them Thoreau's "Walden," Izaak Walton's "Compleat Angler," and Whitman's "Leaves of Grass." One man selected "The Three Musketeers," another "Treasure Island," a third "Tess of the D'Urbervilles." The dozen men chose works of indubitable merit. Should I name the book in my mind? If I did—well! But truth is truth. I braced myself: "'Accepting the Universe,' by John Burroughs." The room was soundless, the air dark and heavy.

The book is fallacious? Yes, in spots. Repetitious? Yes. Disturbing? Yes, but not to one who knows the stoic impersonality of nature, her law of tooth and claw. Yet one puts down the volume feeling: "This man has been there, up in the hills. There were nights when he sat up fishing in the rivers of the sky. Some of the stars failed to rise to his feathery bait; others slipped off his hook. Even so, what a beautiful catch of starry fish!"

Fat haul, or none at all, my hat goes off to a man who was bold enough to try at any rate to hook the universe.

Sincerely yours,
Lew Sarett

Bailey's Stories Are Combined in Christmas Edition

"The Holly Hedge," by Temple Bailey (Penn).

A Christmas edition of five of Temple Bailey's short stories has been made in "The Holly Hedge." The stories are all seasonal. We all know how difficult it is to find good Christmas stories. There isn't a year that I am not asked to recommend one. The obvious ones are always the Dickens' "Christmas Stories" and "The Other Wise Man" and "Old Christmas," by Washington, but I always suggest a story which is one of the most touching short stories I ever read, "A Christmas Present for a Lady," by Myra Kelly, unfortunately out of print, but which may be found in any public library and is certainly worth the effort of copying out.

The Chicken-Wagon Family

Barry Benefield

What We Say

HERE is a novel of everyday New York—its kindliness, its gaiety, its infinite adventurousness. Reviewers and readers are comparing the author to O. Henry, De Morgan, Locke, Dickens and Sir James Barrie, saying his plot is a refreshingly new delight and his style something exquisitely fine, simple and touching. New readers must be prepared to fall desperately in love with adorable Addie Fippany, a level-eyed French girl from the Louisiana pine country, to be lenient with her swashbuckling little father out on forbidden larks, to smile and chuckle, and perhaps to yield to that generous pity which is the mother of tears. And they will be friends for life of Jim Pickett, "the gentlest newspaper man that ever was."

It has been a long time since the publishers of "The Chicken-Wagon Family" have had a novel which has brought such a steady stream of enthusiastic letters from people of all parts of the country who say they must speak.

The appeal of this story by a new author with an original style is as broad and deep as the world's affection for love and friendship and beauty and adventure. It is as old-fashioned as De Morgan and Du Maurier—do you remember "Trilby" and "Alice-for-Short"?—and as new-fashioned as Fifth Avenue.

New York, his beloved New York, is the scene of Mr. Benefield's story of tender whimsy with a catch in its voice. It has won the esteem of the great majority of critics, it is capturing the heart of the country.

Evidence

Harry Hansen in The Chicago Daily News: "It captures the note of romance among skyscrapers. . . . Benefield can invoke O. Henry's glorious oriental splendor of plot and coloring, at the same time seeing life true."

John S. Martin in Time: "Quite as irresistible as Barrie, Morley or Donn Byrne."

The Bookman: "One must go back to Dickens to find anything that so combines pathos and humor. . . . If you don't read another novel this winter, read 'The Chicken-Wagon Family'!"

The New York Times: "Handled with a suave and humorous irony, which marks the novel as belonging to the modern school."

The Philadelphia Inquirer: "It is likely to live long. It appeals to human qualities that have nothing to do with fashion, and do not grow old."

Knickerbocker Press: "Stands out among the season's books as something apart. . . . Different in style, form and plot. Chockful of the most delightful personages ever."

Washington Star: "Originality dressed in the very garments of fitting romance."

New Orleans Times-Picayune: "It has the voice of nature, which is one of the best things that can be said about a work of imagination."

The Cincinnati Post: "You would swear it was Barrie you were reading, that nobody else could strike this note of sincerity, of whimsicality, of delectable fun."

St. Louis Post Dispatch: "A writer with a mind as clean as a hound's tooth."

N. Y. Evening World: "The most delightful novel that has greeted me this fall."

Books for Christmas

Seventy Summers
By Poultney Bigelow
In these volumes will be found interesting reference to nearly all the leading personages of the time in both hemispheres; to the Bunsens, Moltke, the Bismarcks, the Emperor Frederick, William II of Germany; to the Czar Nicholas in Russia; to Kruger, Leyds and Steyn in South Africa; to Jay Gould, the Astors, the Vanderbilts, Theodore Roosevelt, Seward, Van Horne and many others.
"So what can you ask for better than 'Seventy Summers' when you start your Christmas list early."—Boston Transcript. Two volumes. $10.00 and three novels

THE HIDDEN YEARS By John Oxenham
The story of the boyhood, youth and early manhood of Jesus, told by the boy Jesus' next door neighbor and best chum, but who later became His partner in the carpenter's shop, His companion in the village games and in the rambles over the hills—the quiet observer of all that passed in the simple home at Nazareth.
"Only a poet could have written a book like this, and Mr. Oxenham has done it in a way that any reader will remember happily."—Boston Herald.
"There is a distinct restraint in the author's treatment of the subject and a quiet sureness of touch which stamps it as an earnest, reverent, deliberate piece of writing."—Chicago Evening Post. $1.75

QUEEN'S FOLLY By Stanley J. Weyman
Tells the story of Rachel South, the young governess to the trying young Lady Ann, at Queen's Folly. It is a romance of stagecoach days in England, of the time when Lord Nelson was a popular hero. By turn it is dramatic, humorous and charming. It is Weyman at his best.
"Those who mourn the scarcity of romantic costume novels among present day fiction should welcome this colorful and stirring story of England."—New York Sun. $2.00

BROADCAST By John D. Mackworth
Author of "The Axe Is Laid"
Tells the exciting story of how a scheme arranged by the Bolsheviks for torturing an old Russian Professor is frustrated by a young Englishman assisted by a friendly German with an airplane. $2.00

Wodehouse Writes Another Quip—and It's Up to Standard

"Sam in the Suburbs," by P. G. Wodehouse. (Doran.)

It has been my contention for many years that for the kind of thing he does there is no one so good as P. G. Wodehouse. He can write that utterly impossible and incredible tale, leaping all over the map with plot, luscious with conversation that would make a column conductor laugh, give you a perfectly gorgeous time and not leave you with the feeling that you've been reading the world's most sugar coated tosh. He writes what he pretends to write and he does it superlatively well.

P. G. WODEHOUSE.

His latest, "Sam in the Suburbs," is fit company for his previous quips. It concerns a very casual young gentleman—American, educated in England, who is wished onto the publisher of a group of magazines because his uncle—Sam's—wants to get rid of him and because the pompous English publisher wants something of Sam's rich uncle.

The fact that Sam has been in love with a picture clipped out of a London illustrated weekly and that he finds the original of the picture almost the day he arrives in England and takes a house next door to hers is merely the beginning of a typically Wodehousian plot. Wodehouse doesn't pretend to write literature. He just provides a very amusing evening for you. And that, I claim, is, in a day when there are so many people writing dull and serious books which are meant to uplift or shock you, something of an accomplishment. He does the task of clowning superlatively well. Incidentally, it is fortunate for Liberty, it seems to me, that it has signed a contract with him for twenty-four short stories and two novels. He is to be exclusively a Liberty author.

"One Act Plays for Young Folks," edited by Moritz A. Jagendorf (Brentano).

This is an excellent collection of plays, presenting the prime virtue of being actable. Practical directions are given for costuming, scenery and stage setting. There is even an account of how to construct a child's theater at home. For children from 6 to 16.

New Editions of Famous Books

New editions of two famous—and justly so—books have been brought out by Appleton's lately. A special edition of Stephen Crane's great war novel, "The Red Badge of Courage," has been made, with a biographical introduction. The publication of it has recalled many stories to the minds of men who knew him, one of them the painter Corwin Knapp Linson, who said that Stephen Crane used to go day after day to his studio and pore over copies of the Century magazine which contained a series of articles on the civil war. Crane gave no hint of what was on his mind until one day he came back from Asbury Park, where he was living, and said that he'd done it. "Done what?" the painter asked? "I've written a story telling how these men felt in the war," and that was exactly what he had done, and his story will remain forever a classic of war.

A new edition of George Moore's "Hail and Farewell" comes from the same company. George Moore has, as he has done with many of his earlier books, gone over "Hail and Farewell" thoroughly and has written a long and customary introduction to the new edition. In England this edition was published privately, like all of his later books. Here it appears in two volumes (instead of the original three) and the introduction, which is called "Art Without the Artist," contains some of Mr. Moore's most characteristic writing.

"Hail and Farewell" is, to me, Mr. Moore's most alluring book. If the men and women he writes about were as close to us as they are or were to English readers, in other words if they were friends of mine, I might resent his cruel stabbings of them, but since they are merely names, there is nothing more amusing and delightful than to have those names dexterously rapiered by such a skilled artist as George Moore. If he has made all of his friends cry "Touché" he has, likewise, made them all vivid and permanently quick. "Hail and Farewell" is one of the books that you are sorry you have read, for, whenever you see it, you wish that you still had the pleasure of reading it for the first time before you.

"Steamboat Days," by Fred Erving Dayton (Stokes).

An interesting record of those days when the steamboat was the most alluring means of travel, when it brought fortunes and lasting interstate feuds, when American ships were the finest on the seas, when there was nothing so luxurious on land as what steamed down the river—all this is to be found in "Steamboat Days," by Fred Erving Dayton, with illuminating illustrations by John Wolcott Adams. Mr. Dayton has taken each group of steamboats, those that plied each one of the famous rivers and lakes, and has made an exhaustive catalog of the boats and found amusing items about their owners and their passengers. This book adds to the increasingly popular list of source books of American history, while being interesting enough to read for itself.

"The Beardsley Period," by Osbert Burdett (Boni & Liveright).

Osbert Burdett has written an exhaustive critical essay on the Beardsley period, that time in England which is usually known as the '90s, and which had as its permanent monument the Yellow Book. Mr. Burdett traces the historic and literary background of the movement, as well as analyzing with penetration the work of Aubrey Beardsley, Oscar Wilde, Ernest Dowson, and the other prominent members of the clique.

Birds Are Made Beautiful to All in This Volume

"Birds and Their Attributes," by Glover M. Allen (Marshall Jones).

Dr. Allen gave a series of lectures under the auspices of the New England (now Northeastern) Bird Banding association which proved so popular that he has made them into a book which he calls "Birds and Their Attributes." They are not only historically fascinating—Dr. Allen tells how birds have been an essential part of man's life—but they are scientifically alluring as well, for he tells of the physical construction of birds, of their food, of their relations with their surroundings, of their home habits, of their senses and behavior, and of that mysterious migration which so intrigues those who watch them swarm toward the warmth. It is a fundamentally important volume about birds, but it is written in an easy enough manner to be comprehended by even such a dumb person as I am about birds. My entire knowledge of birds has been gained from W. H. Hudson and his charming essays about them.

"The Pilot," by James F. Cooper, illustrated by Donald Teague (Milton, Blach).

A striking gift edition, with five colored illustrations done in a style rather similar to that of Mead Schaeffer, but lacking something of his decisiveness in color and outline.

"Tibetan Folk Tales," by A. L. Shelton (Doran).

A Tibetan proverb introduces each tale and is the keynote of the story which follows, in which philosophy, humor and imagination are blended.

Opera Romance

"The Wagnerian Romances," by Gertrude Hall (Knopf).

Willa Cather has written an introduction to a new edition of "The Wagnerian Romances," by Gertrude Hall. Miss Cather says that there are only two books in English on the Wagnerian operas that are at all worthy of their subject, this one and Bernard Shaw's, "The Perfect Wagnerite." Collectors will want this volume as a first edition of Willa Cather. And speaking of Willa Cather reminds me that there is a new edition of "The Professor's House," done up in yellow batik papers with emerald green linen back, one of the prettiest books of the year to my mind.

"Twilight Stories," by Nora A. Smith (Houghton).

"Recitations Old and New for Boys and Girls," by Grace Gaige (Appleton).

Four hundred-forty pages of readings. A good general collection which will meet a long felt need.

Joan of Arc—Maid of France
A new biography by Albert Bigelow Paine

This is the authoritative story of the peasant girl of France who at seventeen led a nation's armies; her first unbiased and complete biography.

It is the story as told on oath by her playmates, her neighbors, her comrades-at-arms, the doctors who questioned her, the judges who tried her. This, along with the testimony and letters of Joan herself, is now complete in English for the first time.

Nearly 100 pictures—32 in gravure and one in full color. Two volumes. $10.50

Ernestine Sophie
A new novel by Sophia Cleugh

The vivacity, humor, and adventure born in "Matilda" have not died. The author has rejuvenated them in "Ernestine Sophie." And what a rejuvenation. The piquant, wide-awake heroine who dominates this second novel is every bit as captivating as Matilda ever thought of being. $2.00

Christina Alberta's Father
A new novel by H. G. Wells

A return to the author's early manner in "Kipps" and "Mr Polly." "It stands, as a matter of fact, quite by itself. It is excellent," said John Farrar in the New York Sun. You can't help liking Christina Alberta. She is irresistible. Price $2.50

The New Volume of the "U. S. Service Series"
By DR. FRANCIS ROLT-WHEELER
Profusely Illustrated from Photographs. Decorated Cover. Price, $1.75.

The Red Cross is the hero-heart of America set in action, and, in this book, Dr. Rolt-Wheeler has given heart-stirring narrations of all that is finest in this phase of unselfish American adventure.

ALL FOR ANDOVER
The School Life of Steve Fisher and His Friends
By CLAUDE MOORE FUESS
Picture Jacket in Colors and Illustrations by John Goss, and from Photographs. Price, $1.75.

This true-to-life presentation of the career of a wholesome schoolboy arouses the enthusiasm of every one who has felt or wishes to feel the spell of comradeship in the pursuit of education, with all its joys, struggles, and triumphs, wherever experienced.

THE GOLD ROCK OF THE CHIPPEWA
By D. LANGE
Picture Jacket in Color. Illustrated by Frank T. Merrill. Price, $1.50.

The scene is laid in the region of the Great Inland Sea, Lake Superior, still a real frontier. The events occur at about the beginning of the Revolutionary War. It might be called an American Robinson Crusoe story.

PATRICIA FROM NEW YORK
By MARGUERITE MURPHY
Picture Jacket in Colors and Illustrations by Elizabeth Withington. Price, $1.50.

Patricia, the attractive and indulged daughter of a wealthy New York family, could hardly help being spoiled. Her parents had the belated wisdom to realize this, and while they are taking a year abroad Patricia is placed with her very sensible maternal grandparents and given her first experience in a public high school.

THE CHIMES OF DASKAM HIGH
By AGNES MILLER
Picture Jacket in Colors and Illustrations by Elisabeth B. Warren. Price, $1.50.

A group of girls and boys of today, active in the varied, picturesque life of a typical American high school, take the parts in this merry and stimulating story.

MISS POLLY WIGGLES
By EDNA CLARK DAVIS
Illustrations and Picture Jacket in Colors by Julia Greene. Price, $1.50.

The fun in this story is at times of the most rollicking sort, and will amuse any one. A good feature is the extra large type, and the illustrations are in keeping with the story. For girls from eight to twelve, but boys will like it, too.

ANN'S FAMILY
By JANET FIELD HEATH
Frontispiece and Picture Jacket in Colors and Pen-and-Ink Illustrations by L. J. Bridgman. Large Type. Price, $1.50.

Ann was only ten, and an orphan. Her aunts and uncles took turns in caring for her, and it did seem as though each contrived to have Ann come when she would be most useful. No wonder the little girl, who was such a help and comfort wherever she went, longed for a "steady family," as she expressed it. Finally a new uncle came to his old home and with him the beginning of even greater happiness than Ann had dreamed of.

SYNOPSIS.

A band of crooks, stumbling on the fact that Sir Adrian Shale's wife is alive, when supposedly she had died six months before in Italy, arrives at Grantwick, Sir Adrian's home, for the purpose of blackmailing him. Mimi Winchell, one of the crooks, posing as a widow, obtains a letter of introduction to Sir Adrian, who is kind to her and her "daughter" Doris. The girl is beautiful and possesses the only shred of respectability the gang can lay claim to. She is in reality an orphan whom Mimi has befriended. One of the crooks, Beauty Bill Gibbons, asks Doris to marry him. She refuses. A few days later Sir Adrian angers Mimi by announcing he would like to marry Doris. She tells him she knows his wife is alive and demands fifty thousand pounds for silence. Sir Adrian does not believe her, but agrees to pay the money. She returns to London immediately and discovers that Sir Adrian had visited her. Somewhat disturbed by Mimi's story, Sir Adrian decides to make an investigation. His wife's former maid, Anna Ferguson, failed to come back to England after Lady Shale's death in Italy. In attempting to find her, Sir Adrian calls on her sister, Mme. Georgette, a fashionable London dressmaker, who is unable to give him any information. Doris rebels at the life she is forced to lead with Mimi and her husband, Uncle Charley, and takes a job as a mannequin at Mme. Georgette's. Uncle Charley, ill, sends for Doris, and while she is with him he dies. She is late in returning to Mme. Georgette's and is scolded by Madame's husband for refusing to tell where she has been. She leaves Madame's house and her company. Mimi, knowing Doris is Mme. Georgette's daughter, makes a demand on the dressmaker for five thousand pounds. Sir Adrian calls on Mme. Georgette to tell her that he has just learned of her sister's death in Italy six months ago and that his wife had recently died. Georgette confides in Sir Adrian about the blackmailing scheme and he offers to help her. He learns that the girl he knew as Doris Winchell is Mme. Georgette's daughter and that she is at present in a London hospital, having been run down by a motor car. The hospital informs him she is out of danger. Then he calls on Mimi.

INSTALLMENT XXXVI.

MIMI LEAVES LONDON.

In his present ugly mood, Mimi knew it would be useless to argue with Bill. Instead she told him briefly of her interview with Shale, and she plainly displayed the fear she had of him.

"He's a devil, that's what he is," she said earnestly. "He knows everything. How he found out about Doris I can't make out."

Bill scoffed. "Easy enough," he replied. "Georgette told him, I suppose, and he went and made inquiries. He and she's hand in glove. Look what happened to me."

"Yes, Bill, tell me," Mimi begged.

Bill lit a cigaret. "I went into the shop, like we arranged, asked for parcels and a nice young girl said they were all ready and she'd bring them out. I go back to my car, not wanting to be seen about more than I could help, when up comes Shale. He asks no questions, but just gets into the seat beside me. 'You're Mr. Gibbons,' he says. 'Yes, I remember you. Now, Gibbons, you can drive me straight to Mrs. Holden, who is Mrs. Winchell I expect, or to Vine street police station. Whichever you like.' Well, what was I to do?"

"Go on," Mimi said, fascinated by this recital of Shale's coolness.

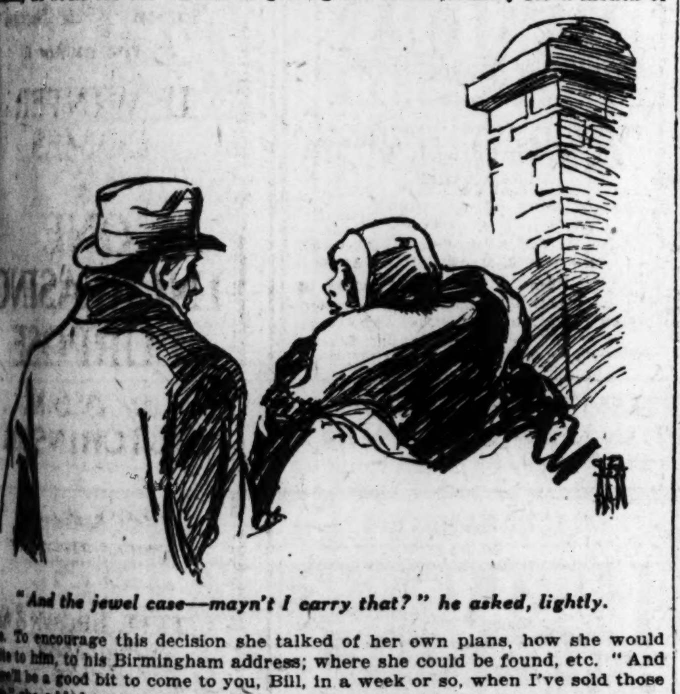
"Well," Bill continued disgustedly, "I started to argue, but it weren't no good. 'None of your nonsense,' says he, 'because my chauffeur's following along behind and I'm a good shot, Gibbons.' So saying he pulls a gun half out of his pocket. So I drove him. What would you a'done? And he blooming nearly called a copper when I said we was going to Hampstead instead of Westminster. He'd got the old address from Georgette, you see. Well, on the way, calm as anything, he says he don't want to make trouble, if you please, but you and me's got to hop it. And—well—I've not finished with him yet."

Bill spat viciously into the fire.

Mimi was frightened. "Don't do it, Bill, don't do it," she said in a shrill voice. "Leave him alone, I tell you. Remember what he said to me."

"It's Shale that will do the remembering," Bill said savagely as he got out of his chair.

Mimi gave it up. She hoped that when Bill thought things over more calmly he would see the wisdom of getting out of the country for a month or two. To encourage this decision she talked of her own plans, how she would write to him, to his Birmingham address; where she could be found, etc. "And there'll be a good bit to come to you, Bill, in a week or so, when I've sold those furs," she added.



"And the jewel case—mayn't I carry that?" he asked, lightly.

"Yes, and you'd better let me have some on account," he said suspiciously.

But they parted on friendly enough terms, Bill Gibbons sneaking out, furtively as he had entered. He was off to Birmingham that night. Mimi went back to her packing, including in her luggage a few small objects of value that formed part of the furnishing of the flat. Money might be hard to come by in a month or two, working alone. Mimi had no intention of neglecting an opportunity of making a few pounds.

But she smiled to herself, that characteristic crooked smile of hers, as she recalled that the owner of the flat was herself on the Riviera. Mimi hoped they would not meet at too close quarters.

She left Victoria at eleven o'clock the next morning. She had a first class compartment to herself, and was glad of it. Her nerves were badly shaken and she had hardly slept the previous night. At the bottom of her heart she trusted Shale. There was admiration mixed with her hatred and fear of him. He had told her he would take no action against her so long as she left by this boat train, and she believed him. But she grew anxious every time a solitary man passed by her carriage door.

There were those furs, flung so carelessly upon the seat by her side. Suppose Barstein had suddenly grown suspicious about them. Then Bill was arrested. Perhaps some one had seen him come to the flat last night.

An inspector appeared, and Mimi had to force herself to an apparent calmness as he looked at her tickets. It was with great relief that she felt the train move at last, and with no regret that she saw the tall campanile of Westminster cathedral receding as the train swung to the left after crossing the Thames. She half expected Sir Adrian to have been at the station; indeed, it would have been a comfort to her had he been there—a guarantee of good faith. And as they slid through the Kentish countryside she began to wonder if perhaps he had been bluffing after all.

Was it likely that he would travel all the way to Dover just to see her off. The thought angered her. No one, man or woman, had ever before filled her with such a complete sense of inferiority as this man Shale.

Mimi fell into a kind of day dream. It would be a long time before she saw England again, she mused. And it would be difficult working alone. Poor Uncle Charley had been useful. Better get Bill to join her as soon as possible. He could be her brother. You had so much better chance with a man about you; women, traveling alone, were always suspected.

The express roared through Ashford, jolting over the points. A few minutes later a big airplane making for the air station at Lympne attracted Mimi's attention. Why shouldn't Bill fly over? Mimi asked herself. The job he was doing for wasn't flash enough to make the Yard suspect him of traveling that way. She would write and suggest it.

Folkestone—then the tunnels. A slowing train brought her back to a sense of realities. They would be at Dover in a few minutes. Mimi began to know the fugitive's fear of crossing the gangway to the boat under the inquisitive eyes of those seemingly aimless civilians who lounged on the quay. Too many of them might know her, keen faced men from the Yard. Perhaps one would arouse her suspicion.

"I hope to heaven Shale is there," she muttered.

And he was. As the train slowed to a halt, she caught sight of him peering into the compartments as they went by. With a sense of relief she thrust her head out of the window and waved to him gaily.

He came hurrying towards her.

"Ah! Here you are," he said with all the sincerity of one meeting an old and welcome acquaintance. "I hoped I should be here in time. Porter!" He beckoned a man to take Mimi's hand luggage to the boat.

Mimi was grateful in her curious way. He was the man who made things easier. Instinctively she played up to his reading of the tragi-comedy.

"Hello, Sir Adrian," she called, and gave him her sweetest smile. "How good of you to come. And what a jolly day I have, too. Do be sweet and take these. I hate to let them out of my sight."

She handed from the compartment a mink coat and the sable wrap. The other coat she was wearing. And even at that moment it gave Mimi a feeling of amusement, as well as of satisfaction, to realize that she was making Shale carry on board for her those stolen furs.

Whether Sir Adrian suspected what he was doing or not, he showed no sign, but he made his own little thrust.

"And the jewel case. Mayn't I carry that?" he asked lightly.

Mimi acknowledged the touch with bravado.

"I've had to travel so unexpectedly that I left that for my maid to bring," she answered in a flash. "You've no idea what a rush I've had."

Shale in turn acknowledged the hit with a sardonic smile.

"But you are wise to get away while you have the chance," he said. "Your health couldn't have stood the dreadful winter."

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

He's just a rich and careless darling, your hero, Hugh Nichols! A clown, a spendthrift, a joyous waster of his life and the money he's inherited from Dad. But Hank Smith settles that.

Hank blows in from Colorado and spills a mouthful. Hank wants to know how come Hugh Nichols hasn't fulfilled the agreement made by his late father to build a dam that is to irrigate certain Colorado land—bought with that understanding. Hank's a business-like, sombreroed westerner, with a brace of guns that look efficient.

From the safe your hero hastens to produce papers proving that he has sent the $100,000 needed to the Nichol's manager, Frank Dunlap.

"Aha!" says Hank. "So HE'S the crook!"

Hugh allows it must be the truth. Leaving Hank in N' O'leans, he hastens to Colorado, accompanied by his trusty black butler, Samuel. Several days later two traveling musicians appear in the small western town where Dunlap lives and move in a mysterious way.

Right away things begin to happen.

They keep right on happening until the homesteaders' wrongs are righted and a spectacular flood, caused by the blowing up of the uncompleted dam, sweeps justice and romance into their proper niches. ('s one of those movie washouts where water doing its worst is unable to drown anybody the scenario writer wants kept alive.)

"The Best Bad Man," summed up, is a lively and busy western, blithely sacrificing probability to action. It's well played, holds the interest pretty well—and the scenery is grand.

See you tomorrow!

CLOSEUPS

Instead of regular movie release, ten touring companies will present Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Big Parade." Each unit will include complete orchestra, special projection equipment, and stage crew. Bookings, it is said, will be confined to legitimate theaters.

We hear there'll be a big surprise for the young folk at the school matinée to be given this afternoon at the Campus theater in Evanston. This will be the first of a series of special school matinés—and mothers of Evanston are said to be enthusiastic over the idea.

Y. W. C. A. Grid Reserves Help Out Santa Claus

More than 7,000 Girl Reserves of the Y. W. C. A. in Chicago are preparing to act as assistants to Santa Claus in many neighborhoods. McKinley High school Girl Reserves will hold a party for neighborhood children at the West Side Y. W. C. A. on Dec. 31. On the same date a Christmas party will be held at the Commons settlement, for which Austin High school girls are making and filling 110 stockings. They also are preparing gifts for the former service men at Great Lakes. Morgan Park High school girls are dressing dolls and will distribute Christmas baskets to poor families. The members of grade school age have already shipped a large consignment of gifts and clothing to Indian children at the Theodore Roosevelt school, Fort Apache, Ariz.

St. Scholastica Academy to Be Dedicated Tomorrow

The Academy of St. Scholastica, 7416 Ridge boulevard, will be dedicated tomorrow by the Rt. Rev. Edward F. Hoban, D. D. The services will begin at 10:30 o'clock in the morning with the blessing of the chapel and school, followed by holy mass. The academy of St. Scholastica is conducted by the Benedictine Sisters, who have just completed the construction of a large high school, auditorium, gymnasium, and other appointments necessary in the modern schools.

Centennial Exhibition to Show Furnishings of Colonial Homes

More than 500 heirlooms, all more than a century old and including complete furnishings for replicas of early American and colonial homes, have been received by the woman's auxiliary of the Chicago Historical society to be shown at the Chicago centennial exhibition at the Samuel E. Barrett house, Lake Shore drive and Schiller street, Dec. 9 to 20.

An organ of the vintage of 1800, lent by Mrs. William B. Mundie, will be a feature in the exhibition. Jesse Crawford has been invited to play the instrument on the opening afternoon.

An early American bedroom will be furnished by a committee consisting of Mrs. William McCormick Blair, Mrs. Henry Robbins, Mrs. Frank Hibbard, Mrs. William O. Goodman, and Mrs. Kenneth Sawyer Goodman. The walls of the room will be covered with prints, all more than a century old, selected under the direction of William McKee of the Art institute.

Mrs. Mundie has lent furnishings for two bedrooms, all pieces being heirlooms dating before the war of 1812. Mrs. Paul Blatchford will provide furniture for another room of pieces which have been in the Blatchford family more than a century.

More than 200 coverlets depicting the history of the bed-spread making will be hung in another room under the direction of Mrs. Frederick Avery of the Colonial Coverlet guild. Many of the coverlets are from private collections and are valued at thousands of dollars.

The Illinois Society of Colonial Dames of America and the Antiquarian society, of which Mrs. Potter Palmer is president, will assume charge of two of the twenty-seven rooms now being decorated for the occasion.

Mrs. William S. Monroe is chairman of the committee in charge of the exhibition.

Hoosiers Are to Dine and Make Merry Tonight

Plans for Annual Dinner Shrouded in Mystery.

Speaking in strict newspaperese, it is meet to say this morning that deep mystery surrounds bill of fare and program for the annual banquet of banquets in Chicago; none other, of course, than that of the Indiana society, which will be held tonight in the gold room of the Congress hotel.

It is the twenty-first annual dinner of the Hoosier society and, as usual, everything that is to come to pass has been kept a deep secret. All that may be told is that the menu, always extraordinary, this year, despite President Coolidge's economy program, will be one of the finest the society has ever had.

As to the program, it is whispered that that will be most elaborate—most elaborate. Just what it will consist of is to be brought to light only at the last moment and it will be full of surprises.

Still a little more may be told concerning the program than concerning the menu. "Little Orphant Annie" will be there, for instance, and so will the "Raggedy Man," the "Old Man," "Jim," and others made famous by the famous Hoosier poet, James Whitcomb Riley.

The dinner will start at 7:10 and continue on until 9:40 p. m., when the speaking begins. It is said that an invitation has been issued to Mrs. Mabel G. Reinecke, collector of internal revenue, and that if she appears on time she may see something in which she is supposed to have an official interest.

Among the guests will be a number of other celebrities. There will be Col. George T. Buckingham, who leads off with the oratory; E. Ross Bartley, secretary to Vice President Dawes, former Gov. Edwin P. Morrow of Kentucky, Senator James E. Watson, Gov. Ed Jackson, former Senator Albert J. Beveridge, and numerous others.

Word was received from Washington last night that Everett Sanders, secretary to President Coolidge and former representative in congress from the Fifth Indiana district, will be unable to attend the banquet. Mr. Sanders had hoped to leave the capital a few days in advance of the presidential party, coming to Chicago on Monday morning, so as to attend, but found at the last moment he could not so arrange his plans.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "The Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question Marjorie E. White, Olin, Ia., was awarded $5.

The Question.

The Answers.

Elmer C. Rigsbee, Downers Grove, salesman—He certainly hopes he is marrying a practical girl—at least, not an impractical one. A man wants a wife who is capable of doing sound thinking and using good judgment in emergencies, for in the real business of managing a household these are always presenting themselves.

F. A. Roberts, 36 South State street, real estate—The practical one. A man doesn't care for a powdered and painted flapper for a helpmeet. He wants one with good sense; one on whom he can depend. That's the type I was fortunate enough to get when I was married.

H. D. Ingalls, 7 South Dearborn street, advertising—I believe the average man subconsciously thinks his butterfly deal of the moment will turn out to be the good, old fashioned, practical wife of tomorrow. Probably it is just as well that he can entertain illusions during his unmarried days.

H. L. Van Valen, 5041 Forrestville avenue, postoffice clerk—It's certain that the average man does not want the butterfly type of wife to have and to hold all his life. She may satisfy his idealistic fancy for the time being, but it is the practical one only that will stand the long run test.

William Edwards, 3823 Schubert avenue, real estate—A practical one. I surely married a practical one, and that was years ago—a good, honest girl from the country. She knew how to cook and take care of a family and do everything that is to be done. Yes, and make everybody happy, as only a good woman can.

Mayor Urged to Help Fight on Junior High

Mayor Dever was brought into the Rogers Park school controversy yesterday when a delegation of parents visited his office to protest against the proposed new junior high school in that district.

"What we want is a new elementary building so that our children will not have so far to go to school," Ald. E. I. Frankhauser [49th], spokesman for the group, told the mayor. An elementary school, he added, would cost only $550,000 as compared to the $1,500,000 expense of a junior high.

A hearing will be given both sides of the case at a special meeting of the school administration committee of the board of education Monday afternoon.

Sowerby Suite Takes Honors with Symphony

Wallenstein Also Gains Acclaim as Soloist.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Leo Sowerby made the hit of his life yesterday afternoon when Mr. Stock conducted the Chicago Symphony orchestra through its first performance of the suite called "From the Northland." Whereupon, so that honors might be evenly distributed, Alfred Wallenstein appeared immediately thereafter and did the same thing with his solo performance of Dvorak's Concerto for violoncello.

"From the Northland" is not absolutely new, since Mr. Sowerby played it in its piano version in Orchestra hall foyer about a year ago. But the black and white sketch for piano became considerably amplified when it received the colors of the orchestra. It marks a decided step forward for Mr. Sowerby—in the direction of popularity, at any rate—for to the abundant knowledge and skill that have always been his he added a flow of melody that is nothing short of charming.

It was preceded by Ravel's "Alborado del Grazioso," another fascinating piece, and, like it, written in the contemporary idiom. The northland of the title is the Lake Superior country, and there are four sections, one of forests and three of water. Mr. Sowerby has been obliged to use some of the musical conventions that attend every one who makes music about nature, but the important part of the work is that he has some fine, sincere, and original things of his own to say about it.

When it came to Mr. Wallenstein's performance there was a sudden shift from the contemporary. The music of this concerto was old when Dvorak put it down on paper, and now, thirty years later, it is an antiquity. Only Mr. Wallenstein's he-man tone gave it any semblance of vigor. A great player, this principal of the orchestra's cello section, and it is a pity that the cello literature is so limited. With his technical, emotional, and interpretive ability he should have some one write him a new concerto, something like Mr. Stock's violin work which Jacques Gordon played a few weeks ago.

Organist Wins High Praise.

A most interesting organist appeared at Kimball hall last night. He is Alfred Hollins of England, who has the misfortune to be blind but has made definite and forceful achievements in music, and can place Mus. Doc., also F. R. C. O., after his name to prove it. He played a program covering a wide field, but his performance of a Bach number alone was enough to put him among the great ones.

This was the Prelude and Fugue in D. Dr. Hollins scored it with a variety of color but lightly; the organ hardly spoke out its full voice until the end. But it was Bach with a beautiful line, unbrokenly smooth, and with that wonderful simplicity of manner that makes Bach so impressive a composer for organ.

Dr. Hollins is a fertile composer and improviser. He played a stately Concert Overture and some shorter pieces of his own as well as a full length improvisation, and it was his knowledge of the instrument's resources and his facility and accuracy of playing that helped make him so fine an interpreter of the music of others.

Howard E. Preston, Chicagoan, will succeed the late William Beck in the baritone section of the Civic Opera company. His first assignment will come tomorrow, when he sings Mr. Beck's former rôle of Herr von Faninal in "Der Rosenkavalier."

Mr. Preston has been well and favorably known as a concert and oratorio singer, and also for a number of appearances in English opera. He is the musical director of the new Sholem temple.

On the Technique of Wearing That Irresistible Shawl

by Antoinette Donnelly

We read a note the other day announcing Queen Mary's intention of reviving shawls, which surprised us no little, as we thought if there was one item of the wardrobe that had been fully launched it was the shawl. A friend, coming back on a recent boat from overseas, reports not a single female passenger without one.

It may be a different kind of shawl from the familiar plain silk or heavily embroidered one we are so familiar with that Queen Mary is interested in introducing. Quite possibly, since it is in the interest of the north Scotland islands women the queen is working, and most of our Spanish shawls are really made in China. Italy furnishes a number of the embroidered and the plain, long fringed shawls in popular use.

But the note reminds me of a woman recently observed in the business of choosing a white shawl embroidered in the biggest roses that ever grew on land or silk. She was no more than five feet three, and as broad as she was long. I hoped her debutante daughter was going to win it for the Palm Beach season, but mamma confided to the saleswoman that it was for herself. She wanted to wear it under her fur coat. It was nice to have around you at the theater.

I suppose every woman has a secret passion to appear swathed in one of the lovely things. They are irresistible, and just because you are short and plump the urge is no less keen. Heaven knows how one might break out otherwise if the urge is curbed too long. So why should I be picking on the plump one with the Spanish passion? I might want to wear a Hawaiian costume myself some day, and it would become me quite as ill.

So we'll just talk about how not to huddle a shawl over your shoulders with a clutch in front and a point at the back, if you'd wear yours with chic. That's the way grandma wore her home knitted one to keep her warm. There is quite a technique in managing the folds of a shawl. One cannot give out any set of rules about arranging it, except to remind that it was originally intended to make the slender Spanish siren more slender, and allowed her arms beneath its folds to move with ease and grace.

Also, that it clings rather closely to the figure.

Clahr's Kremmer Torte.

Clahr's friend says she wishes she had something as useful as this dessert which Clahr's husband calls the "ever-present," the dessert for all occasions, the beauty of which is that it can be prepared the day before. But this friend uses this dessert herself, and wins the favor of her guests by doing so. This is how they make Kremmer torte:

First mix one cup of sugar, two teaspoons baking powder, and a scant two tablespoons and a half of dry bread crumbs. Then add to this mixture one cup English walnuts, one-half cup raisins, one-fourth cup dates and one-fourth cup of currants—these fruits also chopped. Then beat the yolks of three eggs well, blend them with mixture and fold in the stiffly beaten whites, put in a buttered pan and bake one-half hour in a slow oven. Serve with whipped cream.

If we want to realize in full the ever presentness of "torten" for desserts we need to go to cook books of German tone. In one little one—that prepared by a certain Cedarburg woman's club—there are thirty-one recipes for torten, and under this plural of the word torte, which heads the chapter, there is quoted, "Isn't this a pretty dish to set before the king?" Almost all the recipes have a considerable number of eggs, and one called "[illegible] Torte" is much like the above.

It reads: Six eggs beaten [illegible] one-half pound sugar, one-half [illegible] dates, one-half pound walnuts [illegible] tablespoons of wheat bread [illegible] one teaspoon baking powder. [illegible] order given; add beaten whites [illegible] bread crumbs and baking powder. Bake in two layers. Before [illegible] break in small pieces, put in [illegible] dish, add whipped cream and [illegible]

The final words of this recipe [illegible] a scriptural sound. As transcribed [illegible] me they were: "When done [illegible] look as if it had fallen. Be [illegible]couraged."

Movies for Children

Motion pictures showing the [illegible] the Seminole Indians in Florida [illegible] be exhibited at a children's [illegible]ment, sponsored by James Nelson [illegible] Anna Louise Raymond, in the [illegible] Simpson theater in the Field [illegible] today at 10 a. m. Pile Driver Lays in Ruins Apartment of Miss Elsie McCormick

BY NANCY R——.

Miss Elsie McCormick has discovered since her return to Chicago this winter that sometimes there really is "no place like home." She came back from Paris to spend these busy, gay months in her apartment at 220 East Walton place, only to find, I'm told, that the pile driving and construction of the new Lake Shore drive apartment building to the north of her had wrought havoc in her own chic dwelling place—instead of being in their proper place, her ceilings were strewn about the floors. It meant weeks and weeks of clearing up and repairing, so the hospitable chatelaine had to move to one room at the Ambassador until the work could be completed, a real deprivation to a Chicago winter, for Miss McCormick is an expert and liberal hostess.

More than that, she is a natural born collector, with great originality, consistency, and profound knowledge. Her apartment already contained a number of beautiful and rare objets d'art, gathered from her trips to distant corners of the world, and she brought with her this time many pieces to add to her collection—they are still in packing cases, I understand, as there are no safe and suitable places for them until the apartment is once more in order.

When that will be seems to be on the lap of the gods. It's a discouraging situation, and Miss McCormick fears that as soon as her rooftree is ready she will be leaving us once more for France. I hasten to correct a mistaken idea that has been going the rounds of the town—Miss McCormick is not deserting us altogether for Paris. She has her own apartment there and will spend part of each year across the Atlantic, but she's not giving up her pied à terre in this part of the world, and we'll probably have long visits from her here every winter.

An announcement of great interest to Chicago society was made yesterday in Detroit when the Cameron B. Watermans made known the engagement of their daughter, Mary Elizabeth, to Ralph Isham Farwell, the son of the Arthur Lincoln Farwells of 1301 Ritchie court. Miss Waterman is a graduate of Miss Masters' school at Dobbs Ferry and Mr. Farwell was in the class of '18 at New Haven.

Day's News in Society

Dinner box parties will be in vogue at the first annual horse show to be held at the Chicago Riding club from Dec. 8 to 12, part of the proceeds of which are to go to the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society. Nearly all of the boxholders have invited guests. There are to be charity dances on the opening and closing nights of the show, and there will be several afternoon teas during the week. Mrs. R. R. McCormick is to have as her guests on the opening night Mr. and Mrs. John Hertz, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. Orville E. Babcock, and Col. Dumont.

The reception which Mrs. Moses J. Wentworth of 1240 Lake Shore drive had planned for her daughter-in-law, Mrs. John Wentworth, on Nov. 7, and which was postponed, has now been set for Dec. 30 at the Drake.

Mrs. Americus F. Callahan of 1349 Astor street has issued invitations for a luncheon for Miss Beatrice Burnet on Monday, Dec. 14, at the Racquet club. There are to be about 25 of the debutantes present. Miss Burnet's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Sidney Burnet, are to give a dinner-dance for her on Dec. 19 in the terrace room of the Drake, to take place before the ball to be given for Miss Alice Coonley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Prentiss L. Coonley at the Casino.

Mrs. William Minor Dabney has returned to Baltimore after visiting her daughter, Mrs. John Wentworth of 222 East Delaware place.

Mrs. Harry Spenser Brown of the Churchill apartments has departed for New York City to remain until after the Christmas holidays, when she will be with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Counselman, at their farm near Greenwich, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Curtis have returned from New York City, where they were married recently, and are residing at the Belmont hotel. Mrs. Curtis was Miss Dorothy O'Ryan.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren H. Clarke and their small son have moved from Cleveland, O., to Miami, Fla. Mrs. Clarke was formerly Miss Dorothy Buttolph, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Buttolph of 5429 Cornell avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. W. Nichols of 3901 Sheridan road have departed to spend ten days in New York City.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4.—[Special.]—The secretary of state and Mrs. Kellogg gave a dinner this evening, when the ranking guests were Señora de Riaño, wife of the ambassador of Spain, and the ambassador of Brazil, Senhor S. Gurgel do Amaral.

Senator and Mrs. Peter Goelet Gerry, who are on their way back to this country on board the Berengaria, will arrive in New York the latter part of this week and are expected in Washington on Sunday or Monday. Mrs. Gerry, who was formerly Mrs. Edith Dresser Vanderbilt, widow of George Vanderbilt, was married to Senator Gerry in London in the early autumn and since then they have been honeymooning in Europe.

Col. and Mrs. William Mitchell, who have been residing at the Anchorage since their return to Washington for the now historic Mitchell trial, have leased Rear Admiral and Mrs. Frank Beatty's residence at 1632 19th street and have moved into their new home. Mrs. Beatty is at Walter Reed hospital, where she underwent an operation for appendicitis.

IN PLAY

MRS. JOHN A. VINCENT.
[Moffett Photo.]

Mrs. John A. Vincent is a member of the cast of "Alice in Wonderland," which the Junior league will present for the fourth and last time at the Playhouse at 10:30 o'clock this morning. The next children's theater play, "Snow White," will open next Saturday morning.

WEDDINGS

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Webster Whitely of 1046 Sheridan road announce the marriage of their daughter, Dorothy Joan Willis, to Forrest Paul Smith, on Nov. 9 at Jacksonville, Fla.

The marriage of Miss Rose Aronson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Aronson, of 2203 Rice street, to Alexander Mages, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Mages, is to take place tomorrow at the Sovereign hotel.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

The Tribune will pay $1 for every letter published on "The Most Embarrassing Moment of My Life." Address Embarrassing Moments, Chicago Tribune. Write on one side of the paper. No manuscript returned.

Thanks to Small Brother.

One night my beau came to tea with us. He had never been there before and I was anxious to show what a good cook I was.

My little brother was playing with some colored wooden beads in the kitchen while I labored over the cake. Imagine how I felt at supper when I saw my friend remove a large green bead from his piece of devil's food, just after my mother had carefully explained what a famous cakemaker I was.

He never came again! L. H.

Looked Suspicious.

I had been suffering with a cold and cough, so one morning put some cough medicine and a spoon in my handbag to take the office. I ate breakfast in a cafeteria, and as I opened my bag to pay the check my spoon fell to the floor with a clatter.

Of course, I couldn't explain to the amused onlookers that the spoon was my own and not one taken from the table. My embarrassment was overwhelming. B. K.

Teas, Dinners, Ball, Musical on Debutante Calendar for Today

A trio of teas, several dinners, a musical, and a ball occupy today's debutante calendar. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Story of Riverside, who gave a tea earlier in the fall at Riverside, are to give a similar affair at the Fortnightly this afternoon for Miss Jane Story; Mrs. Thomas R. Lyon will give the second of her two at-homes for her granddaughter, Miss Harriet Lyon, who has come from California to spend some time in Chicago, and Mrs. William J. Chalmers will give a tea for Miss Joan Williams. The Mark Skinner Willings are to give a musical to introduce their daughter, Miss Margaret Willing, and the A. Volney Fosters, who are residing for the winter at the Lake Shore Drive hotel, have reserved the Casino after 10 o'clock for their daughter and her young friends to dance. Mrs. Harry Lee Taft is to give one of the dinners, at the Casino, the Chauncey Borlands another, and Mrs. Richardson Dunham and Mrs. John W. Gary will be hostesses at still another, which they are to give in the terrace room of the Drake for their niece, Miss Harriet Lyon.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Dec. 4.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Astor gave a musical today at their home, 840 5th avenue. Prince Alexis Obolensky, basso, a cousin of Prince Serge Obolensky, who married Miss Alice Astor, sang, accompanied at the piano by Max Rabinowitch, and Michel Arenstein, cellist, played several numbers. Prince Alexis Obolensky, who recently arrived here for a concert tour, became a professional singer after the family fortunes fell with the régime of the czars.

Mrs. Samuel T. Peters gave a dinner for forty guests at Pierre's this evening for her debutante granddaughter, Miss Natalie Peters, later taking her guests to the Metropolitan dance.

Mrs. Cullen Van Rensselaer Cogswell had Miss Levine L. Neeser and Miss Mary Van Rensselaer Cogswell at dinner at Sherry's.

Loretto Alumnae Luncheon.

The annual pre-holiday luncheon of the Loretto Alumnæ of Englewood will be held today at Marshall Field's tearoom. Miss Frances Hubler, president, and Mrs. Harry O'Brien, secretary, are in charge of arrangements.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

The Thanksgiving turkey came to the table decorated as to legs, neck, and wings with paper frill trimmings.

Elizabeth waited politely until asked by Uncle Will, whose guest she was, what part she preferred.

My neighbor, who bakes cookies once a week, uses her range for this, as she has only a gas plate.

Maida, who is always treated to the cookies if she happens in at baking time, abruptly announced to me the other morning that she must go right over to Mrs. Smith's.

On my asking why, she replied: "Don't you see the cookie smoke coming from her chimbley?" B. C.

MEN'S FASHIONS

BY A. T. GALLICO.

What Lapels Will Do.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—If you will glance at the illustration that our artist, a man with a most discerning eye, has drawn, you will note that the young chap is slim, and might easily be narrow chested, almost to a painful degree.

Note, then, the extreme size of his coat lapels and the bold line they cut across his chest. The general effect is to make his chest look a good deal wider than it is.

Of course, this thing must be done carefully by an expert tailor, otherwise the result will be a suit that is entirely out of balance. A narrow chested man carrying around a pair of lapels that look like sails would only make himself look ridiculous.

On the other hand, the line of these lapels and their size, if planned carefully, will do much to correct the above mentioned defect in physique.

The wearing of a four-in-hand tie with a wide spread will help to increase the size of the chest provided it isn't out of proportion. Always remember the importance of keeping clothing in proportion before attempting to conceal defects.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Needs Tree Ornaments.

"I have wondered if some of your readers might not have Christmas tree ornaments to give away. I would surely be glad to get them, and would call for them anywhere. I have been ill for a year, and although my husband has not missed a day's work the doctor's bill has taken everything. Perhaps some one is tired of old ornaments, and will be buying new. If so, I shall appreciate your remembering me. C. F. A."

The Christmas tree should be gayly decked. There are children to enjoy it. We'll be only too glad to give out the address to any one wishing to help to trim this tree.

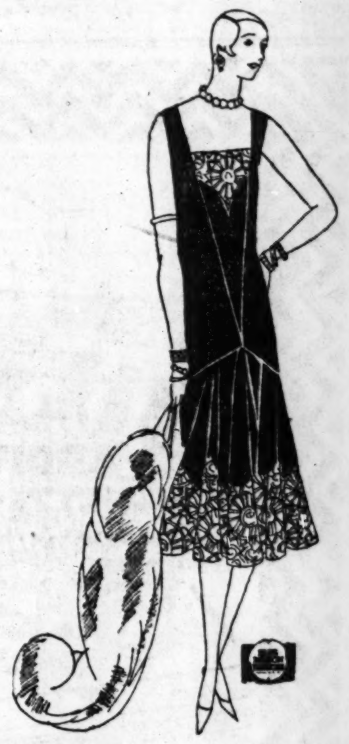
Donating Gas Plate.

"I have a two burner gas plate in perfect condition to give to some woman in need of one. J. P. T."

Are you interested in having this offer? It will surely be welcome in some household.

Evening Modes Are Partial to Velvet

by Corinne Lowe



NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Really, a great many of these present day frocks read like a theorem in geometry! For example, in today's model one can just hear one's old professor droning, "The sum of the angles of skirt and bodice is equal to the sum of chic." For here it is—the same old meeting of that V effect down the front of the corsage with the upward point described in front by the skirt.

Aside from this familiar treatment, this gown illustrates the wide use of the metallic laces in combination with velvet, satin, and the metallic tissues themselves. In this case the fabric used is black velvet, and the lace officiating at the neck line in front and as a border for the flaring skirt is gold. In the back there is a deep V decolletage to contrast with the moderate square of the front.

The mention of black velvet leads one to refer to the continued emphasis on this evening medium by many fashionable women. In spite of the outbreak of gorgeous color, black is sustained. So also is white, and in the horse shoe curve of the metropolitan one spies almost as many creations of white velvet and white satin as appeared during previous seasons. It goes without saying that many of these black and white gowns fall into the spirit of the season by their touches of metallic lace or metallic trimming. And the combination of black velvet with gold lace which we show today is especially effective.

As usual, the evening gown is ably supported by its accessories. The feather fan of the willowy type is one of the most important of these, and the woman of our sketch carries a foam green version of this fan.

Hand You Love to Have Shake Yours Is One Expressing Sincerity

BY DORIS BLAKE.

It is curious how so formal a gesture as a handshake will create impressions for good or ill. Sometimes by the mere motion, one conceives a dislike for an individual which is never entirely overcome. Another "shake" will dismiss formalities immediately and a warm friendship be struck.

It is a happier custom, no matter how it affects you, than rubbing noses, for instance—a form of greeting popular among certain races, although these latter might not agree with us at all on our score. It is better than cheek kissing, and by all odds more hygienic than kissing on the lips, a custom formerly common when two old friends of feminine gender met, but now gradually dying out.

It's a wiser, safer custom for the young to cling to. Handshaking, we are told in certain quarters where advanced young creatures abound, is either dismissed entirely from the proceeding of greeting the young man when he calls in favor of an imprint of osculatory nature, or it serves but as an additional motion. Maybe these reports are exaggerated, as reports about our young moderns are quite likely to be. But there is this to be said in favor of the handshake. It will never get a young lady's heart into serious difficulty. That's why we urge her to cling to the custom, and to it alone, until she knows her young man very, very well.

But what we started out to say was something about impressions made by handshakes. There is a perfect character study in the way it is done. Take the limp shake that nobody loves. The character is just as limpy. Or, take the overhearty one when your ring is pressed painfully into the flesh. A rough diamond, maybe. Nevertheless, rough! Or that irritating "shake" when your hand is taken merely from habit and the taker gazes at somebody or something else and you don't know whether to withdraw or scratch to remind him he has your property in his hands.

The hand we love to have hold ours is the one with a handshake that expresses sincerity. Human nature is alike in never failing to appreciate sincerity and to respond to it warmly. Immediately your hand is grasped in greeting by some one you like and some one who likes you a wireless message of understanding speeds direct to your heart.

So, when you shake hands put your heart into it. It is one of the things which, if worth doing at all, is worth doing well. To your sincerity will rise all the best in the person whose hand you clasp.

RECORD PRICES PAID FOR MEAT AT STOCK SHOW

Final Horse Judging Ends Exposition Tonight.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Prices that have never been approached in the livestock world before were paid yesterday for animals on the hoof and carcasses on the hook at the International Livestock exposition.

The grand champion beef carcass sold at $7 a pound. It was that of Jock, a pure bred Aberdeen-Angus steer, owned by W. W. Wilson & Son of Muncie, Ind. Mr. Wilson reserved half the carcass which he has given to Purdue university to serve at the annual banquet of the Indiana Livestock Breeders' association to be held at Lafayette, Ind., in January. The Hotel Sherman bought the other half for Christmas meat at $7 a pound, or a total of $2,331.

Eight dollars a pound was paid for the grand champion lamb carcass by the Hotel Sherman. The grand champion lamb was sold at $4.15 a pound on the hoof, breaking all records.

Hog Price Also a Record.

The grand champion baby beef animal of the show, an Aberdeen-Angus owned and exhibited by Pauline Brown of Aledo, Ill., sold for 20 cents a pound. The animal weighed 1,155 pounds, netting Miss Brown $231.

The show will close tonight, and the work of loading the great collection of more than 11,000 animals will begin immediately after the last event of the horse show.

The show will close tonight with a horse show in which the judges will name the winner of the $1,000 champion hunter stake. There will be an afternoon children's horse show program, featuring junior riding and pony classes. Following a custom established years ago, children accompanied by parents or teachers will be admitted free.

The program starts at 1:45 o'clock.

LEHMANN HORSES WIN

Competing with out of town stables, Chicago took the bulk of the honors on the horse show program at the live stock show last night. Otto W. Lehmann's string won first prizes in the three light horse classes opening the exhibition.

Results of the events follow:

Triple bar jump—First, Surefire, owned by Otto W. Lehmann, Chicago; second, Wood King, Mrs. J. D. Hertz, Cary, Ill.; third, Gaelic, Mrs. F. J. Navin, Detroit; fourth, Hercules, Duffield farms, Waukegan.

Gig horse—First, Netherhall's Pride, owned by Otto W. Lehmann, Chicago; second, Queen Mary, Mrs. A. C. Thompson, Chicago; third, Sunbeam, Heyl Pony farm, Washington, Ill.; fourth, Sporting Extra, John R. Thompson, Chicago.

Riding team at walk, trot, and canter—First, Exciter and Rex Rene, Otto W. Lehmann and Mrs. James G. Alexander; second, Dream Girl and Watchful, Mrs. A. C. Thompson, Chicago; third, Mardip and May Allison, Mrs. Glen Dipmore and Fred A. Poole; fourth, The Dude and Pattye Dare, Miss Eleanor P. Weber and Myles Cannaven.

Shetland ponies, pairs in harness—First, Black Patton and Karess, owned by Gorham and Simpson, Morris, Ill.; second, Weezy Mae and Lord Dapplette, West Baden Springs hotel, West Baden, Ind.; third, Silver Crescent and Free Trader, D. G. Welty, Nevada, Ia.; fourth, Romping Jolly and Jolly Miss, West Baden Springs hotel.

Trotting pairs—First, Peter Handsome and St. Mesrob, owned by George K. Peak & Son, Winchester, Ill.; second, Jack London and St. Alora, same owner; third, The Project and Jack Worthy, John Hubly, Mason City, Ill.; fourth, Plain Jane and Little Sister, Mrs. Daniel A. Orth, Chicago.

INVENTOR SUES 8 RADIO GROUPS FOR 60 MILLIONS

Says Monopoly Hurts His Patents.

Boston, Mass., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Eight corporations, prominent in the radio field, were made defendants in a suit for $60,000,000 filed today in United States district court on behalf of Prof. Reginald A. Fessenden of Newton, scientist and inventor. Fessenden charges that a combination on the part of the corporations in restraint of trade has lessened the value of his devices and inventions so that he is forced to seek legal redress.

He charges that his business and the value of his patents have been injured to the extent of $20,000,000 and he asks triple reimbursement under the provisions of the Sherman and Clayton anti-trust laws.

Combined to Defeat Competition.

The corporations named are the Radio Corporation of America, the General Electric company, the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, the American Telephone and Telegraph company, the United Fruit company, the Wireless Specialties Apparatus company, the Western Electric company, Inc., and the International Radio Telegraph company.

It is alleged by Prof. Fessenden that the companies have combined to refrain from competing in purchasing patents and applications for patents, inventions, devices, apparatus and rights. He charges that by mutual agreement in combination, and for the purpose of obtaining these at much less than their fair value, they at times have refused to negotiate for the purchase of such patents and devices.

Monopoly Established.

Fessenden also holds that apparatus and devices have been manufactured and put on the market at unprofitable prices. Competition, he asserts, has been substantially lessened in interstate commerce by the defendant companies and a monopoly, in part or in whole, has been established.

A long list of patents and applications on the part of the professor, some dating back to 1904 and covering virtually all stages of radio development, is included in the bill.

Prof. Fessenden is best known in Boston as the inventor who developed the submarine signal. He was employed for a time as head chemist in the Edison laboratories. For one year he was in the service of the Westinghouse company.

A. F. NIGHTINGALE FUNERAL TO BE HELD ON MONDAY

Pioneer Educator Dies in Evanston Home.

Funeral services for Dr. A. F. Nightingale, educator, who for many years was a leader in city, county and state school circles, will be held next Monday afternoon, probably at 2 o'clock.

Dr. Nightingale died of heart disease yesterday morning at his home, 1240 Oak avenue, Evanston. He had been ill for ten days. He was 82 years old and had been retired for the last ten years.

From 1892 to 1901, Dr. Nightingale served as superintendent of Cook county schools. For the two preceding years he had been assistant superintendent of high schools in Chicago. From 1898 to 1903 he was a trustee of the University of Illinois, serving one term as president of the board. He also had held numerous other offices in educational institutions.

Since his retirement from active work Dr. Nightingale had devoted much of his time to writing for educational periodicals and lecturing. He was the author of "Requirements for Admission to American Colleges" and editor of the "Twentieth Century Text Books." He was a member of the Hamilton club, the Evanston Golf club, and the First Presbyterian church, Evanston.

He is survived by a widow, Fanny C. Nightingale, three daughters, Mrs. H. M. Angle, of Miami, Fla., Mrs. P. L. Alward and Mrs. W. D. Hess, of Evanston; and one sister, Mrs. O. G. Bush, of Belleview, Fla.

Michael Morwieser, Agent of Rock Island R. R., Dies

Michael Morwieser, special agent for the Rock Island railroad, died yesterday at St. Luke's hospital following a long illness. Mr. Morwieser had been connected with the road for more than thirty years. He was a member of the Knights of Columbus. Funeral services will be held at 11 a. m., Monday, at the home, 8241 South Green street. Interment will be at Mount Olivet.

MRS. ULA LOVE, WIDOW OF CITY PIONEER, DIES

Mrs. Ula Love, 70 years old, widow of Charles F. Love, a pioneer Chicago commission merchant, died suddenly yesterday afternoon in the lobby of the Plaza hotel, 1553 North Clark street, where she lived.

Joseph Bockter, superintendent of service at the hotel, found Mrs. Love unconscious in a chair. He summoned a physician, but she died before his arrival. Heart disease was given as the cause of death.

Mrs. Love was a native of Bloomington, Ill., and a daughter of Prof. Daniel Wilkins, who was a member of the University of Michigan faculty. She had been a resident of Chicago for fifty-two years.

A sister, Mrs. H. M. Love, and a niece, Mrs. John D. Black of 229 Lake Shore drive, survive.

Funeral Today for Mrs. James H. Collins

Funeral services for Mrs. James H. Collins, mother of William M. Collins, president of Henrici's, Chicago restaurant, will be held this morning at 9:30 o'clock from Mount Carmel church. Mrs. Collins died Thursday at her home, 645 Buckingham place. Interment will be at Calvary.

North Shore Homesites and Business Lots

TOMORROW, Sunday Dec. 6th

A sale you can't afford to miss if you are considering exclusive North Shore property for investment or your future home. There are comparatively few lots in the Wil-Lar Addition and all of them should be sold before sundown tomorrow. Many wise investors already have signified their intention to be at this Big One-Day Sale. They know that the Wilmette region of the North Shore is one of rapidly increasing values. They know that the New High Speed Electric Railway—a 14 million dollar development now nearing completion—will send Wil-Lar values soaring. They expect to buy and double or treble their money within a few months. With our Special Low Winter Prices we see no reason why they should be disappointed.

WIL-LAR Addition is ideally situated. Fast transportation, and proposed station right at the property line. The beautiful suburb of Wilmette just one-half mile to the East, with banks, stores, churches, schools, movies and all modern conveniences. Five noted Golf and Country Clubs and a Forest Preserve within one and one-half miles of WIL-LAR. Near beautiful millionaires' estates.

If you know the North Shore you need not be told of its natural beauties and many advantages over other near-Chicago localities. If you are not familiar with them, by all means acquaint yourself before considering any real estate investment.

Elmer Hears J. Ham Lewis on the Ether

Operetta, Tunes, Dances Other Features.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

A much mixed up and different radio night, so much so that the stations fairly seemed like those of the previous night, though they were.

The WQJ broadcast of the All Chicago Kiwanis clubs' banquet (fifteen clubs) at Rainbo Gardens, at 8 and until no telling when in the morning, was the night's event.

Fortunately the speeches, the community singing and what not, are covered on another page of THE TRIBUNE. However, the radio audience will appreciate mention here of the flowery introduction and address "by the most distinguished statesman and orator of this state," J. Hamilton Lewis, 10:30.

So that WQJ would have a clear path on the 448 meters at 8, the Mr. and Mrs. Marx E. Oberndorfer's regular Friday night lecture recital from WMAQ was given at 7 o'clock. "Franz Schubert" was the subject—a keenly sympathetic, appreciative lecture, interesting and instructive, and one of the best of the series to date. "Beethoven" next Friday at 8.

WLS kept us mentally jumping back and forth from their Hotel Sherman studio to the ringside at the International live stock exposition.

Of special interest from the studio was Director Edgar Bill's announcement, 9:30, that in the interest of better programs WLS, in coöperation with the Drama League of America, is offering prizes of $500, $200 and $100 for new radio dramas.

At this same hour, WLIB was repeating Announcer Ryan's one hour radio travelogue production, "Down the Mississippi," an original radio music melodrama—picturesque, musically colorful and descriptive, and altogether worthy of recognition as one of radio's own developments.

From 9 to 10 the WEBH light opera company again was demonstrating what can be done in adopting standard operettas for radio entertainment. The operetta was the late Victor Herbert's work, "The Madcap Dutchess."

WBCN tonight celebrates its first birthday. The directors may look back upon their labors with just pride.

One final word: Get your set in perfect order, or buy one if you have none, for there are big things breaking, and breaking right away—beginning tomorrow night.

EXPLORER WHO FOUND ANCIENT EMPIRE RETURNS

[Copyright: 1925: By The Chicago Tribune.]

ALGIERS, Dec. 4.—Count Byron de Prorok's expedition under the auspices of the English Royal Geographical society has just returned from an exploration trip in the mythical Hoggar region of the Sahara desert, where it discovered the tomb of the ancient Queen Tinhanan, near Tamanrasset, in the heart of the Atlas mountains.

Count Prorok, who is supported by Prof. Reygasse, believes that the imposing monument, tomb, and relics of an ancient civilization prove that the Hoggar was the legend empire of the Atlantis, existing when the Mediterranean was a lake and Gibraltar was an isthmus instead of a strait, joining Europe and Africa by land.

"We discovered the burial place of the queen under sand. The body was lying in a sarcophagus and was splendidly preserved, being wound by bands like a mummy. There was a gold studded diadem for her head, five collars with precious stones about the neck, and eighteen bracelets on each wrist.

"Surrounding her was furniture for royal apartments sculptured in hard wood, and ivory and toilet articles, including an ancient makeup box with ointments, pigments, and oils which were used before lipsticks and rice powder. Besides there were a jewel box filled with agates, emeralds, rubies, onyx, and pearls and a superb statue of Venus sculptured in stone. We are fetching the entire collection in thirty-six chests."

Women Railway Employes Form Business Association

Fifty women, employed in railway offices, met at the Hotel La Salle last night at dinner and organized the Railway Business Women's association. Those in charge of the dinner were Miss Cora Nelson and Miss Lulu Noelle of the Western Trunk Lines association offices and Miss Nancy McKinley of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific.

RADIO PROGRAMS FOR TODAY (Central Standard Time Throughout.)

MORE lively syncopation this afternoon from W-G-N, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE station on the Drake hotel. All of this during the second of this season's syncopation matinées starting at 4:15 and continuing until 5 o'clock. Headliners furnishing all of the rollicking ditties and music during this forty-five minute period include Frieda Leonard and Jewel Barnett, the humming birds; Charlie Correll and Freeman Gosden, in songs and clowning, and Edward Benedict at the Kimball organ, showing what the mighty instrument can do in the way of sizzling jazz.

Between 8 and 9 o'clock this evening W-G-N takes its listeners down to the Blackstone hotel for an hour at the dinner of the Illini Club of Chicago. There'll be talks by Bob Zuppke, the famous football mentor; by George Huff, the university athletic director and college songs and music.

The evening's jazz hour between 10 and 11 o'clock has as its main attractions, Charlie Correll and Freeman Gosden, the radio riots; Cope Harvey and his band of syncopators; Jack Chapman and his Drake hotel dance orchestra, and the jazz kings in the Blackstone hotel dance orchestra.

Skeezix time for the children at 5:30 p. m., is to be conducted by a representative of the National Kindergarten and Elementary college.

DETAILS OF TODAY'S W-G-N PROGRAM.
[Wave length, 370 meters.]

12 noon—Household service.
12:40 to 2:30 p. m.—Luncheon concert by the Drake concert ensemble and the Blackstone string quintet.
3:30 to 4:15 p. m.—Teatime with music by the Marshall Field & Co. tearoom orchestra.
4:15 to 5 p. m.—Syncopation matinee: Frieda Leonard and Jewel Barnett, Correll and Gosden, Edward Benedict at the Kimball organ.
5:30 p. m.—Skeezix time for the children by a representative of the National Kindergarten and Elementary college.
5:57 p. m.—Time signals by the Elgin National Watch Co.
6:30 p. m.—Dinner concert by the Drake concert ensemble and the Blackstone string quintet.
8 to 9 p. m.—Broadcast of Illini club of Chicago dinner.
10 to 11 p. m.—Correll and Gosden, in songs; Cope Harvey and his orchestra; Jack Chapman and his Drake hotel dance orchestra; the Blackstone hotel dance orchestra.

WLIB PROGRAM

Start the evening with jazz!

Tune in at 7 o'clock on WLIB, the Liberty weekly station, for the opening portion of the jazz dinner concert by Fred Hamm and his Liberty orchestra. Assisting Fred and his merry crew during the entire sixty minutes of glorious syncopation will be Frieda Leonard and Jewel Barnett, the pair o' humming birds, whose singing is proving a feature of these jazz concerts, and Charlie Correll and Freeman Gosden, funsters and harmonizers. Then there'll be all of the Hamm soloists; Jess Sutton, the wicked digited pianist, playing his own novelty piano compositions; Dave Bennett, the saxophone king, and Elmer Harvey with his mean banjo.

The other mirthful Hamm hour starts at 9 p. m., with Edward Benedict of Kimball organ fame aiding the orchestra with his own jazzy interpretations. Liberty's final hour between 11 and midnight, features jazz music by Jack Chapman and his Drake hotel dance orchestra and the Blackstone hotel dance orchestra.

DETAILS OF TODAY'S WLIB PROGRAM.
[Wave length, 302.8 meters.]

7 to 8 p. m.—Jazz dinner concert by Fred Hamm and his Liberty orchestra, with Leonard and Barnett and Correll and Gosden.
9 to 10 p. m.—Hamm's jazz revue.

CHANG CAVALRY SMASHES DRIVE OF REBEL ARMY

SHANGHAI, China, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Reports from Japanese sources today say that the "Christian general," Feng Yu-hsiang, has commanded his troops to go to the assistance of Gen. Kuo Sung-ling; who apparently has suffered a setback in his operations against Marshal Chang Tso-lin.

Gen. Kuo, leader of the revolt against Chang, was making rapid progress in his advance into Manchuria, but suddenly had to retreat when Chang Tso-lin's cavalry attacked his forces in the flank and rear.

GIRL CHARGES FRAUD 18 YEARS OLD; FILES SUIT

An accounting of business transactions made by Andrew Lanquist, contractor with offices at 1100 North Clark street, eighteen years ago, was asked in a bill filed yesterday in the Superior court by Miss Margaret Lanquist, 18 years old, 4349 North Ashland boulevard, Lanquist's niece.

Miss Lanquist charged that her father, who was engaged in the contracting business with Lanquist, was defrauded of stock in the company. Her father died in 1908 when Miss Lanquist was an infant and she has been unable to file suit until now because she was not of age, her attorney explained.

As heir to her father's estate, she is entitled to any stock that was rightfully his, the bill said.

"'Tis not in mortals to COMMAND success.
But we'll do more * * * we'll DESERVE it."
—Addison.

THE BRYSON was formally opened September 17th, 1925. It has already created a record in attracting guests of discrimination and refinement.

The ideal of the management has been to create a better place in which to live; a place where the guests actually dwell in the atmosphere of a refined home. Many time-worn conventions of hotel life have been set aside in favor of hospitality and comfort. Quiet elegance and unusual details of service make THE BRYSON unique among hotels.

The rooms are spacious and overlook Lake Michigan. Furnishings of quality invite relaxation and rest. The best transportation in Chicago is available. Ten minutes to the loop on Illinois Central express trains. Surface cars and busses nearby.

There is an excellent dining room in the hotel. Club breakfasts are served at moderate prices. Luncheon fifty cents, evening dinner one dollar

A limited number of single rooms, suites and a few kitchenettes are yet available. The rates are very attractive.

Picture frames and framing

—in our picture department

Frequently beautiful pictures and photographs lose much of their charm through faulty or haphazard framing. Picture framing requires an artist—one who has a highly developed sense of decorative values, and the ability to supply that setting which sets off the subject to its best possible advantage.

Only to such ability is your work entrusted in our picture section. This, together with our extensive selection of beautiful frames, enables us to assure you work of unquestioned finesse—and at a surprisingly reasonable cost. Picture section, sixth floor, State.

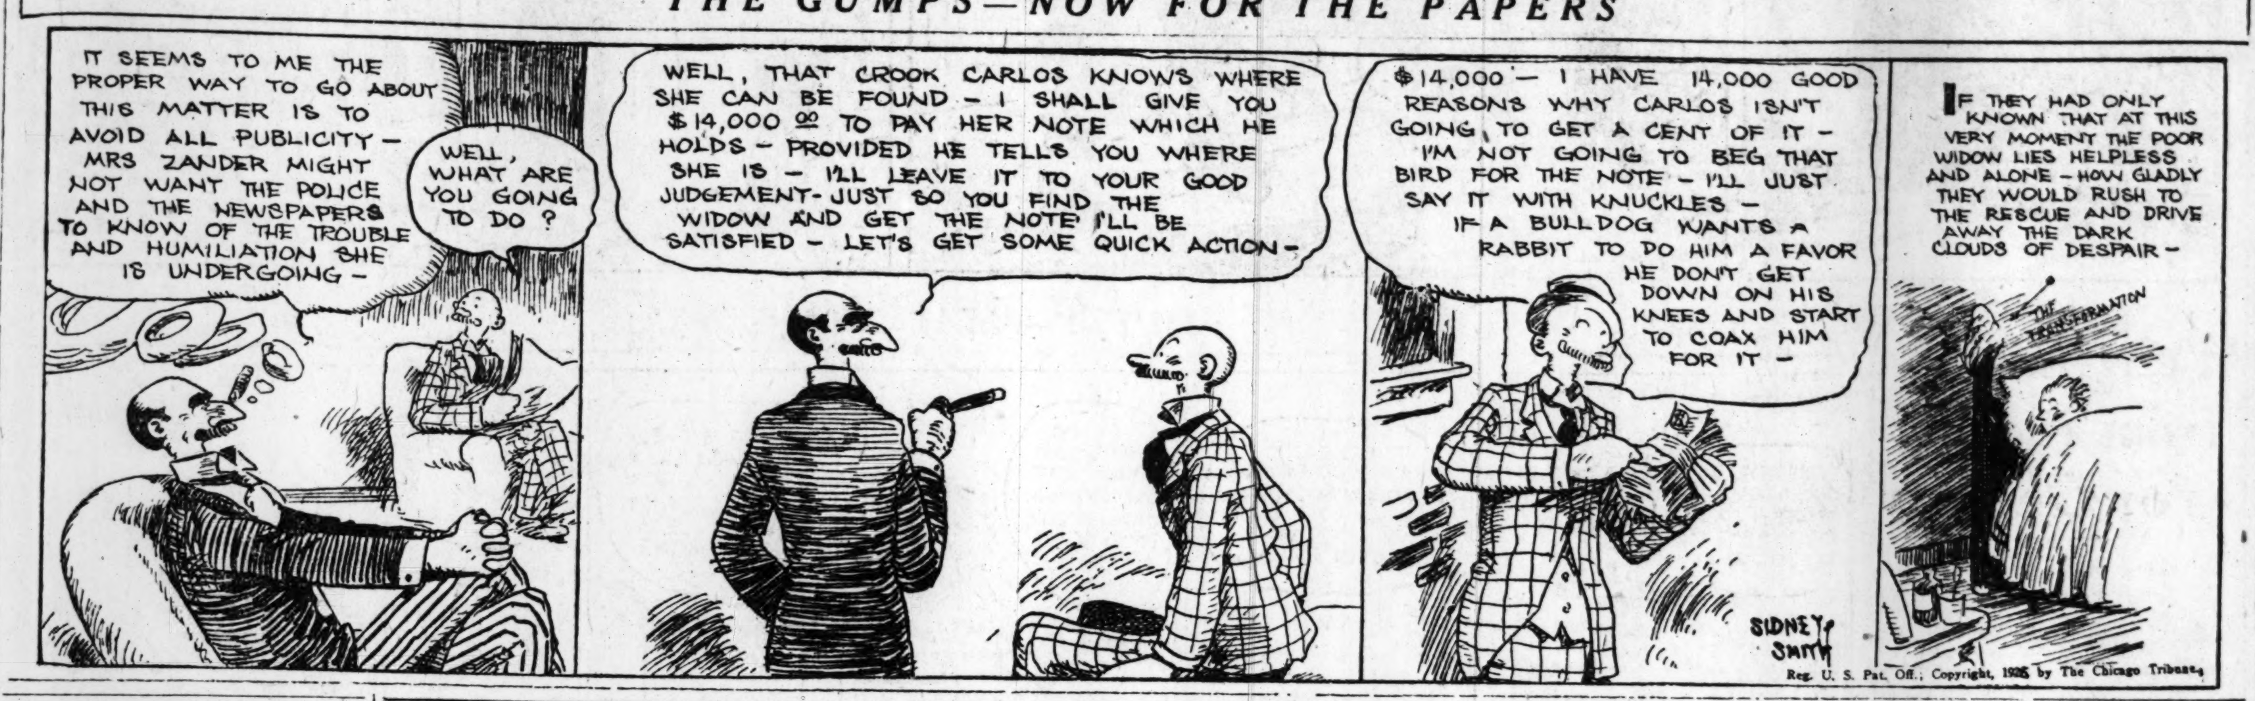
GRID DRILLS CUT TO 2 HOURS BY BIG TEN

THE GUMPS—NOW FOR THE PAPERS



IT SEEMS TO ME THE PROPER WAY TO GO ABOUT THIS MATTER IS TO AVOID ALL PUBLICITY— MRS ZANDER MIGHT NOT WANT THE POLICE AND THE NEWSPAPERS TO KNOW OF THE TROUBLE AND HUMILIATION SHE IS UNDERGOING—WELL, WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO?
WELL, THAT CROOK CARLOS KNOWS WHERE SHE CAN BE FOUND—I SHALL GIVE YOU $14,000 00 TO PAY HER NOTE WHICH HE HOLDS—PROVIDED HE TELLS YOU WHERE SHE IS—I'LL LEAVE IT TO YOUR GOOD JUDGEMENT—JUST SO YOU FIND THE WIDOW AND GET THE NOTE I'LL BE SATISFIED—LET'S GET SOME QUICK ACTION—
$14,000—I HAVE 14,000 GOOD REASONS WHY CARLOS ISN'T GOING TO GET A CENT OF IT—I'M NOT GOING TO BEG THAT BIRD FOR THE NOTE—I'LL JUST SAY IT WITH KNUCKLES—IF A BULLDOG WANTS A RABBIT TO DO HIM A FAVOR HE DON'T GET DOWN ON HIS KNEES AND START TO COAX HIM FOR IT—

BIG 10 COFFERS BULGE AS GRIDS REAP MILLIONS

1,230,000 Pay to See Season's Battles.

GOLDEN HARVEST

Michigan	$390,000
Chicago	348,000
Illinois	335,000
Minnesota	255,000
Ohio	175,000
Iowa	165,000
Wisconsin	165,000
Northwestern	145,000
Indiana	66,000
Purdue	56,000

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

There'll be no semblance of ennui in the region of athletic treasuries of the Big Ten schools during the coming year. In the language of the street, business was rushing during the conference gridiron season recently closed, and in the aggregate a high water mark in both attendance and receipts was established.

Although official figures are lacking in some instances, it is estimated that 1,230,000 people paid in the neighborhood of two and one-quarter million dollars for the privilege of witnessing battles in which at least one conference eleven was engaged.

But in these days when the commercializing of football is receiving such marked attention it might be well to add that all is not velvet, because the expenses of a football season are heavy and what remains goes to support other sports or to pay off stadium indebtedness.

Illinois Tops Big Ten.

Illinois, with its gigantic stadium, topped the record-breaking fall with an official attendance of 379,639 at its games. This includes the 85,000 at Ohio State, which set a national mark. From its battles Illinois has $335,000 with which to meet expenses of the athletic association. The actual increase in attendance over last fall was 31,595, part of which undoubtedly was due to the magnetism of Red Grange. In 1923, the first of the new field, the entire attendance was 202,110.

The Michigan Athletic association topped all the schools financially, although not in attendance, because of the arrangements on the Navy game at Ann Arbor. The Middies, who will entertain the Wolverines next fall, didn't take a slice of the gate, so Michigan retained practically the entire $190,000.

Gophers Collect $510,000.

Minnesota's season was a bell ringer to the extent of 245,000 attendance and gross receipts of $510,000. After cutting up the melon with the schools engaged, the Gopher institution has about $255,000 to keep the wolf of other sport activities from the door. That's approximately $100,000 in excess of any other year, and a jump of 40,000 over the best previous attendance figure.

Chicago stands high financially for the year because many of its games were on a three bucks per ticket basis. The total receipts of battles involving the Maroons were not much under $700,000, leaving the Midway athletic authorities a pot of about $348,000 to keep the nondividend sports going, and to defray gridiron expenses that run almost to the $75,000 mark.

Rain Cuts Down Total.

Northwestern was no mean drawing card with a combined turnout of about 100,000 who paid over a quarter million dollars. Iowa and Wisconsin were practically tied in attendance and receipts. They lost not a few dollars because of the blizzard that raged the day of the Badger-Hawk game. Indiana and Purdue also suffered because of inclement weather, but the season was profitable.

Of the estimated $2,250,000 that the conference teams drew through the gates, about $200,000 became the property of outside schools. Penn profited by about $125,000 from its fights with Chicago and Illinois. Notre Dame took $65,000 for its appearance at Minneapolis where 40,000 turned out.

Jimmy Eager New Pilot of De La Salle Eleven

Eager finished his second season this year and was unanimously accorded all-star recognition by the press. Gold footballs, emblematic of the Catholic high school championship of the middle west, were presented to the squad.

BIG TEN TEAM

The all conference (Big Ten) football team will be published in The Tribune tomorrow. You'll want it, for it's

EASTERN CHAMPS INVADE CITY FOR PRO TITLE TILT

Cardinal Eleven Prepares Aerial Attack.

Led by a phalanx of former all-American gridiron stars, the Pottsville, Pa., eleven with 200 fans will arrive in Chicago today for the title game with the Cardinals at Sox park tomorrow afternoon. The game promises to be one of the best in the pro loop, with Pottsville holding supremacy in the east, and the Cards bossing the western circuit. Advance seat sale indicates a record breaking crowd.

Cardinals Drill Overtime.

Manager Chris O'Brien had his warriors working overtime yesterday in preparation for the clash, with forward passing playing an important part. Red Dunn, former Marquette star, was hurling aerials from 20 to 50 yards into waiting arms of Eddie Anderson, Mahoney, or Paddy Driscoll, and if the Pennsylvanians hope to beat the Cards they must stop this dangerous style of play.

Pottsville boasts one of the heaviest teams in the league. Included in the lineup is Hathoway, former Indiana captain, who tips the scales at 240 pounds. All-American stars who will flash tomorrow include Berry of Lafayette, Herb Stein of Pittsburgh, Russ Stein of W. and J., and French of the Army.

Champion Is Challenger.

Manager O'Brien scheduled the game as a post-season affair to settle without question the championship of the pro league. The Cards could hang up their moleskins and quit as champions, but Driscoll's men refuse to quit until they have had a chance at the eastern champions. A heavy guarantee was required from the Pottsville champions, but O'Brien believes Chicagoans will support football of the variety assured tomorrow, and it's one of the few times in athletic history when a champion has turned challenger.

'Army' Plays 'Navy' Today for Grid Title

Hoof and horn clash again this afternoon, when the Army mule and the Navy goat will fight it out on Soldiers' field for the service championship of the middle west. Fort Sheridan and Great Lakes posts will be the participants in this western "Army-Navy" game. The contest will start at 2:15.

Both teams took light workouts yesterday and each is permeated with the grim confidence, which gives a coach secret joy on the eve of a big game. The Fort Sheridan huskies, coached by Capt. Haskins and Bielson, probably will depend on a line plunging offensive, built around Wurst and Taylor, to rub the goat's nose in the mud. Great Lakes also has built its scoring hopes chiefly on plunges, but more than occasionally turns loose a masked pass. The gobs are coached by Lieut. Schofield, former Yale star.

Each post will send drill teams, which will give an exhibition during the midgame rest, while nearly every man from both posts who can get leave will be in the stands. Proceeds of the game will go to the service athletic funds. Tickets will be on sale at the gate. The probable lineup:

FT. SHERIDAN.		GREAT LAKES.
Butler	L. E.	Scott
Gregory	L. T.	Alyward [Capt.]
Croske	L. G.	Pierre
Moore	C	Clark
Engels	R. G.	Henderson
Kelly	R. T.	Pojawis
Hill [Capt.]	R. E.	Hermanson
Taylor	Q. B.	Berndt
O'Brien	L. H.	Schonbacher
Steuerwald	R. H.	Gross
Wurst	F. B.	Wingfield

SKULL PRACTICE IN CARDINALS' RENDEZVOUS

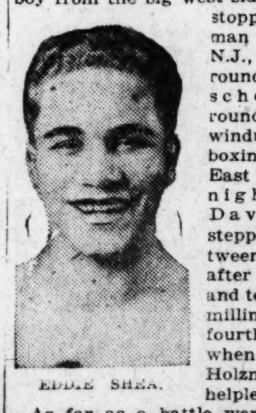
Shea Batters HolzmanDown in Four Rounds

Eddie Shea, the rugged little Italian boy from the big west side of Chicago, stopped Al Holzman of Trenton, N.J., in the fourth round of their scheduled ten round contest, the windup of the boxing show at East Chicago last night. Referee Dave Barry stepped in between the rivals after two minutes and ten seconds of milling in that fourth session, when Shea had Holzman in a helpless condition.



EDDIE SHEA.

As far as a battle went, Shea had the best of the argument from the first tap of the bell. But Holzman was game and fought back as best as he could. Shea is the rapid fire style of fighter who stepped in and nailed his opponent with series of right and left hooks and it was these punches which had Holzman weaving and dazed and had the Trenton boxer's face blood smeared and puffed from the second round until the referee stopped the mill.

Semi-Windup Fast Bout.

But the best bout on the card came in the semi-windup and it was the loser, not the victor, who made the greatest showing and got the most cheers. A young fellow named Merle Alte of Indianapolis, Ind., came to East Chicago on twenty-four hours' notice and subbed for Connie Curry, who was slated to box Ray Rychell of Chicago.

And although Alte was beaten by a shade margin, he gave Rychell the toughest battle of Ray's career and gained a host of friends, all of whom are willing to bet their bank rolls that the Indianapolis boy will be an easy winner over Ray in their next meeting when the Hoosier boy gets a chance to train for the bout.

Condition Slows Alte.

Alte put up the gamest showing of any boxer in the East Chicago ring this season. He stood toe to toe with Rychell and slugged with him; he stood off and boxed, and more than matched the Chicagoan, but it was condition that told the tale, and Rychell was in better shape and going the stronger in the final rounds.

About 1,500 fans paid $2,500 to see the show.

MAKING SPORT

Official baseball statistics accredit Joe Sewell of the Cleveland Indians with striking out only four times in 155 games last season. Eddie Collins struck out eight times in 118 games.

"Chuck" Kassell, captain elect of the Illinois football team, and a friend were chatting in the great end's fraternity house at Urbana. The front door opened and a youth six feet one in height and 200 pounds in weight entered. Said the friend: "That fellow ought to make a whale of a football player." Said Kassell: "Heck, no. He's from Indiana."

College players make good in pro football from the kickoff. In baseball they're rookies. Connie Mack had a collegian catching part of a game in St. Louis. Rommel was pitching. St. Louis had a couple of runners on base. Before Rommel pitched a ball he whirled and caught a runner. The college boy got wonderfully enthused over the play. He dashed to the pitching slab and offered his hand in congratulations. As he did so Ken Williams stole home.

More than a million fans paid $2,250,000 to see Big Ten football teams play. The cry that college sport reaching such proportions needs protection from pro grid competition resembles a move to keep a prize fighter out of a croquet game unless he's properly padded.

Missouri Valley conference chiefs bar Ed Weir from playing on the coast—for charity. Did any one ever hear of a professor being barred from making a speech—for cash?

Knute Rockne, now attending the coaches' meeting, is accredited with a keen sense of the dramatic. In the first half of the Northwestern-Notre Dame game Northwestern outplayed Notre Dame. When the half ended the Purple team led, 10 to 0. Fans have wondered what Rockne said that sent his team charging on the field in the second half to sweep Northwestern before it and win, 13 to 10. This is what Knute did: He walked into the dressing room and said: "I'm through with you!" Then he walked out.

Good Fellows Rush Cheer to Chicago's Poor

Men, women and children from every walk of life are uniting this year to make Chicago's poor children happy at Christmas time. The appeal sent out by the Good Fellow bureau of THE TRIBUNE already has drawn a fine response.

Yesterday a representative of the Chicago Wet Wash Drivers club, 2901 Montrose avenue, appeared at the Good Fellow bureau and asked for the names and addresses of 34 poor families.

Sororities Join Club.

The Alpha Delta Tau sorority, 6434 South Honoré street, has asked for the names of two families, each with four or five children. The girls of the sorority want to furnish clothes, candy, and toys to the poor kids. The Zeta Gamma Phi sorority, 2535 Foster avenue, will care for one family.

Workers in department No. 46 of Marshall Field's wholesale house will care for 2 families. The "Willing Workers," 4726 North Hermitage avenue, will care for 5 large families. The North Shore Benevolent society, 6003 Winthrop avenue, will care for 7 families. The C. C. G. club, composed of 14 year old girls, will be Santa Claus to some poor widow who has two children.

The girls of the American Steel and Wire company's office will make two families happy Christmas eve. The children of Room 3 of the Esmond school, Morgan Park, want to make some poor family happy.

Doll for Rose of Taylor Street.

Schipfer Brothers, Sigourney, Ia., sent a doll for "Rose of Taylor street," who was reported in last Monday's TRIBUNE. (The doll's head was broken in transit.)

Miss Lenora Riggs, Good Fellow chairman of a club of 16 girl employés in the policy file department of the office of James S. Kemper & Co., will take Christmas presents, toys, and candy to the largest family on THE TRIBUNE list.

The Chicago Patrolmen's Social Athletic and Efficiency club, 68 West Washington street, handed the Good Fellow department a check for $25 yesterday.

And so it goes. Those who have already prepared to aid Santa Claus are to be congratulated. THE TRIBUNE thanks them. The poor people of this city thank them. But a great many more Good Fellows are needed.

Apply for families at the Good Fellow bureau, 11 South Dearborn street. Or clip the coupon and mail it in to THE TRIBUNE. If you can do none of these, telephone to the Good Fellow department. But do it now.

Red Honest, Not Altruistic; It's Gate Receipts He Wants

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 4.—[Special.]—The Jack Dempsey of the football business arrived in the east today, accompanied by his Jack Kearns and his Teddy Hayes.

C. C. PYLE.

Red Grange worked out at Shibe park, the home of the Athletics, and as he kicked up the spray, splashing through the casual water of the swampy outfield, where he will play football to a certain extent tomorrow, C. C. Pyle, his manager, kept an eye on him in the wet-hen manner once affected by Jack Kearns while holding the watch on Dempsey's training exercises.

Doc Cooley, his deputy manager, a young man of collegiate aspect, wearing a coat made from the rinds of deceased raccoons, stood around in the manner of Teddy Hayes, a man who raised standing around from an idle pursuit to a mysterious art.

Vast Seating Gets Glad Eye.

The Dempsey of the football business and his supporting cast of the Chicago Bears turned loose a roving and appreciative eye on the seating capacity of Shibe park and commented with pleasure on the amplitude of the same. Mr. Pyle said the bout with the Frankford Yellow Jackets, the local professional team, was a sure sell-out, which would mean a crowd of 40,000 people at prices ranging downward from $2.50.

When Red Grange was playing football for the University of Illinois, he may never have noticed whether the stadiums in which he played would hold 4,000 or 40,000. But Red Grange now is playing for Red Grange and manager and deputy manager.

The football business, though an infant industry, has adopted the business essentials of the prize fight business with great celerity and with such thoroughness that Mr. Pyle even went so far as to tell how good Red is to his folks. He neglected to say his champion was just a great big, good natured boy.

He's Honest, Not Altruistic.

But he is candid about the relationship between him and Red Grange, and about their object in the football business, which is to make as much money as possible for Grange, not forgetting C. C. Pyle. This is something in their favor at an hour when some of the altruists concerned in the pro football business are already beginning to talk about the benefits of the professional game as an athletic example to American youth.

Mr. Pyle, the manager, and Doc Cooley, the deputy manager, have no interest in the business affairs of the Chicago Bears, beyond seeing that Grange gets his share of the gate receipts. Mr. Pyle is concerned with the big affairs of getting the money and Doc Cooley with seeing that none of it gets away from them at the turnstiles.

Grange Gets Biggest Cut.

"It's not true that we are cutting our share down the middle," Mr. Pyle said. "Red gets more than I do."

Grange has changed since he played football for nothing at the University of Illinois. He will play in seven games in seven cities in the next nine days, but he will be no trembling eager youth as he was.

"Seven games in a lot in nine days," said some one to Grange as he fielded punts this afternoon.

"Perhaps," said Red, "but I'll just play a little bit—a minimum of 25 minutes in each game."

BEAR-GIANT SEATS TODAY

BOX seats and grand stand reserved seats for the Bear-New York Giant game a week from tomorrow will be placed on sale at 9 o'clock this morning at the Cubs' park. They will go on sale at Spalding's on Monday.

Englewood in East to Meet Pennsy Champ

Lock Haven, Pa., Dec. 4.—[Special.]—The strong Englewood High school football team of Chicago arrived here this afternoon for tomorrow's game with Lock Haven, Pennsylvania scholastic champion for the last two seasons. Lock Haven students were at the station to welcome the westerners.

Despite recent rains, the field will be in good shape. The gridiron was covered with straw several days ago.

Singer Will Start.

Englewood worked out on Hanson field and after the drill Coach Palmer announced that his squad is fit for the big intersectional scrap. Singer, star back, whose condition has worried supporters of the Chicago eleven, is in shape to start.

Englewood will have a weight advantage of ten pounds to the man, but Lock Haven has taught other heavier rivals this season that weight is the least of advantages in an important grid battle. Like Notre Dame, whose system it employs, Lock Haven banks on speed and deception.

Watch Englewood Stars.

The Pennsylvanians have been instructed to watch Richardson and Bradley particularly close, as they are the big threats of the Englewood attack.

TRIBUNE DECISIONS

At East Chicago—Eddie Shea stopped Al Holzman [4]. Roy Rychell beat Merle Alte [10]; Mickey Kelley and Marty Walsh boxed a draw [6]; Eddie Raynor beat Steve Adams [6]; Patsy Boyle beat Tommy O'Neil [4]; Al Greenfield beat Dave Fields [4]; Jim Savage beat Bill Hart [4].

EAST FROWNS ON CHICAGO BID FOR ARMY-NAVY GAME

Annapolis, Md., Dec. 4.—[Special.]—Representatives of Chicago in congress are making an effort to have that city designated as the place of playing the next football game between the teams of the naval and military academies. They are using as their chief argument the publicity value to the services of such a game in the metropolis of the midwest and are putting their claims strongly before the departments.

It is believed here, however, that the selection would be unpopular in the services as only a limited number could attend.

RULING COVERS WORK ON FIELD, BLACKBOARD

Observance Is Up to Honor of Coaches.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

The most important business transacted at the annual Western conference meeting at the Auditorium hotel yesterday was the action of the athletic directors in permitting only two hours of football practice each day.

JACK BENEFIELS.

The Big Ten chiefs asserted that the rule is not meant to bar players who care to engage in more than two hours of work, but organized practice of any kind cannot extend for a longer period. This also includes blackboard work at night and the coaches are placed on their honor not to exceed this period. The action was taken because of complaints from certain quarters that the practice drills were too long and the players too fatigued to study after the strenuous workouts.

Hits Green Squads.

The new rule will not affect the coaches who have smart and experienced players at their command. It will handicap the teachers who have inexperienced warriors and as a result the team play of such elevens will be ragged for the first half of the season, at least.

The directors by unanimous vote agreed to retain the present method of appointing officials for football games. This important task will be in the hands of the committee which has functioned so satisfactorily the last two years. This committee is composed of Prof. Ralph W. Aigler of Michigan, Prof. O. F. Long of Northwestern and Maj. John L. Griffith, the Big Ten athletic commissioner.

Movies Barred in Training.

The directors also agreed that motion pictures of football games shall not be used for scouting purposes. This practice has been growing in recent years, but yesterday's ruling curbs a growing evil.

The wrestling, fencing and gymnastic championship meets were awarded to Purdue and will be held on March 12 and 13. George Huff of Illinois presided at the meeting and Z. R. Clevenger of Indiana acted as secretary.

Jack Benefiels, graduate manager of athletics at Oregon, who is entrusted with the responsibility to select an opponent for Washington, the Pacific coast conference champion, for the Tournament of Roses intersectional game at Pasadena, Cal., on New Year's day, arrived in Chicago yesterday and held a conference with C. D. Shaughnessy, coach of Tulane. At a time when prospects looked brightest for the struggle, word was received from officials of the New Orleans university that the game would not be sanctioned.

Alabama Is Invited.

Benefiels then got in communication with Wallace Wade, football coach of Alabama, the champion of the southern conference. Word was received late last night that the Alabama faculty had granted permission for the game.

If Alabama refuses the invitation, either West Virginia or Pittsburgh are the only teams of national prominence left. It is understood Colgate is out of consideration.

The faculty committee went into session last night and the meeting will be continued today. The professors could not predict the points of interest to be discussed but it was generally agreed that the professional football question will be dwelt upon extensively.

Will Arrange Schedules Today.

Today will be the most important session of the annual meeting. Baseball, track and field and swimming slates will be arranged this morning. The athletic directors will hold another meeting before noon and at 2 o'clock the football coaches will gather to fix the 1926 gridiron slates.

Rumors flew thick and fast around the lobby of the hotel yesterday. One has it that the Minnesota eleven will clash with Pittsburgh in the Smoky City and another that the Gophers will play Indiana.

Coach Yost of Michigan has decided upon seven games. The Wolverines will meet the Navy, Ohio State, and Minnesota on foreign fields, while Illinois, Northwestern, Wisconsin, and Michigan State will be played on Ferry field.

Carnegie Looks for Games.

Judge Walter P. Steffen, successful coach at Carnegie Tech, and Manager Clarence Overand were around the hotel to arrange one or more games with Big Ten elevens in 1927. Coach Steffen is particularly anxious to meet Ohio State.

Coach Rockne of Notre Dame is well set on his schedule. The Gold and Blue eleven will meet Minnesota, Northwestern, Carnegie Tech, Penn State, Georgia Tech, and the Army. Rockne may take on two more games.

When the football coaches meet this afternoon, the advisability of having covers for football fields will be discussed. Representatives from two rubber concerns are in Chicago to demonstrate covers which can be removed from the playing fields in ten minutes and placed over the gridirons in the same length of time.

McNAMARA TEAM TIES BELGIANS IN N. Y. BIKE RACE

REGGIE McNAMARA.

New York, Dec. 4.—[Special.]—Reggie McNamara, 36 year old veteran, and Franco Georgetti, American-Italian team in the 39th international six day bicycle race at the new Madison Square Garden, ended tonight's sprints tied with Gerard Debaets and Alphonse Goosens, Belgian pair, for the lead.

The two teams are even in mileage and points, each total being 186. They are two laps ahead of Fred Spencer and Bobby Walthour, who are one lap ahead of Horan and Horder. Kockler and Stockholm rank second among the three teams in the fourth division, which is another lap back.

In a series of jams, which started late tonight, when Charley Winter stabbed for a lap, ten laps were gained without affecting the positions of the leaders.

COLLEGE HOCKEY LEAGUE PLANNED FOR MIDDLE WEST

Minneapolis, Minn., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Plans for organization of a large intercollegiate hockey league, comprising all the middle western states where weather permits playing the game, and including junior colleges, normal schools, state colleges, and universities, were announced tonight by Emil Iverson, coach of the Minnesota hockey sextette.

Sponsored by the Minnesota athletic department, the league, if plans materialize, will comprise institutions in Minnesota, Montana, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, North and South Dakota, Wisconsin, and Iowa. Invitations to attend an organization meeting at Minneapolis or some other conveniently located city soon, have been sent by Coach Iverson to more than 50 schools.

If the league is organized, efforts will be made to have United States Olympic officials allow college teams in the league, which is to be known as the Northern Intercollegiate Hockey association, qualify as America's entry for international puch chasing honors.

Among the institutions which have been invited to join are Wisconsin, Michigan, Marquette, Notre Dame, Iowa, Northwestern, Michigan State, Wisconsin Normal, North Dakota university, North Dakota Wesleyan, Eveleth, Hibbing, and Virginia Junior colleges, St. Thomas, Carleton, MacAlester, and other state colleges in Minnesota and Wisconsin.

AGNES GERAGHTY SWIMS TO HER 33D WORLD MARK

Cleveland, Dec. 4.—(AP)—In an exhibition against time, Agnes Geraghty, New York swimmer, holder of thirty-two world's records, added another to her string tonight when she did the 50 yard breast stroke in 37 2-5 seconds in the Cleveland Athletic club 60-foot tank.

Her time is two seconds faster than the mark held by Anna Baum, Bridgeport, Conn.

Miss Geraghty accomplished her feat a few minutes after swimming what was believed to be the distance in 34 4-5 seconds. A discrepancy was discovered, however, when officials measured the distance.

Kieckhefer and Reiselt Again Split Cue Games

Augie Kieckhefer and Otto Reiselt, for the second time in two days, divided a pair of National Three Cushion Billiard league games at Kieckhefer's rooms yesterday. Reiselt, who represents Philadelphia, won the afternoon game, 50 to 24, in 37 innings, while Kieckhefer triumphed at night, 50 to 43, in 41 innings. Kieckhefer's seven was the day's top run.

Fred Fulton Needs Work; Wants to Be Cop Again

Minneapolis, Minn., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Fred Fulton, plasterer-pugilist, who once aspired to the heavyweight boxing championship of the world, today applied for reinstatement as a patrolman for the city police department. His application was referred to the civil service commission. He was a member of the local force several years ago.

DAVIDSON WINS AT BILLIARDS.

Davidson defeated Lippitt, 36 to 17, in the three cushion billiard play at Foley's hall last night. The match went 77 innings. Davidson had a high run of 4 and Lippitt 3.

Weir Barred from Playing for Charity

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Athletic officials of the Missouri Valley conference wrestled all day with football dates for 1926 and tonight only three of the conference teams had completed their schedules and these three had an open date apiece for some nonconference opponent. Schedules in other sports were also taken up and the basketball schedule for the winter was practically completed.

ED WEIR. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

The faculty representatives decided not to approve the invitation extended to Capt. Ed. Weir of the Nebraska team to participate in a charity benefit game at San Francisco on Christmas day. Weir left the decision to the board of professors and they voted that his amateur standing in the valley conference would be adversely affected even though the players accepted nothing more than expenses. Weir, all-American tackle, is one of the mainstays of the Nebraska track team, in the hurdles, although his football career at Nebraska is ended.

While the athletic directors matched football dates, the football coaches kept the wires hot to Chicago, negotiating for Big Ten games. Nebraska and Missouri each hopes to land a Big Ten opponent for 1926. The conference schedule as arranged so far, is as follows:

Oct. 2, Tulane and Missouri.

Oct. 9, Oklahoma Aggies at Kansas; Missouri at Nebraska; Arkansas at Oklahoma.

Oct. 16, Oklahoma at Drake; Kansas at Kansas Aggies.

Oct. 23, Missouri at Iowa State; Kansas Aggies at Oklahoma; Nebraska at Kansas.

Oct. 30, Kansas at Drake; Oklahoma at Washington.

Nov. 6, Grinnell at Kansas; Missouri at Oklahoma.

Nov. 13, Oklahoma at Kansas; Washington at Missouri.

Nov. 20, S. M. U. at Oklahoma; Kansas at Missouri.

Nov. 25 [Thanksgiving day], Oklahoma at Oklahoma Aggies.

Illini Club to Dine Grid Squad Tonight

Ralph "Slooney" Chapman, former all-American tackle, will preside at the annual football dinner at the Illini Club of Chicago at the Blackstone hotel this evening. The speakers will include Coach Bob Zuppke, George Huff, athletic director; President Kinley, and Chuck Kassell, the captain elect of next year's team. Avery Brundage is chairman of the committee in charge of the dinner. The members of the 1925 Illinois football team are the invited guests of the club for the evening.

Illinois Senior Golfers to Name Officers, Dec. 8

BY MORROW KRUM.

The grandest and happiest organization of golfers in the world, bar none, is the Illinois Seniors' Golf association. As may be suspected from the name of the organization, it is necessary to have a few years of this life to boast of if you are applying for membership. That and the all around qualification of being a gentleman and a good fellow is about all the recommendation required, unless it be the ability to at least swing a golf club.

Well, these gentlemen, the Illinois Seniors, are to have their annual meeting in the Chicago Athletic club on Dec. 8 and there will be an election of officers. The ballots issued do not contain the name of Fred W. Hill, Skokie, whose goodfellowship and energy has done much to make the club a success. Mr. Hill is retiring—he's going to go on with the association but he'll play more and better and louder and funnier golf, he hopes, when relieved of the duties of secretary.

The officers proposed are Lewis W. Pitcher, president; Samuel Hastings, first vice president; Jay T. Hunter, second vice president; Sam Gilbert, secretary, and W. V. O'Brien, treasurer. Directors: John W. Wood, Irving T. Hartz, Clark L. Pool, Sherman C. Spitzer, Frank S. Lombard, David M. Yates, Lucius B. Sherman, Winthrop Ingersoll, Scott Durand, Ward W. Willits, William E. Stone, Andrew H. Anderson, Charles H. Thorne, A. W. Newton, and James H. Douglas.

A good list. There is no doubt that the Illinois seniors will have more fun on the links in the future than they have in the past.

Members of the Jackson Park Golf club re-elected C. Bond Lloyd as president, J. A. Pratt and A. J. Hageman as vice presidents, and J. A. McKeown as secretary. W. M. Chaffee was elected treasurer, to succeed K. Llewellyn. Among the directors chosen were E. Whetstone, J. F. Price, R. W. Martin, A. J. Hageman, S. L. Scott, and J. C. Russell.

Ira S. Copeland, president of the Lincoln Park Golf club, has been re-elected for a second term. Other officers elected were William Fox, first vice president; James Curry, second vice president; Emil Rennord, secretary, and Albert Clary, treasurer.

Peoria, it is said, desires to get on the big golf map next year. According to reports, the Country club there, at the annual meeting of the Western Golf association next Saturday night, will bid for either the western amateur or open meet.

Chester Horton invites the public to witness a moving picture exhibition of famous golfers this afternoon in his school at 120 West Adams street. The reel will start at 2 o'clock. Admission is free.

In the Wake of the News

EARLIER CHICAGO.

DEAR WAKE: In early days the Chicago river was a clear stream and a choice fishing ground. "Citizens of Chicago who lived here upward of twenty years ago," says the 1872 report of the board of public works to the Chicago city council, "remember well that the north branch, previous to the erection of any distilleries on it, was a clear stream with a gravelly bottom and abounded in fish.

"Soon after the distilleries, which were followed by a packing house and a tannery, were erected, the north branch became in character, as to offensiveness both to sight and smell, what it has been with slight variation ever since, except during a part of the war when the distilleries were stopped and a very marked improvement took place in the stream."

Charles Cleaver, who came to Chicago in 1833, in some early reminiscences published in Fergus' Historical Series, gives an interesting account of a fishing excursion on the north branch soon after he arrived. There was no difficulty in seeing fish at the bottom of the river, he said, even in six feet of water.

"In those times," he added, "it was a clear, sparkling stream, with quite a strong current, especially near the dam, five miles from the city, over which the water rippled and ran, making a soft, soothing, murmuring sound heard on that still winter's night for a considerable distance before we reached it." F. R.

I read with interest Charles E. Kremer's story of the first race of the Chicago Yacht club in 1875. Kremer then was an admiralty lawyer of standing as well as secretary of the C. Y. C. I also remember the races between the Canadian yacht Ina and the Chicago yacht Frolic, and also the fathers of Chicago yachting, John Prindiville, Tim Bradley, and Commodore Jim Wilson, after whom Wilson avenue was named. H. F. D.

Charles H. Day, press agent for Adam Forepaugh, was responsible for the famous $10,000 Beauty contest and the prearranged selection of the stage beauty, Louise Montague, who appeared with the Adam Forepaugh circus that season, and not with P. T. Barnum's circus, as once stated. Walter.

For New Balls.

Dear Wake: In baseball a new ball is put into play whenever the old ball becomes unfit for use. A muddy, rain soaked, soggy football is unfit for use. It cannot be kicked well or handled well.

The official football is tanned for resiliency and is not waterproofed. I propose the rules be changed so that in bad weather a new ball be put into play at the beginning of each quarter or at the discretion of the officials. Hal H.

Still—Something used on the quiet. J. M. N.

It's Nicer Coming Home.

It's nice to leave the city with its bustle and its noise,
It's nice to follow trains, in short, to roam;
To leave the crowds of people who are naught but Nature's toys
Is nice, yes! But it's nicer coming home!

To ride through open spaces where the skies are really blue,
To vision clouds resembling bubbling foam,
To see the country's vastness is wonderful, it's true,
But we all know that it's nicer here at home!

Purple mountains may enthrall you with their majesty sublime,
Gorgeous sunsets, lovely as a wondrous poem,
Moonlight on the river—something different all the time—
But even so—it's nicer coming home!

Edith the First.

Red Grange at Ohio State.

Here's a little sidelight on Red Grange. At the time of the Ohio State game Red already had decided to enter pro football and had only delayed his announcement until the end of his collegiate career.

From an Illinois source so close to the throne that it may be regarded as semi-official we have this comment on Red and his pro venture: "Down here we figure Red, in the long run, has acted mighty white about everything. Undoubtedly he could have stayed out of school the whole fall and made a big bunch of money for himself. In the Ohio game he did not carry the ball enough, because he was for giving the other fellows a chance at the honors, although it would have been to his benefit to have made a brilliant individual showing."

Chestnuts!

Listen, Harve; I wonder how come in all these here western stories the heroine always has a "wealth of chestnut hair."

Choice of Officials.

The Wake hopes no change will be made in the manner of appointing Big Ten football officials, a duty now intrusted to a committee rather than to the coaches.

Coaches are privileged to name men they would like to work and officials are privileged to tell where they would like to work. Under the present system, however, no official owes a debt to any coach for his appointment. He is, in theory, absolutely unbiased. Moreover, he is furnished a blank to send back to the appointing committee telling of his treatment, with special space reserved for comment on the sportsmanship of players, coaches, and rooters of the opposing teams.

Tuberculosis in Chickens Menace to the Consumer

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

While Chicago is fighting for healthy cows sanitary experts might as well add chickens and hogs to the list, for economic reasons, if not for the sake of the farmers' city customers. Where tuberculosis is found in the dairy herd it is likely to be found in chickens and hogs on the same farm.

Milk that comes into Chicago from the highly infected herds of the territory immediately surrounding the city is supposed to be made reasonably safe by pasteurization; hogs that come from that same district are inspected by skilled men at the Union stockyards, but many of the chickens that come from that zone are infected with tuberculosis and are sold alive or undrawn without being inspected.

So far market experts have been unable to work out a satisfactory system of killing, dressing, and inspecting fowl for the ultimate consumer. While the birds are examined physically by skilled city inspectors, the greatest means of protection under our present system of marketing seems to be in the hands of the flock owners. Poultrymen must protect themselves as well as the city consumers of birds by producing fowl free from tuberculosis, just as dairymen are now being asked to produce milk with cows that are healthy.

Bob White Bomb Squad Keeps Off Nature's Durkins

BY BOB BECKER.

Any one wishing to get acquainted with nature's original bomb squad should visit the quail country and locate a covey of Bob Whites "bedded down" for the night. These birds can be considered the original bombing gang, as they roost in protecting cover, with heads out, to form an explosive circle, that goes off with a roar when danger threatens the whole flock.

This roosting in a circle custom of the Bob Whites is a safety first measure. There are a number of small "varmints" including weasels and skunks, that have no objections at all to dining on sweet juicy quail meat. Against these knife and gunmen of nature's night life the quail have had to perfect a defense. The bomb formation is the answer.

The clever Bob Whites will fly to their favorite bit of cover along toward night. Then each member of the covey forms a part of a living circle with all heads out. Apparently the Bob Whites can sleep with the proverbial one eye open. For let danger approach the quail hangout, and zowie! the feathered bomb explodes, quick to take action when the night watch gives the alarm.

Johnny Dundee Offers to Box Bretonnel in Paris

New York, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The New York state athletic commission today approved and forwarded to Paris promoters an offer by Johnny Dundee, former featherweight champion, to box Fred Bretonnel in the French capital for a purse representing 33 1-3 per cent of the gross receipts, plus training expenses and two round trip tickets to Europe. Dundee will be restored to good standing here if the offer is refused.

PESEK FLOPS VELCOFF.

After 32 minutes of nip and tuck wrestling in the main bout at the Star and Garter show last night, John Pesek picked up Nick Velcoff, his opponent, with a crotch and half nelson and hurled him to the mat with such force that Velcoff was unable to continue. In the opening match Alex Nelson pinned George Gieboss in 23:30 with a headlock. Carl Bullo and Tony Hatches wrestled 25 minutes to a draw.

TRAFFIC SIGNAL FOR PEDESTRIAN URGED FOR CITY

BANK SHARES IN CHICAGO SURPASS N. Y. IN YIELD

BY O. A. MATHER.

The fact that Chicago has become the chief banking center of the middle west and ranks second only to New York in financial importance is beginning to be appreciated by investors. Within the last few months the shares of the principal Chicago banks have advanced sharply and continuously.

It would seem, however, that investors have not fully appreciated the worth of Chicago bank shares when their market prices are compared with those of the shares of New York banks. Chicago bank shares now range from $125 to $605 each and the average yield, based on dividends paid and market prices, is between 3½ and 4 per cent. The market prices for shares of state banks in New York City range from $200 to $2,350 a share, and the average yield is between 2½ and 3 per cent. Chicago bank stockholders, therefore, derive a considerably better return than New York bank shareholders.

New Dividend Reports.

Yesterday brought additional dividend announcements. The Mathieson Alkali Works resumed common stock dividends after a lapse of seven years. The stock was placed on a $4 annual basis by declaration of a quarterly payment of $1. It was stated earnings this year will be the largest in the company's history.

The Gulf, Mobile and Northern railroad declared a dividend of 4¼ per cent on preferred stock, with the provision that three-fourths of 1 per cent should be regarded as an adjustment of the 6 per cent rate due Jan. 1, 1926. This payment will reduce accumulated dividends to 20 per cent. The Mountain Producers corporation declared an extra dividend of 40 cents, compared with 30 cents extra paid in the two previous quarters. The Safety Cable company declared an initial quarterly dividend of $1, placing the stock on a $4 annual basis.

Extra Bank Payments.

Two Chicago banks announced extra dividends as follows: Central Manufacturing District, 2½ per cent; Jefferson Park National, 4 per cent. The Fidelity Trust and Savings bank placed its stock on a 6 per cent basis by declaring a quarterly divided of $1.50. Other extra dividends were: Royal Baking Powder, 2 per cent on common stock; Electric Auto-Lite, 50 cents; American Gas and Electric, one-fiftieth of a share on common stock; Manufacturers Trust, 1 per cent.

Stockholders of Mack Trucks, Inc., authorized increasing the common stock from 500,000 to 1,000,000 shares, and part of the additional stock will be used to pay a 20 per cent stock dividend declared last month. The Universal Pipe and Radiator company is offering common stockholders additional stock at $25 in the ratio of one new share for each three shares held on Dec. 12.

Trade Reports Gratifying.

General news of business and industry continues constructive. Week-end reports of the mercantile agencies draw a highly gratifying picture, with a color of conservative trade notwithstanding possibly unprecedented purchases by the American public, a condition, the reviews inform us, "shared in by almost every section of the country." The matter of fact remark that wholesale business largely consists of "repeat and filling in orders," due to "the conservative buying policy" of earlier months and the consequent "absence of surplus stocks," shows why nobody is worrying about general trade.

The federal bureau of mines reported a net decrease of 2,037,785 barrels in petroleum inventories in October, compared with a net increase of 1,120,241 barrels in September. The Standard Oil Company of Louisiana and the Gulf Refining company advanced gasoline prices from 1 cent to 1½ cents a gallon.

RAILROAD NOTES

W. J. Harahan, president of the Chesapeake & Ohio, opposed before the interstate commerce commission yesterday the leasing of the Virginian railroad to the Norfolk & Western, arguing that the Nickel Plate group, among which is the Chesapeake & Ohio, consider the Virginian is a proper adjunct to their consolidation project. The Norfolk & Western is in alliance with the Pennsylvania, Mr. Harahan said, and the Virginian in paralleling the Norfolk line should be kept as an active competitor.

The enlargement and development of the port of Mobile, where foreign vessels are doing a large business, is absorbing attention of all within the territory served by the Gulf, Mobile & Northern railroad, I. B. Tigrett, president of the road, announced. Lumber is moving in good quantity and shipments do not report diminished demand, he said. Other traffic is increasing as a result of greater investment in the industrial plants along the line.

The Canadian National railways should clear $25,000,000 this year, Sir Henry Thornton, chairman and president, said on his return from abroad. Earnings are breaking all records, he added, the road earning more in the first 10 months this year than in any previous 12 months.

CHICAGO OWNED PROPERTY FOUND TO COVER SOUTH

BY HARPER LEECH.

The tide of Chicago investment southward—the founding of new enterprises and revival of old ones—has reached such proportions that J. L. Jenkins, motor editor of THE TRIBUNE, says that on his recent return from New Orleans he was rarely out of sight of something owned by Chicagoans.

News of corporate reorganizations and mergers backs Mr. Jenkins' impression.

Few such ventures have more historical interest than the revival of cold blast charcoal iron manufacture at the plant of the old Dover Iron company, a few miles from the site of Grant's first decisive victory at Fort Donelson, Tenn.

This plant was in operation long before horse cars ran on State street.

It was an offshoot of folk metallurgy that has left its imprint all over the world. The manufacture of charcoal iron from the brown hematite ores of that region was begun by the same frontiersmen who developed the home made long rifle into a weapon that revolutionized warfare from Jackson's day through the Boer war.

When they turned their attention to iron making they produced a metal which, as far as this writer has ever heard, is the only iron from which cannon were ever cast direct from a blast furnace into gun molds—ore to artillery in one operation. Such guns were made and used in the civil war.

When you read in Mark Twain's "Life on the Mississippi" of the speed records of fast sidewheelers like the old Eclipse or Natchez, you are also reading of the qualities of charcoal iron from brown ores—the boilers that stood those pressures on many famous boats were made from the same metal.

Of course, anything made from charcoal is only a specialty in this day of deforestation. The stuff is prized nowadays for chilled rolls used in rolling mills and for packing rings for steam and gas cylinders.

Old iron men say charcoal iron processes probably reached the peak of excellence when applied to the ores of that region and that the peculiar virtues of the product result from some special combination of the carbons.

The survival of this industry is another instance of a primitive rule of thumb process, yet important in the service of modern industry. The manufacture of such iron in little stone jacketed furnaces, built at hillsides before elevators or hoisting machinery were known, is only a few steps beyond the primative metallurgy of the Hittite empire three milleniums ago, or the Catalan forge.

The iron from which came the chain mail and Damascus blades of the earlier Crusades was probably made in much the same manner.

As an American steel industry advances in specialization, and as the more easily mined ore reserves are exhausted, it is probable that many of the minor varieties and deposits of ore will be eagerly sought. The new waterways will put many of these deposits in economic reach of present steel centers. Some day the pockets of brown hematite in the Lower Mississippi regions may attract more money than the sand of Florida beaches.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—COTTONSEED OIL—Irregular and quiet. A commission house paid 10.46c for June early and later sold it out at 10.30c. Otherwise the market lacked feature. Closing prices were 7 to 14 points net lower. The undertone at the close was easy, due to less active cash demand and the downturn in grains. Sales, 10,300 barrels. Prime crude, 9.000 asked; prime summer yellow spot, 10.30c bid; December closed 10.45c; January, 10.21c; March, 10.19c; May, 10.28c.

Chicago stocks were generally strong yesterday, a feature being Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee railroad, which burst into activity and gained 4 points to 41½. Middle West Utilities advanced 1¼ and Auburn Automobile and United Paperboard were each up a point. Stewart-Warner closed ¾ higher after a turnover of about 14,300 shares. Real Silk Hosiery moved ⅝ higher and Morgan Lithograph gained ½. Hurley Machine was up ⅜. Hurley directors meet today at noon and rumor has it that an announcement concerning a renewal of merger negotiations with several electric appliance companies will be made.

United States Gypsum was 2¾ lower, selling ex-dividend 40c and $2.00 extra. Union Carbide, selling ex-dividend $1.25, was ⅜ lower. Armour B declined ⅜ and Wahl was off ¼. On small sales Montgomery Ward moved up 2⅜ to 80½, while in New York the stock advanced 1½ to 80⅜. Reports were current that Ward directors are practically unanimous on initiating dividends on the common stock early in 1926 and that merger negotiations of some sort are under way. United Light and Power A common and Crane preferred advanced a point each. Great Lakes Dredge and Consumers preferred each declined 2 points.

When Years Shall Have Passed

WHITING & CO. handles only those securities in which we have unqualified confidence. Such a practice serves the interests of this company and its clients over a lifetime rather than for the moment. In the consideration of each security the question always asked is: what will be the effect upon our reputation when years have passed? This question cannot find accurate answer until the time has actually passed, but the asking is a valuable aid to proper decision. Whiting & Co. originates and participates in sound financing, and invites the opportunity to serve investors.

There was a further widening of the spread in hog values yesterday, in fact the widest in more than a month. Best light sold 15c above the previous session at $11.75, while heavier weights closed weak to 15c lower. Big shipping orders helped underweights, while mediums and 270@400 lb averages met with an indifferent call, most of the 12,000 carried over being on that order. Heavyweights sold up to $11.40 with common 400 lb packers at $9.25@9.40. General average landed at $11.15, against $11.50 a week ago, $8.70 a year ago, and $6.90 two years ago.

Although the cattle market has been burdened with more than 72,000 animals the first five days of the week, the largest run since the week ending Oct. 24, market closed on par with a week ago, some classes even indicating slight advances since early in the week. Yesterday's 6,000 arrivals were plain in quality and little change in value was noted. Bulk of light steers brought from $8.00 to $10.00, with few medium and heavy steers eligible to more than $10.50. A load of 898 lb steers and heifers mixed reached $11.00, the top. Butcher stock and prices in other branches were unchanged.

Lambs at New High.

Top fed western lambs soared to $17.10, a new high mark for the season, in yesterday's active session, with natives selling as high as $17.00. Bulk of better grades ruled strong to 25c higher, bringing $16.50@16.85. Shorn lambs, carrying two months' growth of wool, reached $15.00. Yearlings shared in the general strength, 110 lb averages bringing $13.00. Aged sheep advanced 50c, top 120 lb ewes at $10.00 standing highest since March, with 160 lb averages at $9.00 and wethers of equal weight at $11.00. Feeding lambs held firm.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 500 cattle, 5,000 hogs, and 500 sheep, against 1,017 cattle, 10,614 hogs, and 1,997 sheep the corresponding Saturday a year ago.

Probable receipts of hogs at Chicago for Monday are estimated from 45,000 to 75,000. J. T. Brown marked 45,000, A. G. Weihener and F. W. Waddell 55,000, W. S. Nicholson and W. C. White 58,000, C. Southwick and J. M. Waters 60,000, Wm. Garrett 70,000, and F. Gehrmann 75,000.

BOSTON WOOL MARKET.

BOSTON, Mass., Dec. 4.—(AP)—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say: The domestic market for wool has been exceedingly dull. Prices, in the absence of sales, are hard to quote and largely nominal, but naturally in favor of the buyer. Buyers have withdrawn bids in the west. The foreign markets all are easier. The goods market is reported slow. The mohair market is rather quiet but steady. Quotations:

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Stock prices resumed their upward movement on a broad scale of trading today, undeterred by intermittent spells of profit taking. New vitality was infused into the market by the elimination of fears over a possible credit stringency, with public confidence expressed by a renewed demand for many standard railroad and industrial shares. Gains of 2 to 7 points were common in the main body of stocks.

An initial upturn in prices expressed general satisfaction over the maintenance of the 3½ per cent rediscount rate at New York, indicating there had been little drain on the local money market. Speculative pools were encouraged to revive their operations and their success in bidding up prices soon attracted outside buying orders into the market. At the same time a retreat of short interests accentuated the rise.

Realizing Sales Absorbed.

The customary run of week-end profit taking cropped out several times during the day, but these realizing sales were promptly absorbed. Favorable trade reports, including prediction that holiday sales would break all records, contributed to the broader demand for stocks. Total transactions exceeded 2,250,000 shares.

The stability of today's forward movement was emphasized by the orderly advance in standard industrial issues. U. S. Steel opened 2 points higher and later extended its rise to 3 points, closing at 135, for a net gain of 2½. Sloss-Sheffield jumped 5½ points, and Bethlehem, Ludlum, Crucible, and Youngstown Sheet and Tube scored more moderate gains.

A brisk rally of 13½ points in Du Pont followed the return of General Motors to speculative favor. The renewed demand for the motor shares also embraced Chrysler, Hudson, Willys Overland issues and Mack Trucks, which advanced 1 to 5 points.

Oil Shares in Demand.

Additional gasoline price advances stimulated further buying of the oil shares. Marland reached a new high level at 60 and was accompanied to higher ground by Associated Oil and Pan-American issues. Among the various specialties which showed conspicuous strength were Postum Cereal, Otis Elevator, Coca Cola, Electric Storage Battery, Schulte Retail Stores, and U. S. Cast Iron Pipe, in which the gains ran from 3 to 6 points. S. S. Kresge sold 25 points higher on a single sale.

Buying of the railroad issues was of a substantial character, with activity centeringly largely in the southern and southwestern carriers. Atlantic Coast Line bounded up almost 6 points to a new high record, and substantial advances were registered by Southern railway, St. Louis-Southwestern preferred, Frisco, Missouri Pacific preferred, and Louisville and Nashville.

Maintenance call money at 5 per cent directed attention to the remarkable stability of money rates which has prevailed this week. With the exception of a single day, the 5 per cent quotation has remained unchanged.

Strength of sterling exchange reflected a movement of funds toward Great Britain, attracted by the 1½ point spread between the New York and London bank rates. The demand rate today rose to $4.84¾. French francs continued to rally and Belgian francs were strengthened by the establishment of a new exchange stabilization credit.

Kentucky Utilities.

R. M. L.—The Kentucky Utilities company with its subsidiaries serves 114 communities with one or more classes of public utility service. Electric light and power are supplied to 114 communities, 17 are supplied with ice, 8 with water, 4 with gas, and 1 with street railway service. The company recently has acquired control of the Paducah Electric company, which supplies public utility service in the city of Paducah, Ky. The company is issuing $2,000,000 first mortgage lien 5½ per cent bonds, series F, due 1955, making a total of $12,269,900 bonds now outstanding under this mortgage. These bonds are secured by a direct first mortgage on all the fixed properties, rights and franchises now owned by the company. They are further secured by a first lien on the fixed properties, rights and franchises of the Electric Transmission company of Virginia through the pledge of all the first mortgage bonds and the capital stock of that company. Net earnings, before depreciation, for the year ended Sept. 30, 1925, were $1,987,055, or over 2.62 times the annual interest requirements of $756,120 on all the first mortgage lien bonds now outstanding, including this issue. Net earnings have steadily increased in each of the last five calendar years, those for 1924 showing an increase of 209 per cent over those for 1919. All the company's common stock is owned or controlled by Middle West Utilities company. These bonds are a suitable investment for a business man's funds.

NORTH BUTTE MINING COMPANY
Suite 3300, No. 120 Broadway

Notice of Special Meeting of the Stockholders to be held December 29, 1925.

New York, N. Y., November 30, 1925.

TO THE STOCKHOLDERS:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that a Special Meeting of the Stockholders of North Butte Mining Company has been called and will be held at the principal office of the Company at number 800 Alworth Building, Duluth, Minnesota, on Tuesday, the 29th day of December, 1925, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon thereof, for the following purposes, to-wit:

1. To consider and act upon the certain contract between Tuolumne Copper Company and this Company, dated the 18th day of November, 1925, and, as provided in said contract, the proposed consolidation of the mining properties of the Tuolumne Company situate in Silver Bow County, Montana, with the properties of this Company similarly situate.

2. To consider and act upon the following resolution:

RESOLVED: That the present Paragraph Fourth of the Certificate of Incorporation of this Company be amended so as to read as follows:

FOURTH:

The amount of the capital stock of said Corporation shall be Ten Million [$10,000,000] Dollars, which shall be divided into One Million [1,000,000] shares of the par value of Ten [$10] Dollars each.

And, if the same be approved, authorized and directed, to authorize the President or a Vice-President and the Secretary of this Company to make, execute and file in the proper offices in Minnesota a Certificate of Amendment of the Certificate of Incorporation of this Company, and to take such other steps as they may be advised by counsel are necessary or desirable to decrease the par value of the shares of stock of this Company, and to increase the authorized capital stock thereof as proposed, and to amend the Certificate of Incorporation accordingly.

3. To consider and act upon a proposition for this Company to borrow $1,500,000 with which to carry on exploration and development work in its mining properties and in the properties of the Tuolumne Company referred to in said contract by the issuance and sale of 10-Year 7 Per Cent Serial Convertible First Mortgage bonds secured by a first mortgage on all the properties now owned by this Company situate in said Silver Bow County, Montana, and all the properties which may hereafter be acquired by this Company in said County and State, said proposed mortgage to be subject to the lien of any mortgages or deeds of trust which may be liens on after acquired properties of this Company, or in lieu thereof by the issuance and sale of $1,500,000 10-year 7 Per Cent Convertible Serial Debenture Notes, as in the discretion of the Board of Directors it may consider for the best interests of this Company, said mortgage bonds or debenture notes to be dated January 1, 1926, to bear interest at the rate of 7 per cent per annum, payable semi-annually on the first days of July and January in each year, to be callable on any interest date from and after two years from the date thereof, at face value with accrued interest, and to be convertible into the stock of this Company as follows:

The first $500,000 par value of said bonds or debenture notes surrendered for conversion at $8 per share, the second $500,000 par value of said bonds or debenture notes surrendered for conversion at $10 per share, and the remaining $500,000 par value of either thereof surrendered for conversion at $12.50 per share.

4. If said issue of mortgage bonds and said mortgage, or said debenture to notes shall be authorized and consented to by the stockholders, to consider and act upon a proposition to authorize and empower the Board of Directors to issue and sell said mortgage bonds or said debenture notes, in whole or in installments, at such prices and times and upon such terms and conditions as it shall deem for the best interests of this Company.

5. To consider and act upon a proposition to authorize the Board of Directors in its discretion to lease, for mining purposes, any part of the properties now owned or hereafter acquired by this Company, upon such terms and conditions as the Board of Directors may consider advisable.

6. To take such further action as to the foregoing matters as the meeting may deem advisable, and to transact any and all other business which may properly come before the meeting.

The Transfer Books of the Company will not be closed, but, for the purposes of the foregoing meeting, a record of the stockholders will be taken at the close of business on December 18, 1925.

By Order of the Board of Directors:

RICHARD M. ATWATER, JR., President.

FREDERIC B. KENNEDY, Secretary.

WHEAT AT NEW HIGH EARLY; SAGS ON PROFIT SALES

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Eleventh hour bulls were aggressive on the buying side of wheat after an early break that carried prices off 3@3⅝c from Thursday's finish and rushed all deliveries up to a new high on the crop with December touching $1.82 and May $1.75. The bulge brought in immense profit taking by leading local professionals and commission houses and a break of 5¼ to 7⅜c from the top followed with the finish within a fraction of the bottom at net losses of 3⅝ to 4⅛c with July showing the most decline. December acted tight early and went to 7c over May but was only 4⅛c over at the last. Corn advanced with wheat early but closed 1½@1⅝c lower. Oats were ⅛@⅞c and rye 2⅛@2⅜c lower.

May wheat at the high point showed 13c and December 18¾c over the low point on Monday. The sensational bulge was taken advantage of by longs to sell freely, and while the market held up well for a time the buying finally exhausted itself. Part of the early strength was due to strength in Winnipeg, where December was congested and went from 9c to around 1½c over the May, with No. 1 northern 3c higher at 9c over the future. Both cash and futures weakened later, with the cash breaking 2½c from the top, while futures were 1½@2c lower at the close. Buenos Aires was strong early, but reacted toward the last and finished 1¼@2¼c higher. Liverpool finished 2@2½d higher.

Cash Wheat to Chicago.

December wheat here ran away from outside markets on the early bulge, with the blackboard showing a premium of 11c over Kansas City and 9c over Minneapolis, or better than a full shipping difference. Omaha sold 25,000 bu No. 2 hard winter wheat to come here, and it was said some grain had been bought at Minneapolis and Duluth, although the aggregate amounts available in any of the leading western and northwestern markets is small.

Heavy rains were reported in Argentina, with private cables indicating considerable damage in some sections, as high winds also prevailed and much grain, it is feared, will be lodged. The delay in harvest in some sections is regarded as serious. Australian exportable surplus, which was recently estimated at [illegible] bu in an official report, is now placed around 80,000,000 bu by Broomhall. Export demand at the seaboard was decidedly slow on account of the material advance in Winnipeg, and late messages from the seaboard reported foreigners had canceled 160,000 bu Manitobas.

Corn Breaks with Wheat.

Coarse grains were dominated by the action of wheat, May corn sold up to 85½c early, or 7½c over Monday's low, only to break 2⅝@2¾c with the finish easy. The recent bulge materially cut down the local short interest and the recession in values was not a surprise to many in the trade. The upturn led to an increase in country offerings to arrive, but they were not large in the aggregate. Cash basis was 1c higher to 1½c lower. Oats closed about the bottom, in sympathy with corn, while the decline in rye was due to the break in wheat. The May rye and wheat spread was down to 63½c at the last.

Provisions were unsettled, with a little buying by cash interests and shorts early, only to weaken later with corn and close with lard 2½@12½c lower. Ribs were unchanged to 10c higher, and bellies unchanged to 25c lower. Prices follow:

WALL STREET NOTES

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Curb securities were carried through another session of brisk trading today, several issues attaining new high records. The buoyancy of early dealings gave way, however, to profit-taking toward the close, resulting in price irregularity.

Activity of the motor stocks was an outstanding feature, Stutz leading the group with an advance to a new high for the year at 25 for a net gain of 3½ points. Continued demand for the rubber shares also lifted these issues to new high ground, only to yield later on realizing pressure. Intercontinental Rubber touched 20, a new high, but lost its two point gain, closing unchanged at 18. Goodyear lost 1¼.

Oils were strong, Humble scoring an early advance to a new high for the year at 81, but closed for a net loss of half a point at 79½. Magnolia Petroleum and Imperial Oil of Canada also were traded in actively.

Mixed changes marked some of the specialties and public utilities, Kelvinator gaining about three points on the day and Serv-El [illegible] 1½. United Cigars new closed 1½ [illegible] Gillette Safety Razor moved up [illegible]. American Light and Traction was a strong spot in the utility group, advancing two points.

The committee on listing of the New York curb ruled that contracts previously made in [illegible] of the new Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul on a when issued basis are void.

A new high price of $28,000 was paid for a membership in the New York curb market by James Kennedy, an increase of $4,000 over the previous transaction.

Moderate strength characterized trading in the bond market. Southern and southwestern railroad issues attracted the largest following, among the outstanding strong spots being Southern Railway 6½s and general 4s, Southern Pacific refunding 4s, Frisco 4s A, Missouri Valley 4½s, Colorado and Southern 4½s, and Chicago and Alton 3½s.

Trading in the foreign obligations were exceptionally quiet. Some of the French municipal issues made progress on their recovery, but [illegible] failed to respond to the extension of additional credits for the stabilization of monetary conditions. Liberty bonds

DRY GOODS AND GARMENT NEWS

[Copyright: 1925: Fairchild News Service.]

NEW YORK.—The local market for gray goods continued quiet and unchanged.

NEW YORK.—The local burlap market was fairly active on heavyweights and odd widths Calcutta reported the market there up slightly.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

A heavy load has been put on the wheat market by the profit taking by the largest professionals and commission houses that have been largely long and they look for a further break after the recent advance of near 20c. The price has advanced too fast, traders say, and attracts selling from outside points, while the short interest has been reduced. A few traders were disposed to look for a rally after a break as Buenos Aires closed 1¼ to 2¼c higher.

Higher prices have attracted more cash wheat from farmers in the middle west having hard winters, but red winter is hard to buy. In the northwest there has been a little more selling, and a cash handler there said there is considerable wheat back which farmers will have to sell soon.

Logan & Bryan's Argentine cable says that heavy rains are interfering with harvest. Yield in rust area better than frightened farmers expected, but is bad.

Heavy pressure on July wheat was noticeable from interests who have favored selling that delivery and it closed 4⅛c lower. December wheat was 7c over May at one time, and closed 4⅛c over.

FINANCIAL NOTES

R. G. Dun & Co. reports 422 commercial failures in the United States this week, against 363 for the five business days last week, and 427 a year ago. More insolvencies occurred in southern and eastern states than the week before, but the west and Pacific coast showed a decline.

Contracts for more than 100,000 tons of coke are reported to have been placed in the New England district in the last few days, for shipment in the first half of 1926. Prices on contracts are governed by quotations prevailing at the time of shipment.

The Wabash railway has ordered 1,000 automobile cars from the American Car and Foundry and 700 from the Pullman Car and Manufacturing company.

CASH GRAIN NEWS

A little export business was put through in wheat at the seaboard but foreigners, as a whole were disposed to hold off on account of the big advance in Winnipeg. About 160,000 bu Manitobas were resold by Europe. Resellers had no trouble in disposing of wheat abroad. Export sales of corn were 20,000 bu.

Cash handlers who were short wheat at Winnipeg to fill waiting tonnage were said to have bought all the grain they needed yesterday which resulted in an easing in the basis in that market of 1@2½c as compared with prices prevailing early. No. 1 northern there closed at 6⅛c over December.

Chicago handlers sold 10,000 bu wheat, 76,000 bu corn and 38,000 bu oats to the domestic trade and 25,000 bu to exporters. There were 45,000 bu wheat bought to arrive from Missouri river markets, including 25,000 bu from Omaha at 1¼c over December. Deliveries on December contracts were 85,000 bu corn, 120,000 bu oats, and 276,000 bu rye.

No. 2 hard winter on track here sold at 1@2c over December, the basis being 1c lower. Red winter was nominally 6@8c over the future compared with 8@11c over the previous day. Premiums at Kansas City were 1c lower for the day. St. Louis reported a poor demand.

Offerings of cash corn were more liberal and while some sales of good showed an advance of 1c as compared with the December the poorer kinds were quoted as unchanged to 1½c lower. No. 4 grades brought 3@5c under; No. 5 grades, 6¼@10c and No. 6 grades 10½@11½c under December with sample grade 12½@26c under. Outside markets were unchanged to 2c lower.

PLAN 'SCRAPER AT NORTH CLARK AND LAKE STREET

BY AL CHASE.

The John G. Garibaldi trust, which has owned the northwest corner of Clark and Lake, 90x20, for many years, has bought the "L" shaped piece surrounding it from the Chicago Title and Trust company, trustee, for $200,000, all cash. It was done by exercising an option of purchase included in a ninety-nine year lease made with the Houston estate.

As soon as the lease on the four story building now held by the United Cigar Stores company expires in 1928 the new owners expect to erect a skyscraper. How high it will go depends on the development of Wacker drive at that time, it is said. Edward Sieja will be architect. Irwin Grossman and Frank Gardner were attorneys. Ashcraft & Ashcraft were attorneys for the Houston heirs.

The L shaped piece just acquired fronts twenty feet on Lake and the same on Clark. This gives the Garibaldi trust a total of forty feet frontage on Lake and 110 feet on Clark street.

Industrial District for La Grange.

A New York syndicate yesterday bought the 376 acre Horace Stoddard farm in Lyons township, southeast of La Grange, between the Plainfield and Joliet roads and bounded on the west by East avenue, and will put it on the market as an industrial district. The price is said to have been around half a million. Robert R. Frey of La Grange negotiated the deal, said to be the largest ever made in Lyons township. It is reported that the Indiana Harbor Belt line will change its line slightly in order to cross the new district.

George M. Forman & Co. have leased the entire third and a portion of the fourth floor of the Standard Trust building, Clark and Adams, through Dibblee & Manierre. They will move in soon after the first of the year.

$315,000 Diversey Deal.

The forty-eight apartments at the northeast corner of Diversey parkway and Sawyer avenue were sold by A. L. Himelblau and Fannie Sugar to Morris and Joseph Kupersmith for a reported $315,000, subject to $215,000. Fischel & Kahn were attorneys.

Harriett L. Niles and the Drexel Storage and Tranfers company have sold the five story storage warehouse, 75x120, at 6150 Cottage Grove avenue, to John J. Joyce of Joyce Bros., who will occupy it. The reported price is $250,000, subject to $183,000. The Drexel Storage and Transfer company is moving its general offices to its warehouse at 4837 Cottage Grove. E. P. Press of J. F. Cornelius & Co., uptown brokers, made the deal.

COTTON MARKET EASY

Cotton markets were all lower, and closed at around the inside of the day with losses on futures in Chicago of 26 to 32 points, and of 10 to 30 points in other markets, with New Orleans leading. Interest in December is being reduced, and it is losing its premium over January. Spot cotton in New Orleans lost 30 points and finished at 19.45c, and in New York was off 10 points to 20.75c.

Spinners' taking of cotton for the week were 519,000 bales, against 503,000 bales the previous week, and 426,000 bales last year. It is said spinners are taking a shorter staple than ⅞ of an inch. Prices in leading markets follow:

NOTICE OF REDEMPTION BY JACOB E. DECKER & SONS, MASON CITY, IOWA, OF FIRST MORTGAGE, SEVEN PER CENT SINKING FUND, GOLD BONDS.

To each and all of the owners of the first mortgage, seven per cent sinking fund, gold bonds of Jacob E. Decker & Sons, Mason City, Iowa:

YOU AND EACH OF YOU are hereby notified that Jacob E. Decker & Sons of Mason City, Iowa, have exercised the option to redeem all bonds issued under a certain first mortgage and deed of trust, dated Sept. 1, 1922, said first mortgage and deed of trust running from Jacob E. Decker & Sons, a corporation organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the State of Iowa, and having its principal place of business in Mason City, in the County of Cerro Gordo, State of Iowa, to the First National Bank of Mason City, Iowa, an association duly organized and existing under and by virtue of the National Bank Act of the United States, and having its principal place of business in Mason City, in the County of Cerro Gordo, State of Iowa, as trustee.

YOU AND EACH OF YOU are further notified that the redemption date is Jan. 1, 1926, and that the said Jacob E. Decker & Sons have deposited with the said the First National Bank of Mason City, Iowa, the trustee hereinabove named, the money required to pay the full amount of principal, interest and premium pursuant to the terms of said bonds and said trust deed, which will be due and payable thereon Jan. 1, 1926, the redemption date aforesaid.

YOU AND EACH OF YOU are hereby further notified to present to the said the First National Bank of Mason City, Iowa, as trustee, any and all of said bonds owned by you or any of you, together with unpaid coupons belonging thereto, and on such presentation and surrender of said bonds and coupons, the amount due thereon with interest and premium will be paid by said trustee.

AND YOU AND EACH OF YOU are further notified that on and after the first day of January, 1926, interest ceases on any of said bonds.

JACOB E. DECKER & SONS,
By Jay E. Decker, Its President.
Attest: G. H. Harrer, Its Secretary.

HOTELS.

THE BRYSON
One of Chicago's Fine Hotels.
LAKE PARK-AV., NEAR 50TH-ST.

THE BRYSON was formally opened Sept. 17, 1925. It has already created a record in attractive guests of discrimination and refinement.

Many time worn conventions of hotel life have been set aside in favor of hospitality and comfort. The quiet elegance and the unusual details of service make THE BRYSON unique among hotels.

The rooms are spacious and overlook Lake Michigan. Furnishings of quality invite relaxation and rest. The best transportation in Chicago is available. Ten minutes to the loop on Illinois Central express trains. Surface cars and busses nearby.

There is an excellent dining room in the hotel. Club breakfasts are served at moderate prices. Luncheon fifty cents, evening dinner one dollar.

A limited number of single rooms, suites and a few kitchenettes are yet available. The rates are very attractive.
